

Pledge of Support For Pound Sterling Puts Halt to Selling

11 Nations Make $3 Billion
Available to Bank of England

BY ROGER LANE
NEW YORK (AP) — The run on the pound sterling was checked Wednesday probably without any use at all of the $3 billion put at the Bank of England's disposal by 11 nations.

The mere announcement that the resources were massed to defend the pound was enough to put speculators to rout — at least for the time being, bankers in New York said.

Pressure Removed

Foreign exchange markets in Europe were closed when the news hit, and the turning of the tide was manifested in New York. Offerings of sterling to international banks dried up abruptly, and the price rose.

"The pressure has evaporated completely," reported Edwin Reichers, foreign exchange vice president of the First National City Bank, an hour after the counterattack was mounted.

Reichers said it remained for foreign exchange operations abroad to show Thursday whether sterling safely has weathered the latest storm.

John Andren, senior vice president in the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. International Division, said he believed the pressure would be off long enough to give the new Labor government time to work out a last cure for Britain's financial crisis.

A spokesman for the New York Federal Reserve Bank said there is an aura of mystery surrounding the pressure in international monetary circles to devalue the British pound.

Prompt Action

The spokesman, a high official in the New York reserve bank, said the international action to support the pound "was done in a hurry to remove any possible doubts about the validity of the pound in international finance."

"Any time they (the British) want the U.S. credit they can come and get it," said the

Long-Distance Phone Rates To be Reduced

Most of Schedule
Will be Put Into Effect on Feb. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest cut in long-distance telephone rates in history was announced Wednesday by the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC said Bell System telephone companies will submit rates that will reduce their interstate revenues by some $100 million annually.

About 75 per cent of the reductions will take effect Feb. 1, and the rest on or before April 1, 1965.

Some illustrations of the rate reductions for three-minute, station-to-station calls within the continental United States:

The all-day Sunday rate, now $1.75, would be reduced to $1. Saturday calls now $2.25, will be $1.50. Calls after 8 p.m. each day now costing $1.75 would cost $1, and calls between 6 and 8 p.m. daily would be reduced from $1.75 to $1.50.

Greater Efficiency

The new rate extends the reduction announced last year, in which calls between 9 p.m. and 4:30 a.m. were reduced to $1 or less.

The FCC said the cuts were made possible "by the high level of business activity and increasing efficiencies in telephone operations."

"The commission," a company spokesman said, insisted on rate reductions larger than we think justified at this time.

"This insistence, in our belief, is out of step with the government's efforts to encourage economic growth."

"We have agreed to the reductions, however, in view of the marked upswing in interstate earnings and on the commission's assurance that its action does not establish a ceiling for further interstate earnings."

100 Hostages Detained in Rebel City

BY ANDREW BOROWIEC
STANLEYVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Belgian paratroopers Wednesday night prepared for a second rescue jump, a drop on the rebel city of Paulis north-east of Stanleyville where 100 Europeans are held hostage.

Preparations went ahead as other paratroopers and Congolese soldiers swept through the jungles in a 30-mile radius around captured Stanleyville, looking for other white hostages.

In Brussels, a Belgian government spokesman said Wednesday night that Belgian troops in the Stanleyville area had been withdrawn to the airport after a brief foray in the countryside to look for more hostages. There was no immediate word in Brussels about plans for a drop at Paulis. A spokesman there said Belgian troops would not be used further to seek out several hundred whites in the rebel-controlled countryside.

Of more than 1,600 foreign hostages held by the Communist-backed rebel regime of Christophe Gbenye, all but about 200 have been accounted for.

Still Held By Rebels

Planes were ferrying the others to the Congo capital at Leopoldville as fast as they could be loaded at Stanleyville airport.

The rebel city of Paulis is 300 road miles northeast of Stanleyville. It is one of the few important cities in the eastern Congo still held by the insurgents, who in operations last summer, seized vast areas of the eastern part of the nation.

While Stanleyville fell to the combined operations of the Belgian paratroopers and white-led Congolese soldiers Tuesday, shots still echoed through this sprawling city.

U.S. Bureau Admits $80 Million Error

Figures for Wisconsin Had Been Challenged by State

MADISON (AP)—The United States Census Bureau conceded Wednesday that it had made an $80 million error in figuring the state and local tax burden on Wisconsin residents.

Allen D. Manvel, chief of the bureau's governments division, which prepared the report, said he was "embarrassed," and promised a correction within a few days.

fended its figures, then said there could have been a mistake of $40 million, which would still have left Wisconsin at the top of the list. But the more the bureau checked, the more mistakes it found.

Portuguese and Indians Critical Of Pontiff's Trip

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Roman Catholic circles are dismayed by the reaction in Portugal and India to Pope Paul VI's trip to Bombay.

Sources at the Vatican said Wednesday officials here anticipated some criticism in Portugal and India, but not a controversy of the extent that has developed.

The Vatican has not commented publicly and there has been no indication the trip might be called off.

Pope Paul leaves Dec. 2 for Bombay to attend the International Eucharistic Congress there. He returns to Rome on Dec. 5.

The announcement of his trip brought sharp reaction from Portugal, whose Asian territory of Goa was occupied by Indian troops in 1961. Portuguese officials said the Pope had affronted a Roman Catholic nation. They ordered a press blackout of all news on the Pope's trip and the congress.

In India, Hindu extremists complained about the Indian government's support of the congress and invitation to the Pope. The Hindus said Roman Catholics hoped to use the congress to make conversions.

Increases in Postal Rates Under Study

Affects 2nd, 3rd
Small Post Offices

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and Postmaster General John Gronouski discussed Wednesday the possibility of seeking new postal rate increases. They talked also of closing several hundred post offices in the next few years.

Gronouski, after conferring with the President at the LBJ Ranch, told a news conference that Johnson had directed him to make a study of possible legislative proposals to increase rates on second- and third-class mail. He indicated no thought was being given to asking Congress at this time for another hike in first-class letter mail.

No Early Action

The postmaster general said Johnson called for a study of the prospects for "in the next few years reducing by several hundred the number of post offices in the country."

Gronouski said any such action would apply "particularly to marginal, small fourth-class offices." He said that, if any offices were closed, the aim would be to provide patrons "with equal and in some cases better service."

The Cabinet officer estimated that his department would save $2,500 to $3,000 for every fourth-class post office that might be shut down.

Second-class mail is that applying to periodicals and newspapers. Third-class mail includes catalogues and the like.

North Central Could End Port Service in Outagamie Jan. 25

Of Regional Airport at Oshkosh

North Central Airline service to the Outagamie County Airport is expected to last until at least Jan. 25.

The January date is specified in a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) ruling that amends North Central's operations certificate from serving Appleton and Oshkosh separately to serving "Appleton-Oshkosh" at one "central airport."

The CAB ruled Tuesday that the Appleton-Appleton - Neenah-Menasha - Oshkosh complex of cities must be served through the Winnebago County Airport at Oshkosh.

Since the ruling was announced, much confusion has existed about the effective date of the CAB order.

Counsel's Guess

Howard Feldman, the CAB's legal counsel, told the Post-Crescent late Wednesday: "I would hazard a guess that North Central probably must serve Appleton separately until Jan. 25 when the new certificate becomes effective."

He said Appleton interests have until Dec. 15 to request the board to reconsider its unanimous action. "But the request," he said, "in no way stays the effectiveness of the board's decision."

"I suppose you want to know," Feldman said, "if North Central can quit service to Appleton tomorrow."

"They would have to ask for a suspension of the present North Central certificate for service to Appleton."

"Please don't glorify this as a legal opinion," he said, "but my own impression is that North Central cannot quit its service to Appleton without coming in and requesting the board to issue them the authority to temporarily end service in Appleton until the new certificate becomes effective."

Certificate Confusing

This is confusing, he explained, because the new certificate becoming effective means service to "Appleton-Oshkosh" instead of Appleton. In other words, it means service for Appleton at the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh.

"But I doubt North Central will do this," Feldman said, "although I really can't say."

Heavy Snow Makes Travel Hazardous In Some Regions

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blowing and drifting snow made Thanksgiving holiday driving hazardous Wednesday in parts of the Middle East.

A cold wave warning for the Dakotas, Minnesota and central Nebraska also made motorists think twice about touring over the weekend. Heavy snow was expected in some of Montana, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The National Safety Council makes no estimates of traffic fatalities for the Thanksgiving Day weekend similar to those for other major national holidays. It says its statistics show there is no unusual volume of traffic at this time.

Thanksgiving, the council says, is a stay-at-home type holiday that does not generate the long-distance travel that marks Christmas or the long daylight-hours holidays of summer.

Soviets Lash Belgian, U. S. Congo Action

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union called the U.S., Belgian and British action in the Congo an act of gross aggression and demanded the immediate withdrawal of all foreign troops.

The Soviet statement Wednesday rejected the Western assertion that Belgian paratroopers were carried to Stanleyville in U.S. planes to rescue hostages threatened by the Congolese rebels.

The Soviets called the air drop "an act of armed intervention in the internal affairs of the Congo."

Charge Rejected

The United States rejected the Soviet charges. The State Department said in Washington the mission was carried out on humanitarian grounds "to protect the lives of innocent citizens threatened with execution and other forms of torture."

The Soviet statement was read to U.S., Belgian and British diplomats by Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov.

British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan rejected the protest and said he would forward it to London. But he expressed "doubt that his government would respect the Soviet arguments," a British Embassy spokesman said.

Former Pilot for Ike Found Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Col. William G. Draper, retired, who was personal pilot for President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was found dead from hanging Wednesday, the Air Force said.

Draper, 44, lived at his home in Camp Springs, Md., near the air base.

He was born at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. He served as personal pilot for Eisenhower when the general was NATO commander in Europe, then remained as pilot for Gen. Matthew Ridgway, who succeeded Eisenhower in that post.

When Eisenhower became president, one of his first acts was to name Draper as his White House Air Force adviser and personal pilot in January 1953. Draper flew Eisenhower on trips throughout this country and to other countries during his eight years in office.

Gen. Taylor Expects To Return to Saigon

HONOLULU (AP) — Asked about reports he was considering resigning, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said Wednesday he expects to return to Saigon as U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam after a Washington conference with President Johnson.

Taylor stopped in Honolulu on a flight to Washington for top-level talks on the political turmoil and military problems in Viet Nam.

He was to depart at 10:30 p.m. EST for Andrews Air Force Base.

James Robinson, NBC correspondent in Hong Kong, said Taylor was prepared to resign if plans he is urging to bomb North Viet Nam supply bases are turned down.

Story of Constant Terrorism Senseless Brutality and Murder During Rebel Rule in Stanleyville

BY LYNN HEINZERLING
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A chilling story of senseless brutality, weeks of terror and finally cold murder emerged Wednesday night from the Congolese rebel conflict, is fertile ground for their operations.

The planters, businessmen, technicians and teachers community of the Congo now with glazed expressions and bitter memories were caught up in that struggle.

Gbenye's rebels have pillaged and murdered Africans in many areas of the Congo. At one time they held about a third of the country, second largest in Africa.

Pierre Mulele, one of Gbenye's lieutenants, led a force in Kasai Province. Gaston Soumialot, another, moved into Kivu, and northern Katanga in the east. They were using methods recommended by the Red Chinese to subdue and enlist the support of the tribes where they operated.

As the central government's army gained in strength and determined to gain a foothold in central Africa where they can fan the flames of their world revolution. The Congo, with its unsettled politics and its traditional tribal conflict, is fertile ground for their operations.

Collected Hostages

That is the background to the cruelty, torture and death inflicted on many of the 1,600 whites in the Stanleyville area by Gbenye's rebels.

Late in August, Gbenye moved to strengthen his hand by refusing permission to whites in the Stanleyville area to leave the country. He was gathering in his hostages.

His rebel troops, sometimes just a rabble of boys in their teens, sometimes more organized formations, moved through the countryside, stealing and pillaging. Refugees said they never knew what to expect.

Lived In Terror

They never knew whether they would get a smile or see their buildings burned down. In

The Golden Glow of the Wondrous Christmas Season Traditionally Begins Today

Traditions are marvelous, and one of our most favorite is the traditional lighting tonight of our magnificent Tree of Lights gracing our storefront in majestic splendor. This year it's more beautiful than ever, ablaze with brilliant golden lights and topped by a gigantic golden star shining brightly into the night as a radiant beacon leading you to Prange's . . . Your Golden World of Christmas Gifts. A tradition we just couldn't do without is our fun-filled College Avenue Christmas window; this year an animated scene of merriment as Eskimo children and penguins gaily depict Christmas in Eskimo Land. Come view it tonight as you take your traditional Thanksgiving Day walk downtown. Another fine Prange tradition is the beautiful Christmas box given with your purchases. Any Prange box tells the receiver the gift inside is fine quality, in good taste; but the Prange Christmas Box says it so much more beautifully. Traditionally too, we're open more evenings to give you and your family a better opportunity to Christmas shop. Check the handy calendar at the bottom of this page for those special holiday hours. Black squares indicate days you can shop 9 to 9. Saturdays 9 to 5:30. Our new Multi-Level Parking Ramp is fast becoming a most convenient tradition too; for it's just steps away from our store, and connected with weatherproof entries at the 2nd, 3rd and 4th floors. So welcome to the Golden Glow of the Christmas Season . . . Welcome to Prange's, Your Golden World of Christmas!

Thanksgiving Proclamations Serve as Footnotes to History

Words of National Leaders Tell Story of American Tradition

Thanksgiving, since the time of the Jamestown colonists and of Plymouth's Pilgrim Fathers, has mirrored the American mood.

Virginia settlers observed Thanksgiving in 1619, having been told by their London sponsors to keep their day of landing perpetually holy.

Debarking from the Mayflower in 1620, the Pilgrims "fell upon their knees and blessed ye God of heaven, who had brought them over ye vast and furious ocean, and delivered them from all ye periles and miseries thereof, again to set their feete on ye firm and stable earth."

Later, as America marched from colonial status to nationhood, the Continental Congress issued Thanksgiving proclamations filled with religious ardor, the National Geographic Society says. In 1780, the tradition during the War of soon after the Benedict Arnold plot was exposed, the annual Thanksgiving was particularly thanked a hit or miss affair until the the Almighty for looking after "when was left mostly to the individual states. With ill feeling growing between the North and South, many people below the Mason

Hanson Set Pattern Maryland's John Hanson, who and Dixon Line skipped organization, set a long-lasting pattern for American Thanksgivings. Abraham Lincoln revived Thanksgiving as a national observance at the height of the Civil War. Calling for a day of national penitence on the last Thursday of November, 1863, he found much to be thankful for even amid terrible strife.

"Peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere, except in the theater of conflict."

Hayes Was Poetic In war's aftermath, Presidents Andrew Johnson and Ulysses S. Grant invoked thanks for world harmony, domestic peace, and progress.

Their successor, scholarly Rutherford B. Hayes, issued a proclamation marked by its poetic flavor. Said he, in part:

"The completed circle of summer and winter, seedtime and harvest, has brought us to the accustomed season at which a religious people celebrates with praise and thanksgiving the enduring mercy of Almighty God."

When the economic panic of 1893 touched off riots, Grover Cleveland urged reflection upon the Nation's past blessings. Twenty-three states refused to be told by Cleveland to be thankful. Colorado's governor issued his own proclamation, which dwelt at some length on unemployment, farm mortgages, and depreciating land values.

Theodore Roosevelt, a physical fitness enthusiast who entered the White House just after the excesses of the Gay Nineties, warned the people in one of his Thanksgiving messages to watch their "appetites and follies."

Woodrow Wilson sounded a startlingly new concept in international relations in a proclamation issued after the United States went to war in 1917. "We have been given the opportunity to serve mankind . . . by taking up arms against a tyranny . . . not only to defend our own rights but to defend the rights of free men throughout the world."

Said Calvin Coolidge, the most taciturn of Presidents "We have been a most blessed

Avoid Rush, Lay-Away Gift a Day

How to avoid that last minute rush? Lay-Away a gift a day, says Santa. Start early, and before you know it, Christmas is in the bag — Santa's bag of gifts.

Lay-away convenience can mean easier budgeting, too, Santa points out. Stores with Lay-Away Plans will hold gifts selections for a small down payment, permitting you to pay for them in easy installments.

If you prefer to pay cash, it's still smart to lay-away a gift a day. Select a gift for someone on the list each day, wrap it and tuck it away—for unhurried, unworried Christmas giving.

people. We ought to be a most thankful people."

Message Reissued With the nation gripped and troubled by depression in 1932, Herbert Hoover did not issue a message. Instead, he issued the text of Washington's historic first Thanksgiving proclamation.

In 1945, Harry Truman mourned the loss of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and thanked the Almighty for the Allied victory in World War II.

John F. Kennedy's 1962 proclamation, made following the Cuban crisis, said: "Let us renew that spirit by preparing our souls for the uncertainties ahead — by being always ready to confront crisis with steadfastness and achievement with grace and modesty." A message to the armed forces expressed thanks for a "dedicated and strong military establishment."

In 1963, the mourning nation observed Thanksgiving only six days after President Kennedy's assassination. Fittingly, his posthumous proclamation affirmed the American ideal: " . . . let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice, and understanding among all men and nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

Toy Idea Could be Profitable

Designer Says Parents Have an Edge Over 'Experts'

"Why don't they make a—?" As the Christmas toys come out of their wrappings, many a parent is likely to ask this question, inspired by Mom's or Dad's own idea for a toy.

The answer could be a profitable one. Toy Designer Ned Strongin has made it a practice to reply to all such questions and, if he finds the toy idea acceptable, market it for the inventor.

Among those whose questions at Christmas have led to royalties in the fall are a fruit peddler, flight engineer, school teacher, construction worker, clerk and doctor.

Have Advantage Parents have an advantage in developing toy ideas, Strongin believes. They watch their children play with new toys and thus determine which items have the most appeal. Many laboratory-tested toys become dismal failures because the variable factor of "interest retention" can't be calculated.

How to determine whether a toy idea has a good chance of success? Designers look for toys that stimulate self expression, retain interest and enable a child to function within his own capabilities, Strongin says.

"Our toy development department estimates that 75 per cent of the best-selling toys in the last decade had one thing in common," he points out. "They stimulated self expression."

How to market the idea? One step might be a postal card to Ned Strongin Associates, 128 32nd Street, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Popular Card Games Make Excellent Gifts

Christmas 1934 sees a notable resurgence in card games.

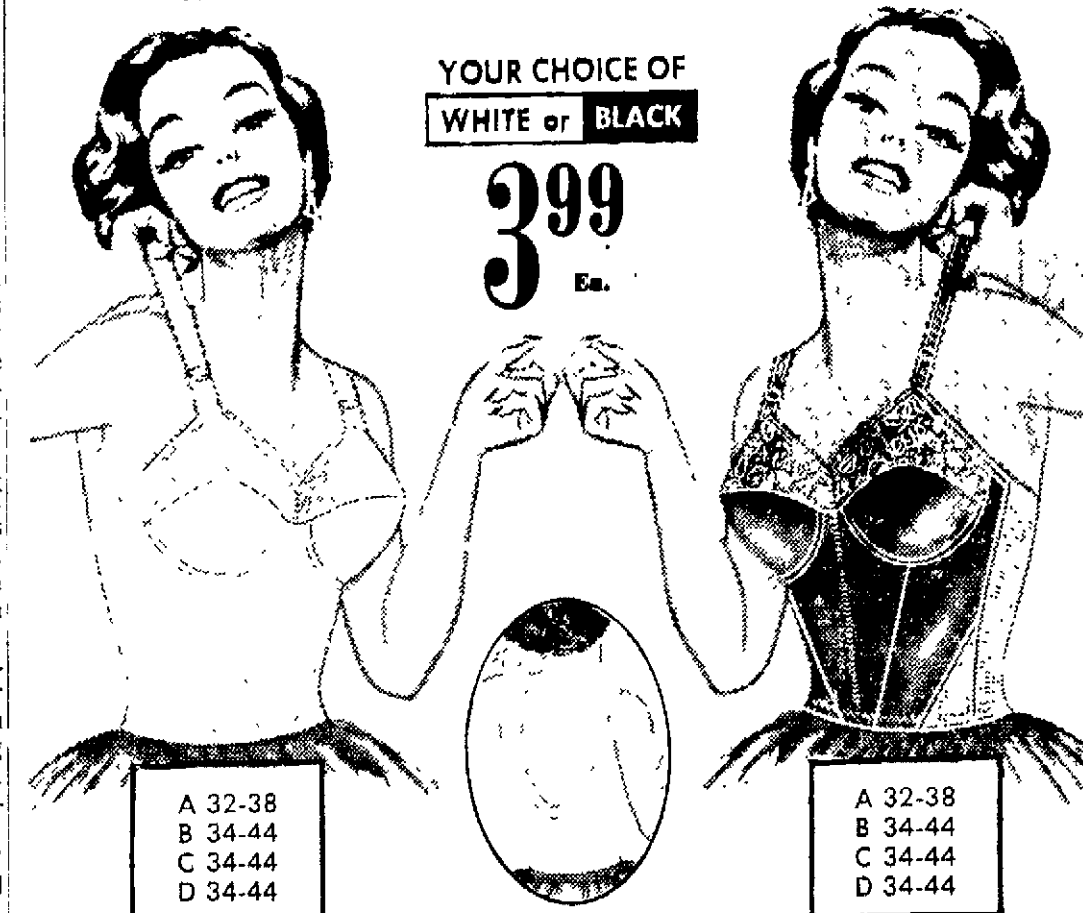

Charles Goren has developed a new version of two-handed bridge played with racks that is fun for learners and offers deep strategy opportunities for seasoned players.

Rehabilitation Of State Fair Park Proposed

$740,470 Asked
To be Budgeted
For 1965-1967

MADISON (AP) — The State Exposition Department proposed rehabilitation of State Fair Park in West Allis Tuesday at a budget hearing before Republican Gov. — elect Warren P. Knowles.

Knowles suggested that the state fair grounds be used as a permanent showcase for Wisconsin industrial projects and Herbert Velsor, chairman of the exposition board, said the proposal was in line with his group's determination not to move the fair site.

Budget Request
The board asked for a 1965-67 budget of $740,470, or $81,299 more than in the current biennium. The only new item outlined by Velsor was a request that the state, rather than fair receipts, pay premium winners in state fair exhibitions.

Velsor said the board's proposed long-range building program at West Allis covers a period of six to eight years, with an initial investment of $5 million. He said projected revenue for the current biennium is $2.9 million. The projected revenue in the next biennium is nearly $3 million, exclusive of $300,000 expected from increased fair admission prices.

Maj. Gen. Ralph J. Olson, state adjutant general, asked $2,103,320 in state funds, $411,056 more than in the current biennium, to operate the National Guard in 1965-67.

Food Poisoning Hits Children
In Two Schools

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — About 216 children and teachers have been treated at a hospital after an outbreak of food poisoning at Lemon St. elementary and high schools.

Another 39 beds — 25 of them provided by Dobbins AFB — were set up so the children could be examined Tuesday. Six were admitted.

Six off-duty hospital employees helped provide treatment. Marietta Board of Education Chairman Dempsey Medford said samples of chicken salad and pimento cheese from the schools' dining hall were sent to the State Board of Health for analysis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150 children from two elementary schools were taken to D.C. General and Casualty hos-

A Flea Can Lift 140 Times Its Own Weight

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It has been found that about one of every 2,000 children is born with teeth. Since they are so loosely emplaced, some doctors take the teeth out to keep the child from swallowing them.

I have just been informed that a flea can lift 140 times its own weight, and if you were as comparatively strong as a flea, you could hoist a 10-ton truck.

The human eye at its ordinary can detect four million shades of color, science has found. It also has been found that men are about 20 times as likely as women to suffer from color blindness — as every back seat lady driver knows when her husband approaches a traffic signal.

Unsleeping Eye
The unsleeping eye of science also has discovered that neither the tapeworm nor the hook-worm has a heart.

The largest infant ever born in this world is the calf of a blue whale. At birth, the whale calf measures up to 25 feet long and weighs several tons. In contrast, a polar bear cub weighs about a pound upon emergence from its mother, and can be cuddled in a woman's hand.

History lesson: Can you name the only U.S. president who was inaugurated in two cities? George Washington was sworn first to national command in New York on April 30, 1789, and at the start of his second term in Philadelphia, Pa., on March 4, 1793.

Wry Contrast
The apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lawford in the swank Fifth Avenue hotel now is available, price: $3,200 a month — gas and electricity free. No extra charge for the elevator.

As a wry contrast to our present prosperity, it may not be out of place to point out that about 200 years ago milk sold for 9 cents a gallon, tobacco at a nickel a pound, and bread at two cents a loaf.

What price knowledge: U.S. educational authorities estimate that by 1973 it will cost a freshman $12,250 to get through a private college, or $8,000 to graduate from a state college.

Know your language: The word asbestos means in effect "the unburnable stone." The ancient Romans used napkins made of asbestos, and instead of washing them in water purified them by thrusting them into flame.

Quickies: Turtles have no "ears" but hear well. A car was stolen every 1½ minutes last year. We eat about 28 million sandwiches a day. If you get into an argument with a bear, don't try to outrun him — he may gallop up to 35 miles an hour.

It was Oliver Wendell Holmes who observed, "To be 70 years young is sometimes far more cheerful and hopeful than to be 40 years old."

LBJ Appears Turning To Farm Conservatism

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — It appears likely that the moderates will be in the driver's seat in the formulation of farm policies and commodity programs under President Johnson during the coming four years.

Oddly enough, this could find groups with which the Democratic administration has been feuding closer in thinking to the policy-makers than they have been since the Eisenhower administration.

Information coming from high level administration sources, including Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, indicates that Johnson has laid down the line that there are to be no drastic changes in farm policies.

This despite pressures from some political and farm organization groups which have been staunch supporters of strong Democratic farm policies of the past.

Cooperation

Freeman, who has said the President wants him to continue in the Cabinet, has been offering a friendly and cooperative hand to some agri-business groups with which he has had sharp differences and unpleasant exchanges in the past.

The landslide Johnson victory of Nov. 3, which encompassed important farming areas, has been interpreted by some farm groups as a rural demand for stronger government programs to boost farm incomes. One of those groups is the National Farmers Union, long a backer of Democratic administrations.

James G. Patton, president of the union, has had some stinging criticism of post-election administration trends.

Bureau Pleased

By the same token, the American Farm Bureau Federation has been pleased by administration utterances since the election. Some of its leaders had feared the administration would interpret its farm-state victories as a demand for strong control programs the farm bureau opposes but which the farmers union favors.

After conferring with Johnson at the latter's Texas ranch last weekend, Freeman said there production controls where they do not now exist.

Rather, he said, there will be an effort to get present wheat, feed grain, cotton, wool and sugar stabilization programs extended at the next Congress.

The secretary added that efforts will be made to reduce costs of these programs. This indicated that the administration has no plans at present to multiply the use of compensatory payments to encourage grower compliance with government programs to reduce production of surplus crops and commodities.

Asks Help

Freeman early this week told a meeting of the nation's milling and baking industries that the government seeks their help.

Such a remark a year ago would have been most certainly out of character of government farm views prevailing at that time.

Furthermore, Freeman said he is most anxious to get the government out of the business of buying and selling farm products so that a free market system would have greater room within which to function. The farm bureau long has been urging such a government withdrawal.

Opposition

But a market system free of government controls is not what some other farm groups demand.

It appears quite likely that Johnson will seek to make his name in agriculture not as a backer of farm commodity stabilization programs, but rather as the sparkplug of programs designed to alleviate poverty in rural areas, including towns.

The President is expected to seek greater use of credit, grant, instructional, and service mechanisms for developing new non-farm but farm-related job opportunities.

Industrialist Convicted of Killing Bookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrialist Mark A. Fein, 32, accused of slaying his bookmaker instead of paying off a $23,000 World Series bet, was convicted early Wednesday of second-degree murder.

The all-male jury brought in the verdict at 2:50 a.m. after 20 hours of deliberation that culminated a 25-day trial. He faces a sentence of from 20 years to life in prison.

Fein is president of his family's New York container manufacturing company, Fein Industries, Inc.

The state said Fein shot Brooklyn bookmaker Reuben Markowitz, 40, in an East Side apartment on Oct. 10, 1963.

stuffed his body in a trunk and had three friends take the trunk in a rented station wagon to the Harlem River and toss it in. Fein is married and the father of three.

The trunk surfaced a month later and the body was found with $440 in the suit pockets.

The state's star witness, Gloria Kendal, a 37-year-old admitted prostitute and madam, testified Fein called her to his apartment the night of the murder. He showed her the open trunk and asked her to get rid of it for him, she said.

She said she and two friends, David Broudy, 32, and Geraldine Boxer, 22, dumped the trunk into the river.

Fein's wife, Nancy, testified that her husband was home in the shower at the time Miss Kendal said he was in the apartment.

Fein's father, board chairman of Fein Industries, stood stolidly as the verdict was handed up. At the start of the trial he offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to Markowitz's killer.

41 Whooping Cranes Sighted in Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-one whooping cranes — a record number — have been sighted at the Aransas National Wild Life Refuge in Texas, the Interior Department reported Tuesday night.

Among them are 10 young cranes, also a record number since the government started keeping its eye on the diminishing species.

The total of adult and young cranes is the highest since 33 birds were sighted in 1961-62.

Oklahoma Senator to Push For Modernization of Rules

FBI Continues Probe of Civil Rights Crimes

Agents Believe They Can Name Killers in 2 Cases

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT WASHINGTON (AP)

Months of stubborn investigation has convinced the FBI it can name the killers in two of the most notorious crimes spawned by the civil rights movement, an FBI spokesman said Wednesday.

But knowing who the culprits are and prosecuting them in court are different matters.

Thus the FBI still is trying to amass enough evidence to prosecute — before a jury of their neighbors — the men suspected of killing three civil rights workers in Mississippi last June. And it is continuing "the most intensive type of investigation" into the September 1962 bombing of a Birmingham, Ala., church, in which four Negro girls perished, and 23 persons were injured.

Charge Denied

The official disclosures from FBI headquarters that agents have identified their men were made as the spokesmen denied charges by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., that the FBI was lax in its investigation of civil rights violations in the South.

In response to inquiries the spokesman detailed FBI activity in the civil rights field. Referring to the June 21 murder of Andrew Goodman, James Chaney, and Michael Schwerner near Philadelphia, Miss., he said: "The FBI launched a massive investigation following the disappearance of the three civil rights workers, located their bodies in an earthen dam and have developed information identifying those responsible. Intensive investigation is continuing to develop the case for prosecution as quickly as possible."

The spokesman said FBI progress on the Birmingham bombing case was prejudiced by premature arrests by the Alabama Highway Patrol.

Applause in Courtroom Yields Hour in Jail

GRAHAM, N. C. (AP) — Prosecuting witness Robert Harvey, testifying in a larceny case, was carried away with later proceedings, then was carried away himself.

Harvey heartily approved testimony of another witness. He applauded.

Superior Court Judge James L. Latham of Burlington turned to the bailiff, Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Craven, with two directives.

"Sheriff, bring that man up here. Sheriff, put that man in jail." The citation, contempt of court.

Harvey completed one of the shorter jail terms on record — one hour.

Strike Threatened by Rome Theater Workers

ROME (AP) — Employees of opera and concert theaters threatened strikes Wednesday that could cancel the opera season openers at the Rome Opera House and at La Scala in Milan.

Four unions representing various categories of theater workers said they will strike from Friday through Sunday over demands for pay increases and new contract provisions.

The Rome season is scheduled to open Saturday with Giuseppe Verdi's "Il Trovatore."

The unions plan a second three-day strike for Dec. 5-7. The glittering opening night at La Scala is set for Dec. 7.

By JOE HALL WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okl., said Wednesday he will push for an overhaul and modernization of congressional procedures.

He told a news conference he would introduce a resolution proposing the study as soon as Congress convenes in January. He hopes to get the prestige designation of concurrent Resolution No. 1 of the 89th Congress.

Special Committee

If Congress passed it, a 10-member special committee would be set up consisting of three Democrats and two Republicans each from the House and Senate to take testimony and make recommendations for rules changes and other revisions in procedures.

The senator pointed out that the last such overhaul, the 1964 LaFollette-Monroney Act, took place 18 years ago.

That revision was called the most complete in history, Monroney said, but added that some of the 38 major reforms in that law did not work, and others simply were abandoned by Congress without a real trial.

Population Growth

Since 1964, he said, "our population has grown from 140 million to nearly 190 million, our Gross National Product from $218 billion to $623 billion."

"Our machinery to carry the mammoth load of old and new items needs updating, overhauling, modernizing and revising," he said.

Monroney said the federal government now is a $100-billion-a-year business and that he feels new congressional methods are particularly needed in dealing with the budget and appropriations bill.

100 Hurt During Viet Nam Rioting

Youth Clash With Police In Defiance of Martial Law

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong imposed martial law in Saigon Wednesday night after a day of student rioting against his young regime that left 100 or more persons injured.

Defying martial law, a crowd of youths clashed with police after nightfall and a grenade blast injured seven policemen. Police said intelligence reports had indicated Red infiltrators would try to take advantage of the disorders to throw grenades and lay the blame on troops.

The day's disorders were possibly the worst this year. They were put down only by paratroopers with tear gas who were forced to charge through pools of flaming oil set afire by some of the 2,000 student rioters.

Backing Huong in his effort to get his government organized to carry on the fight against Communist guerrillas, U.S. authorities warned that American aid may be curtailed unless the disorders cease, informed sources said. It was the fourth straight day of rioting.

Despite the military measures and U.S. support, the premier, who was named only Oct. 30, saw his position threatened by the students and the Buddhists.

$30,000 Saved Every Time Hammer Is Used

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Every time Marshall Space Flight Center rocket engineers use their new magnetic hammer it saves taxpayers $30,000.

They developed the electronic device to remove distortions from segments used in making fuel tank domes for the giant Saturn V moon rocket booster. Such distortions could ruin the tank segments at a cost of $30,000.

The new tool "hammers" out the defects with electrical pulses lasting about 500 millionths of a second.

Locations of the first projects to win approval under the administration's "War on Poverty" are shown on this map. ## War on Poverty Blueprints Are Geared to Educational Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — How does a big city begin attacking the deep, sprawling roots of poverty?

Five cities that got the bulk of the federal grants for community action in the opening assault in the "war on poverty" Tuesday showed blueprints geared to education.

Of the $13 million set aside by Sargent Shriver, head of the new Office of Economic Opportunity, for local-run projects, five cities got a total of $9.1 million:

Similar Program Detroit, $2.8 million; Los Angeles, $2.7 million; Washington, $1.4 million; Pittsburgh, $1.2 million and Atlanta, $1 million.

How do they plan to use the money?

Detroit aims to "fill the gaps in services for the needy by stepping up the work of existing agencies and unifying their efforts with new projects made possible" by the funds approved Tuesday.

One project is establishment of four community action centers and 20 subcenters in low-income neighborhoods.

The idea is to insure that the various social services — such as health, welfare, legal aid, job counseling and agency referral — actually reach the poor by housing the activities in poverty-stricken areas.

The most important feature, a spokesman for the Office of Economic Opportunity said, is a program of remedial education.

"The standard education menu isn't doing the job for children from deprived families," he said.

The remedial education plan includes five preschool centers to prepare children, from 3 to 5 years, to enter school — as a "compensation for difficulties in deprived family circumstances." The program would continue through the regular grades with stress on remedial reading and speaking.

Social Services Los Angeles has a similar program, "to help offset the problems of poverty-stricken children and adults lacking basic schooling."

Like Detroit, there will be preschool projects to prepare slum children for elementary school. School hours would be extended to provide more instructional and recreational programs — "to provide a place," as one man involved in the program put it, "where some kids can just sit down and look at a book."

Los Angeles, like Detroit and other cities, intends to use a share of the grant to hire people from these low-income neighborhoods to help in the program, in jobs ranging from aides at preschool centers to directing youngsters working in the neighborhood programs.

Poverty Attack Pittsburgh's poverty attack also focuses on preschool and adult education, family welfare and neighborhood development. It will center on some 60,000 persons in eight neighborhoods.

High on Atlanta's priority list are plans to expand one neighborhood service center and to open centers in other areas. Seven such centers are planned. The nation's capital will use

This Is the Day Americans Pause and Count Blessings

Families Set Down to Dinners Symbolic of Nation's Bounty

This is the day the people of the United States pause to count their blessings.

Thanksgiving Day is observed from Plymouth, Mass., where the Pilgrims feasted in thanks for a good harvest, to wherever Americans are gathered around the world.

Families sit down to turkey dinners symbolic of the nation's bounty. Churches are open. And this year the blessings include general prosperity.

President and Mrs. Johnson were spending the holiday at their Texas ranch.

There will be the traditional Thanksgiving gathering at the seaside home of Joseph P. Kennedy in Hyannis Port, Mass., but it will be quiet in contrast to the joy of earlier years.

It comes just four days after the first anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, son of the former ambassador to London.

The family is scattered this year. Two of the elder Kennedy's daughters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Patricia Lawford, will be with him. His wife, Rose, has gone to Paris for the youngest son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is in a Boston hospital recuperating from a broken back suffered in a plane crash last June. His wife, Joan, and their two children, intend to have dinner with him at the hospital.

Plymouth marks the day with its annual procession — known as "Pilgrims' Progress" — of marchers garbed in Pilgrim costumes. It will be "open house" there in a number of old homes, with cider, cranberry juice and doughnuts being served.

There will be other parades, mostly sponsored by department stores and signaling the approach of the next big holiday — Christmas.

New York will have its 24-hour Macy's parade with huge, animal-shaped balloons. More than 5,000 children will be guests of Gimbel's and the city in Philadelphia's 45th annual Thanksgiving Day parade.

They will come from boys' and girls' clubs, settlement houses, health centers, hospitals, and charitable institutions.

Nation's Oldest Active Square Dancer Dies

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — George (Pop) Singer of Tucson, called the nation's oldest active square dancer, died Tuesday night at 96.

Known to many as "Mr. Square Dance," Singer was at his last dance in October.

In 1955, the National Square Dance Convention honored him at its Oklahoma City, Okla., meeting. He had traveled more than 100,000 miles to square dance festivals.

Born in Johnstown, Pa., he said he started square dancing when he was 10 years old and never stopped. All his sons, daughter, grandchildren and great-grandchildren are square dancers.

Vocational School Plans to be Drafted

Will Set Down Details for Institution to Serve Valley

A detailed plan for the structure and operation of a proposed Fox Cities area vocational school will be written by the five vocational school directors, the area committee decided Tuesday.

Brillion Board Studies School Land Puzzle

Forest Junction Unit, Educators Present Solutions

BRILLION—Five possible solutions to a dispute over ownership of land adjacent to Forest Junction School are being studied by the Board of Education.

The proposals were presented at a meeting this week of Brillion School Board and officials of Forest Junction Civic League. A decision is expected at the Dec. 14 board meeting.

In dispute is a small portion of an 11.82 acre tract of land which the civic league says it owns, and through which new sewer lines to Forest Junction school pass.

The league contends the site was leased for $1 to it before the school was merged with the Brillion system.

One of the five proposals being considered is that of the school board. It offers to purchase the same land for $1, assuming all legal fees for the transaction.

A clause would be inserted to assure the league the land would revert to the civic league if ever it was not used for school purposes.

Under the first plan offered by the civic league, the land would be leased to the school board for $25 a year, and would be subject to periodic renewal. Fees for drawing the lease would be paid by the league, and the school would provide maintenance of the site.

Second alternative of the civic league would be to sell all but the south 66 feet of the land to the school for $1, with lease arrangements to be negotiated on the 66-foot section. A reversion clause also would be included.

Only sufficient land for the school to clear legal requirements for property setback on the sewer bed would be sold by the league under the third proposal. There was no discussion of the remainder of the parcel.

The civic league's final proposal was to deed the entire parcel to the school with the stipulation that if other possibilities of establishing a road into the civic league woodlands fail, sufficient land to build such a road would be returned to the league.

St. Norbert to Offer Reading Course Dec. 2

DE PERE — A course for high school teachers or prospective teachers of reading in high schools will be offered at St. Norbert College in the second term which begins Dec. 2.

The three-credit course, Reading Improvement in High School, will be as practical, fundamental and progressive as possible. Class members will use modern mechanical aids such as a controlled reader, a reading accelerator and a reading skimmer and scanner.

The exact time of the course will be determined after registration. Inquiries may be made by mail or phone to the Rev. A. F. Diederich, O. Praem., St. Norbert College, West DePere, Wis.

After lengthy discussion of the proposed school, the committee set up a subcommittee composed of the five directors to draft the plan "so that there will be no misunderstanding as to exactly what is entailed," said George Howden, area committee chairman and president of the Appleton Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

The plan will be presented at the next committee meeting so all boards will have complete knowledge of what they can anticipate, Howden explained. No date has been set. The area committee, organized last spring, is made up of the directors and representative board members from the Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha vocational schools.

To State Board After it is presented to the committee, the plan will be submitted to the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education and the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education to determine if it is acceptable to them.

The plan will cover continued operation of the existing schools, their relation to the area school, and the authority to be vested in the board that would operate the area school, Howden said.

Also to be covered in the plan, Appleton Vocational School Director Carl Bertram said, are the system of administration, approximate programs, assurance for continuation of local programs, the financial picture and tax impact, possible initial and projected enrollments of an area school, and building costs for the first unit.

The area committee is doing "a pioneering job as far as Wisconsin is concerned," Howden said, and new legislation possibly will be needed for organization of an area school here. The committee is in constant contact with the state office, he said.

Fire Department Schedules Open House for New Station

$500,000 Headquarters Building To be Shown to Public Dec. 13

Appleton's 110-year-old fire department will open the doors of its spanking new $500,000 headquarters station to the public Dec. 13.

The building, replacing the old fire station at the corner of Washington and Oneida streets, is located at 700 N. Drew St.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell announced Wednesday that open house will be held at the new station from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., with all Appleton residents invited to inspect the modern facility.

It was almost a year ago that the common council authorized the construction of a new No. 1 station after the main floor at the present building buckled under the weight of fire trucks.

Other Stations Appleton has three other fire stations, including No. 2 at 1024 S. Lawe St.; No. 3, 107 S. Badger Ave.; and No. 4, 726 E. Greenfield St.

Serving with Mitchell on the dedication committee are Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), common council president; Ald. Robert Stumpf (9th), chairman of the public safety committee; Fire

Hearing Set Wednesday on $6,660,772 Neenah Budget

Expenditures $564,079 Higher Than '64; Rate Set at $24.65

NEENAH — A $6,660,772 budget, $564,079 higher than last year will be presented for public discussion at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the junior high school.

The total budget for city and school purposes, although up, will be offset by increased income from sources other than taxes. This figure is estimated to be up $323,432 or $3,546,858.

The levy to finance the budget is $3.113.913, up $231.923. General operations expenditures for city purposes will be $2,931,167, up $178,387. Expenditures for outlays, streets, and sewers, total $481,425, up $210,432.

City Debt The Neenah Joint School District budget is $3,139,030, up $181,438. The vocational and adult school budget is $109,150, up $9,200.

Bonded indebtedness of the city as of Dec. 1, 1964 is $7,666,

000. This includes schools $4,736,000, sewers $559,000, sewage disposal $991,000, water works $658,000, fire department $315,000, police department $137,000 and the library $350,000.

The city's 1964 tax levy per $1,000 of assessed valuation is $24.65. This includes tax rates for city purposes, $6.23; county and state, $3.23; schools, $14.33, vocational and adult education 86 cents. A credit for the state tax refund of $1.56 will make the net rate $23.09.

School Shares The school levy shares will be City of Neenah, $1,810,906; Town of Clayton, $69,076; Town of Menasha, $462,375; Town of Neenah, $245,427, and Town of Vinland, $52,339.

The hearing is open to all citizens and the townships in the school district. Copies of the budget are available at the city clerk's office for inspection.

Lawmen Press Search for Knife-Wielder

Youth Cuts Woman In Menasha Home While Fleeing Police

MENASHA — A Menasha woman was cut on the hand by a knife-wielding youth who had entered her home about 1 p.m. Wednesday and asked to use her telephone.

Menasha police said they are seeking the suspect who fled the house on Ninth Street on foot then cutting the telephone receiver wire.

Identity of the woman is being withheld by Menasha police until the youth is captured.

Reason for the youths action is unexplained, Menasha Police Chief Lester Clark said. The incident occurred about 12:55 p.m. when a Menasha patrol squad, working radar on Seventh Street, west of Racine Street clocked an east-bound car at 34 miles per hour. The patrolman turned on the car's red light, but the speeding auto ran the stop sign at Racine Street and then turned right onto Warsaw Street where it was abandoned in the middle of the street in the 600 block.

Two youths jumped from the car and ran, one east and the other north.

Wanted Telephone A few minutes later police were called by a woman reporting one of the youths came to her door and asked to use the telephone. She said he called for a taxicab, cut the telephone wire and then held the knife on her. She told police she grabbed the blade of the knife, believed to be a hunting knife, and he then pulled the knife away, cutting her fingers and hand.

The youth gave the taxicab company the same Appleton address registered in the abandoned car, police said. The second youth was picked up by Menasha police a short time later near the city limits on Manitowoc Road. Authorities said he was not involved in the incident.

He told Menasha police the first youth told him to "jump and run" when he stopped the car. He said he did not know why they were running. The second youth was released after questioning. Both youths are about 17 years of age, police said.

Detroit Firm Buys Badger Northland

Farm Implement Manufacturer At Kaukauna Becomes New Massey-Ferguson Subsidiary

KAUKAUNA—Sale of Badger Northland Inc. to a new subsidiary of Massey-Ferguson Inc., a Detroit-based farm and light industrial equipment company, was announced today by Vincent Rohlf, president of Badger Northland. He did not disclose the sale price.

Badger Northland manufactures and markets farm materials handling equipment and field harvesting machines. Rohlf said the company will retain its corporate name and continue under its present management as a separate operating subsidiary. It intends to continue to expand its existing dealer and distributor organization.

Because of the absence of duplication of products, the affiliation with Massey-Ferguson will provide immediate market opportunities for many Badger products, said Rohlf.

Through Dealers "Badger field harvesting equipment, such as our forage harvester and forage blower, will be sold through Massey-Ferguson dealers in the United States and Canada, in addition to being sold through our own dealers and distributors," he said. "This will provide us not only with new retail outlets and greater sales, but with a greatly increased incentive and opportunity for further development of new products."

The 18-year old company operates two plants in Kaukauna and, as a result of the affiliation with Massey-Ferguson, will continue to operate a third plant in Algoma. Rohlf said no changes in plant location or personnel were contemplated.

Badger Northland was established in 1946 as Badger Farm Equipment Co. to manufacture barn cleaners. It became Badger Northland Inc. with the acquisition in 1950 of Northland Engineering Co., Kaukauna, where headquarters were established.

Products manufactured by Badger Northland include barn cleaners, bunk feeders, silo unloaders, silage distributors, forage harvesters, self-unloading forage wagons, forage blowers and mixer-mills.

Clintonville Gets $51,291 Tax Credit

State Refund Will Result in 8.87 Per Cent Cut in Payments

CLINTONVILLE — The city on real estate and personal property other than inventories has received tax credits from the State Department of Taxation totaling $51,291.72.

Taxpayers here will be reimbursed on their tax bills for 8.87 per cent, according to City Clerk Lloyd Eggleston, for taxes

Appleton Wants No Part of Big Wittenberg Tree

The story could be entitled, "A Tree Grows in Wittenberg"—but the City of Appleton wants no part of it.

When the board of public works met Tuesday it had a letter from a Wittenberg resident which said:

"I have a 60 or 65 foot blue spruce tree that would be a beautiful Christmas tree for some city this season. Please turn this letter over to the proper party that has to do with the purchase of decorations for your city this year."

The board took a dim view of purchasing such a big tree and having it shipped here, especially after Mayor Clarence Mitchell injected his observation.

"The last time we imported a big tree a few parked cars were banged up in the process. Let's forget about it," Mitchell said.

The board did.

Car Reported Stolen Found at AVS Lot

A car reported stolen from a teen-age beer bar at Waverly Beach was found by Appleton police abandoned at the Appleton Vocational School parking lot.

Owner Ralph Arndt, Neenah, told Calumet County police he had left the keys in the car and noticed the car was gone about 11:30 p.m. The car was not damaged and Arndt was driven to Appleton to pick up his vehicle.

Bargain Try With Railroad Ends in Failure

Appleton Dispute With CNW to Enter Dane Court Friday

An informal attempt by city officials to compromise with the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. over crossing closings in Appleton has met with failure, it was learned Wednesday.

As a result, a trial involving the city and the railroad will go on as scheduled in Dane County Circuit Court at Madison Friday.

Judge Edwin Wilkie will be trying two cases. One involves the Public Service Commission (PSC) order closing six crossings here, and the other a PSC decision which granted the city grade crossings for the Washington-Franklin Street extension.

Previous Hearings At previous court hearings the city was successful in obtaining an order which restrained the railroad from putting barricades at Winnebago and Charlotte-Union Street crossings. Hancock, Bales and Pierce Street crossing barricades were permitted by the court to stay.

And, the railroad sought an injunction to halt the city from proceeding with the street extension and the judge took the request under advisement until he could try the case on its merits.

Too Far Advanced Earlier in the week, city officials contacted railroad executives in a last-minute effort to resolve differences out of court. However, legal counsel for the North Western took the position that litigation was too far advanced to drop it at this point.

Judge Wilkie has indicated he will render a decision in the railroad crossing controversy as soon as possible.

Both sides say they will appeal to the state supreme court should they lose entirely.

Achtenhagen Estate Is Estimated at $50,000

OSHKOSH — A petition for probate of the estate of the late Carl H. Achtenhagen, Town of Wolf River, was filed Wednesday with Winnebago County Judge Herbert J. Mueller. The petition estimated the estate at $20,000 in personal property and $30,000 in real estate.

Listed as heirs were a daughter, Mrs. Betty Lou Roeseler, Brookfield, and her three children, and a son, Glander C. Achtenhagen, also of Brookfield, and his four children.

Police Investigate Four Reports of Vandals in City

Police Tuesday investigated four reports of vandalism in Appleton, one a minor fire behind a downtown store.

Patrolman Ernest Nettekoven reported flames behind the Schlafer Hardware Store, 115 W. College Ave., about 2 a.m. Wednesday. The fire department was called and put out the flames which had spread among several boxes.

Found in the debris was a street flare which had apparently been tossed into the boxes. Vandals were caught in the act of damaging the pedestrian bridge over S. Lawe Street by police at 2:30 a.m. The three youths, who had taken the hand railing from the bridge, fled when police stopped and could not be found.

Mrs. Adam Miller, 1404 N. Charlotte St., reported her outdoor lamp and post had been damaged, and a spokesman at the United Oil Co., at N. Durkee and E. Pacific streets reported a cap had been taken from a water hydrant at the intersection, and a truck parked nearby had a windshield broken.

Multi-Million Dollar Project Expected to Modernize Operation

DAYTON, Ohio—The Mead Corp., has announced plans for a multi-million dollar modernization and improvement program at its pulp and paper mill in Kingsport, Tenn.

"The program at Kingsport is part of Mead's efforts to modernize its paper making facilities, in order to meet the requirements of customers by maintaining the highest standards of quality," said Howard E. Whitaker, chairman of the board.

Whittaker said the program reasonably may be expected to most employment at the Kingsport Division when it is completed, probably by mid-1966.

Alteration of present mill equipment to accommodate the low of raw materials to a new paper machine as well as modernization of steam and electric power facilities account for a large portion of the cost of the program. A new coal-fired steam boiler and turbine will increase power output while replacing older equipment.

The new paper machine will in effect replace a pulp drying machine, in operation since the 1920s. Pulp which was formerly dried and sold on the open market will then be converted into paper.

Although the mill's product grade structure will remain virtually the same, the new production capacity will allow greater flexibility in order scheduling.

Gilbert Paper Co., Menasha, a wholly owned subsidiary of Mead Corp.

Brillion Man Elected Director of Farm Tool Manufacturers
BRILLION—George N. Schenck, general manager of the Farm Equipment Sales Division of Brillion Iron Works Co., was elected as a director of the Farm Equipment Manufacturers Association at the organization's annual convention in Chicago.

Schenck is one of two directors named to a 3-year term and will serve with four other directors of the group. More than 400 manufacturers representatives from the United States, Canada, England and Europe attended the convention.

Schenck, who joined Brillion Iron Works in Dec., 1960, as general sales manager, Farm Equipment Division, was promoted to general manager of that division in July, 1963. Prior to coming to Brillion he was with Oliver Corp., York, Pa.

Changes in Inspection Policy Will be Studied

Brillion Official Wants to Reduce the Number of Visits Made to Each Building

BRILLION—A request by newly appointed Building Inspector Henry Diehl to reduce the number of new building inspections to one was referred to the board of public works by the city council.

The board and Diehl will confer on the matter. Brillion has received a $91.92 refund from the State Department of Resource Development.

The amount represents the surplus remaining from the cost on the federally supported planning program initiated by the city.

Two Ordinances
Two new ordinances will be ready for action by the next council meeting. One would give the city its second one-way street and the other pertains to signs and parking on new streets.

Annual rental fees for the swimming pool and garbage incinerator located on land owned by the Western Lime and Cement Co. will be increased next year, the firm has indicated. The pool rental will jump from $100 to $400 as of May 1, 1965 and the incinerator fee will be increased from $100 to $200 effective June 1, 1965.

Applications
Applications by Phillip Matthews for a bartender license and by former Police Chief Donald Neilson for a class "B" combination fermented malt beverage and intoxicating liquor license will be acted on at Friday's meeting.

A recent inspection of city-owned boilers found them in satisfactory condition, it was announced.

$7,000 Settlement Is Approved in Lawsuit From Neenah Accident
OSHKOSH—Payment of $7,000 to Judith Terrian, Neenah, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Terrian, Neenah, in their combined suits against Bruce V. Storck, Neenah, and Great Lakes Insurance Co. has been approved by Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane who has dismissed the suit from the current term of Circuit Court.

The suits resulted from an accident on S. Park Avenue in the Town of Neenah on Aug. 28, 1961, in which Miss Terrian was injured while riding in the car driven by Storck. She asked $10,000 for her injuries and her parents asked $5,000 in their suit. She is to receive $4,900 and her parents $2,100 from which is to be deducted attorney and guardian fees.

Holiday Fair to Feature Booths in Clintonville
CLINTONVILLE—The annual Women's Society of Christian Service will be held at First Methodist Church from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Booths will include needlework, knitting articles, jams, jellies, popcorn balls, caramel apples, baked goods, Christmas decorations, and "white elephant" items. Methodist Youth Fellowship will have a candy booth.

A coffee hour will be held in Behling Memorial Lounge from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and again from 2 to 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Neenah Boys Spot Echo Satellite

Bright Object Travels Northwest To Southeast

NEENAH — Four youngsters Tuesday night watched a bright object, reportedly an Echo Satellite, sail through the sky between 5 and 5:40 p.m.

The three watched the ball of light from overhead to the southeast horizon while playing in the back yard of the Peter Thermansen home, 1022 Surrey Court.

It looked like a smashed 0 with red and green gas burning out of a triangle near the top," the boys said.

"We thought at first it was a big star, but it was bigger and burned brighter," they said.

The boys, Ricky Merrill, Greg Recker and Stephen Davis, will look for the satellite again tonight.

Prof. John Evans, instructor in astronomy and physics at Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh, says there is a possibility that the object is one of the Echoes which have been traveling through space the past two, three or four years.

"These big balloons are partially deflated now giving the appearance of a squashed circle. They travel in many directions across the sky."

Tonight it should make its appearance around 6:30 or 7. It takes about one and one-half hours to cross the sky," he said.

Tipsy Driver Is Fined $125
OSHKOSH—Henry J. Killilea, 71, 1316 Powers St., Oshkosh, was fined $125 and costs, with an alternative of 30 days in county jail, after being convicted Wednesday of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. He appeared in Winnebago County Court Branch 3.

Killilea was arrested by Oshkosh police on N. Main Street Tuesday night. He pleaded no contest to the charge.

Library Board To Accept Aid At Appleton

Up to $24,000 Is Available; Designed To Bolster Resources

An agreement under which the Appleton Public Library can get up to $24,000 in federal and state aids to strengthen library resources was approved by the board of trustees Tuesday.

The agreement with the Wisconsin Free Library Commission is part of a plan developed by the Fox River Valley Library Association for strengthening library materials resources in the public libraries of the 17-county area.

Funds totaling from $199,000 to $253,000 are available to the 64 libraries in this area. Each library board must make its own agreement with the state commission. The boards of Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Sheboygan and Manitowish also have approved the agreement, and other boards are considering it.

As one of the six "Type I" libraries in the area, the Appleton Public Library qualifies for a grant within the range of $20,000 to $24,000. The grant will be made in early 1965 and must be used or committed by June 30, 1965.

It will be used to purchase printed materials to strengthen the reference and information resources of the library collection, in accordance with book selection policies being drawn up by the Fox Valley Library Association steering committee. Purchases will be limited to non-fiction books for adults.

Part of the grant also will be used to send staff members to workshops and monthly work sessions related to the program of strengthening library resources throughout the region. Green Bay is the only other city with a $50 plant inspection charge.

The recommended fees will amount to $660 revenue a year for the city.

7 Things Wrong With Car, Police Add an Eighth

There's someone's car parked on N. Vine Street, Appleton police were told Wednesday, and it looked rather suspicious.

Police found that the car was parked on the wrong side of the road, had a broken headlight, had a missing right fender, had a broken windshield, had a smashed in dashboard, had all contents of the ashtray and all dashboard knobs thrown about the interior, and had no license plates.

Police added one more problem. The car was ticketed for illegal parking.

Appleton Man Collapses, Dies

Edward M. Ward, 72, 614 N. Center St., a retired foreman at the Appleton Wire Works, collapsed and died at his home about 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue unit was called to the home and administered oxygen before the man was pronounced dead.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps has listed the cause of death as a heart failure. Ward retired on Jan. 1, 1961. The Breitschneider Funeral Home is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Inspection Fee May be Hiked

Milk Program Is Costing Appleton $1,200 Each Year

A hike in milk inspection fees, which would affect farms and dairy plants, was recommended Wednesday by the Appleton Board of Health.

The board took action after receiving a report from Health Commissioner Dr. James W. Laird that the cost of the city's milk inspection program is $1,200 a year.

The city council was asked to increase the producer fee (farm) from $4 to $10, along with setting $50 as the annual inspection fee to charge dairy plants.

There is presently no plant inspection fee.

Minimum Work Load

It was explained the rates were arrived at by using the health department's minimum work load.

"However, much more work is done by this department to insure a good supply of milk," Dr. Laird said in his report.

Other cities in the Fox Valley charge various fees. However, Green Bay is the only other city with a $50 plant inspection charge.

The recommended fees will amount to $660 revenue a year for the city.

Airport Won't be Sold Without Consultation

Outagamie Officials Assure Appleton Of Advance Notice Of Old Port Land

City of Appleton officials, concerned over the plans of Outagamie County to sell the old airport property, have received assurance they will be consulted before final action is taken on the sale.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell made the report Tuesday to the board of public works which was considering a resolution submitted recently by Ald. Clifford Radder (16th).

Radder has asked for annexation of the 150-acre to the city, and the area planned out by professional planners, before the sale is made. He recommended a city-county committee work out arrangements.

Sent to Fulcer

Mitchell said a copy of the resolution had been sent to County Board Chairman Alvin C. Fulcer, Kimberly, who contacted him this week.

Fulcer said the city's recommendations would be taken up at the December meeting of the county board. Mitchell told the board.

"He (Fulcer) gave me assurance the city will be consulted before final action is taken on a disposing of the airport," Mitchell added.

The county recently advertised the land and buildings were for sale, but no offers to purchase have been received, according to County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath.

City and regional planners contend that a plan for developing the airport land should be prepared before it comes into the city, claiming it would increase the value of the property an estimated 20 per cent.

Appleton Woman Will Head Easter Seal Unit

Mrs. Harold W. Miller, 1101 Greengrove Road, Appleton, a member of the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society board of directors, has been appointed to serve as co-chairman of the society's homecraft committee.

She also will serve on the administrative, nominating and study and future planning committees.

Harold W. Miller, president of the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society, will serve on the annual meeting and fund raising advisory committees.

No Injuries Reported In 2-Car Neenah Crash

NEENAH — A no injury accident was reported at 11 a.m. Wednesday, with damages estimated in excess of $100 by police.

Cars driven by Edward A. Robinson, 73, 509 Division St., and Ronald L. Gullickson, 18, 212 Alcott St., collided in the intersection of Maple and Adams streets, according to the police report.

Fire Station To Have Open House Dec. 13

corner of Atlantic and Drew streets. It has 26,000 square feet of floor space, with administrative offices and truck storage facilities on the main floor.

There is also a drill tower located to the north of the building on city-owned property.

Living quarters and classrooms are on the top floor of the building which is a blue-gray brick.

Recently, the city purchased nearly $10,000 worth of new furnishings for the No. 1 firehouse which now are being delivered.

Also completed is the connection of 106 telephone alarm boxes at various locations in the city to the master panel in the station's main office.

The new alarm system, contracted through the Wisconsin Telephone Co., will be put into operation once final tests have been made and the department is ready to begin operating from its new home.

George Narovec, Appleton architect, designed and supervised construction of the fire station.

Expenses involved in the project include: architect's fees, $21,445; Lauer Brothers, Inc., general construction, $257,492; Mullen Electric, electrical and fixtures, $43,840; A. H. Angermeyer Co., heating-ventilating, $46,277; R. Wenzel Co., plumbing, $22,321; and Morse Electronics, radio and inter-communication system, $5,740.

It cost the city $78,909 to acquire the property, including some buildings.

County Board Group Studies Pay Raises

Members of the county's 11-man special committee went into executive session early Wednesday night to discuss possible action in bringing about pay increases for some county employees.

Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer said the committee would discuss recommendations contained in the J. L. Jacobs report. He said he hoped Wednesday night's session would result in some settlement of issues which would lead to pay recommendations to the Outagamie County board of supervisors in the December session.

The 11-man committee was created early this year as an informational group which would aid the county's 11 standing committees. The special committee has no power to take action or make recommendations.

Meeting with the special committee were Capt. Ronald Decker and Sgt. Lowell Veitch of the Outagamie County Traffic Department.

Car Strikes Pedestrian On New London Street

NEW LONDON—Mrs. John Stein, 504 Lawrence St., was injured when struck by a car as she crossed S. Pearl at N. Cook streets about 7:45 p.m. Wednesday.

She was taken to New London Community Hospital. The extent of her injuries was not learned.

Mrs. Stein was struck by a car being driven by Mrs. Audrey J. Claasen, route 3, New London.

Police Continue To be Plagued By Vandalism

A mild rash of vandalism reported in Appleton in the past few days, continued to plague police Wednesday with the report of damage done to a S. Lawe Street laundromat.

Police reported tables were overturned, water splashed on the floor, soft drink bottles broken and tossed into a machine and the machine was turned on, paper stuffed in the coin changers and waste paper strewn about.

Owner of the establishment, Harry Semans, New London, was notified of the damage.

Police said a witness saw three high school age youths run from the laundromat shortly before the damage was discovered.

Menasha Woman Given Divorce

OSHKOSH—Winnebago County Judge Herbert J. Mueller Wednesday granted Margaret E. Tews, 44, Menasha, a divorce from Earl L. Tews, 49, Neenah, on her charge of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married Aug. 25, 1962, and separated Feb. 2 of this year. There are no children and she was granted use of her maiden name of Margaret Gothe.

Judge Mueller also vacated a divorce he had granted May 15 of this year to Virginia Cordy, Neenah, from Jerome Cordy, Menasha. They indicated they had become reconciled and asked the divorce be set aside.

Student Sent To Jail For Holiday

Ronald C. Jones, 20, a Lawrence University student, will spend the Thanksgiving holiday in the Outagamie County jail where he was sentenced following his plea of guilty to a disorderly charge Wednesday. The sentence ends Monday.

Jones was arrested early Wednesday morning by sheriff's authorities and appeared later in Outagamie County Court in Branch 2. Jones admitted to taking a microphone from the Country Aire, 2311 W. Spencer St.

Contract Talk Scheduled by Commission

Appleton Water Commission will meet within the next two weeks with spokesmen for a union representing some of its employees to discuss a 1965 contract.

No definite date was set by the commission after a letter was read at a commission meeting Wednesday.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees has requested the meeting to discuss comparable wages in other communities.

Bids will be sought on sludge removal equipment. The equipment, expected to cost more than $8,000 will complete an installation made last year.

The commission also voted to see to it that city council-adopted employee safety regulations are signed by each employee and enforced.

March of Dimes Meeting Slated At Menasha

MENASHA — Winnebago County March of Dimes committee workers will meet at Left Guard at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday to kick-off the two-month long fund drive.

Gary Knafele, former Green Bay Packer, state campaign chairman, and Harland J. Hunger, Wausau, northern Wisconsin state March of Dimes representative, will meet with workers.

Tom Fink, county campaign chairman, said the program is planned to discuss campaign details.

Give Gift That 'Lives' Year Around

Entertainment
Items Growing in Christmas Popularity

This Christmas, why not give a gift that "lives" all year long? Home or portable entertainment gifts can't be beat for longtime entertainment for the whole family.

Entertainment departments in local stores offer a tremendous choice of gifts, ranging from the complete cabinet entertainment center to the transistor radio.

Furniture-styled entertainment is a growing trend today. Stereo phonographs, television sets, FM-AM and stereo radio sets in contemporary or period cabinets are handsome additions to any decor.

Gifts for TV fans have a wide range. One new development is the transistorized television set, some nine or ten inches wide. Regular portables are more streamlined and compact too.

Color Television
Color television has become increasingly popular, with many more favorite shows now televised in color. An added bonus in purchasing a new television set this year is the advent of sets receiving UHF (Ultra High Frequency) as well as VHF (Very High Frequency) channels. Sets made after May 1, 1964, must be equipped to receive all 82 TV channels.

The hi-fi or stereo fan would welcome tuners, amplifiers, speakers, automatic record changers or other components to improve the tone of records.

Tape recorders are becoming a favorite type of entertainment in many families. Radio, television shows or records can be recorded on tape, then played back as often as desired. Many families may plan to record the holiday festivities, to be played back at future family gatherings.

The enormous selection of radios staggers the gift-givers' imagination. Alarm-clock radios, standard table models, transistors, even ship-to-shore transistors make fine gifts.

Camping Equipment
For the boating man there are plenty of things that his craft, no matter what the size, is sure to need. A new compass, radio, galley equipment, are just a few of the great number of items that a boat man always finds handy.

For the hunter, there is a wide variety of gifts, one of which he may well need. New rifles, shotguns, supplies of ammunition are all high on the hunter's list for Christmas. A telescopic sight be just what his favorite gun lacks.

Camping equipment is always a good suggestion for the hunter who likes to spend some time at his game.

Is he a skier (on snow or water)? How about giving him a new pair of skis, new boots, a set of bindings, poles, furs for the really accomplished snow skier; all of these will be a real delight.

What about the indoor sportsman? Does he enjoy ping-pong or billiards? These are games that the whole family can enjoy with dad. There are games for the yard too, such as badminton, croquet and horse shoes, all of which can offer fun for every age member of the family.

A game of chess or checkers should be high on the list of gifts for a man whose favorite sport may be the quick thinking that it takes to win.

If there's any doubt in your mind about choosing exactly the right gift in his favorite sports category, then buy him a gift certificate at his favorite sports shop.

War Strategy Games Boom For Christmas

The boom in games based on strategy of historic wars continues to gain momentum for Yule giving. Keyed to memories of World War I is Dogfight, which bases action on re-plays of the air conflicts of that era and provides authentic miniatures of the contending planes.

The War of 1812 is replayed in Broadside and the Civil War conflicts in Battleground. Napoleon's field marshals participate in Stratego, one of the most interesting games of strategy and maneuver in this category.

Just as in toys, there are classics in games like Candyland, Uncle Wiggily and Chutes and Ladders — that win the attention of succeeding generations. There is enthusiasm, too, for games based on real life where players strive to make a million.

A game called Square Mile dramatizes the ups and downs of the real estate development investor, beginning with raw land and finally achieving an industrial park.

Appliances Are Tops for Yule Giving

The Christmas-time influx of automatic wonders is enough to make Santa's helpers believe that tomorrow's push-button world is here today.

Manufacturers are inventing and producing these little marvels for every household and personal need — lifting a finger is just about all that is necessary to accomplish many tasks, at home or away.

One thing is sure. Small appliances make perfect gifts, for there's one to suit everyone's likes and dislikes.

How about an electric shoe-polisher to keep him looking his best? Or, perhaps an electric carving knife to carve the holiday turkey in style? Dad's always promising great things at table, and this easy-to-use appliance will help him accomplish his feat. These are some of the gifts with a new twist that he'll really appreciate.

Mom's life can be made so much pleasanter with one of the handy small appliances. Electric furniture-polishers, portable vacuum cleaners, knife sharpeners, as well as electric frying pans, griddles, coffee makers, waffle irons save time and trouble.

Temperance Whipping Boy, 'Demon Rum' Coming Back

BY JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Rum, once a universal drink which languished in favor when temperance leaders made it a "demon" and a whipping boy, is making a comeback.

In the last decade or so, rum's popularity has grown sharply, particularly in the United States where consumption has doubled since 1955, though it still accounts for only 21 per cent of distilled spirits consumed.

The distilled spirits institute, calculating from tax returns, reported U.S. sales in 1963 of 21 million cases.

Rising Affluence
Rising affluence in Europe and industrialized nations elsewhere, the growing acceptance of the Western cocktail and rum's adaptability in this regard have worked in its favor.

So too, some observers say, is an increasing cosmopolitanism in the world, a factor that has propelled beverages once taken parochially by nationals across boundary lines.

In this regard, Russian vodka, France's cognac, Mexico's tequila and to a lesser extent Great Britain's scotch and gin — once consumed largely by nationals in the country of distillation — now enjoy wide favor elsewhere. Scotch, for instance, is said to be making great headway in South America, and vodka in recent years has won wide U.S. acceptance.

Rum Producers
With Cuba out of the picture, Puerto Rico leads all rum producers with its scores of famous brands.

Made from sugar cane, rum comes in varieties ranging from 80 to a jolting 160 proof. The latter varieties are favored in the United States, the greatest consuming country.

As an example, one firm has five major breweries — in Puerto Rico, Brazil, Nassau, Spain and Mexico.

The Mexican operation alone bottles a million cases a year of 12 bottles each. About 10 per cent is exported to the United States, Canada, Italy, New Zealand, Australia, the Far East — approximately 40 countries.

The Mexican plants really blossomed when Fidel Castro took over Cuba — and the huge firm's parent plants there.

Principal Liquor

History shows that during the American Colonial period, rum was the top alcoholic drink, mainly because there wasn't much of anything else, and it made good hot drinks. Some say

Computer Matches Brother, Sister

PROVO, Utah (AP) — If a computer can be embarrassed the Brigham Young University electronic brain should be blushing.

Once a year the computer makes matches for a dance, pairing boys and girls with similar interests.

The Founding Fathers drank about 20 gallons each a year. It also was popular in Europe, with the West Indies supplying much of the rum for England and other countries. The British navy had a daily ration of rum for its sailors.

Rum flourished in America for around two centuries, but began to wane when slave-trading with Africa stopped around the beginning of the 19th century. Slaves were part of a three-way trade, the other two parts being molasses, or sugar, and rum.

Temperance Leaders

It became the "demon rum" for temperance leaders. Thus, and the fact it was not a native drink since much of its raw material had to be imported, caused it to die out in populari-

Ironically, it was the prohibition era in the United States which helped start its climb back to popularity. It formed the base of the better bootleg.

Rum really began to zoom in the 1940's. Music helped. The song "Rum and Coca-Cola" played a major role. Then came the "Cuba libre" — just plain rum, a cola drink, a little lemon juice, and ice.

Mexico drinks about 90 per cent of the country's production of the country's production, mainly because there wasn't much of anything else, and it prices. The dark-colored, seven to eight years old, is a favorite the computer from BYU's 15,500 students was tall, had asked for a date with a red-haired girl, likes entertainment and looks on marriage favorably.

He was Richard Mitchell, 19, Bonnie's brother. Bonnie went to the weekend dance with Richard and said she had an "interesting" time.

Nation's Most Costly Building About to Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — What may be the costliest building in the nation — the Rayburn House Office Building — is about to open for business.

Although the cost is estimated now at $66.4 million, another $35.7 million is being spent for related construction. This brings the total to more than $122 million.

By comparison, the Pentagon, completed in 1943, cost $75.2 million. New York's Empire State Building cost $42 million. Chicago's Merchandise Mart cost $32 million and the United Nations buildings in New York cost $72 million.

The last congressional office building to be completed, the 1958 Senate Office Building, cost a mere $21.2 million.

The Rayburn Building, named for the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, has a 60 by 20-foot swimming pool, a gymnasium, three levels of underground parking and handsome three-room office suites for 169 representatives.

They will choose offices in January on a seniority basis.

The other 266 representatives will remain in the two earlier buildings, which are being remodeled to provide each member with a three-room suite.

The new building covers a two-block area across from the Capitol and sprawls down the side of Capitol Hill.

The main entrance, pillared and Romanesque, is flanked by two huge statues. One, a seated gentleman with a sword, is called "Majesty of the law."

The other, a mother figure with child at her knee, is named "Spirit of Justice."

In the lobby is a place for a sculptured plaque of Rayburn. Cost of the plaque, according to the architect of the Capitol: $35,000.

Smaller Than Pentagon

Big as it is, the Rayburn Building is shaded by the Pentagon across the Potomac as far as office space goes. But the cost is another matter.

The Capitol Architect's Office he is J. George Stewart, a former congressman, and he is not an architect — says the present estimated cost of the building — $86.4 million — is $9.5 million more than the estimate in 1962. The figure includes land, foundations, furniture and the like.

Associated with it is a $7.7-million subway train system to carry congressmen the block from the building to the Capitol.

$11.7 million for property acquisition nearby, new underground parking garages, and the removal of the existing two buildings.

The Rayburn Building, besides providing room for 169 congressmen, includes many large and luxuriously appointed committee hearing rooms, with associated office space. These occupy much of the ground floor.

For Afternoon Naps

In the subbasement there are six "quiet rooms," presumably for those who like to take an afternoon nap.

In each office suite is a separate office for the congressman, with a private entrance from the hallway, a lavatory, and a walk-in filing closet that includes a built-in safe large enough to serve a supermarket.

The double doors of each suite open into a central office with work space behind a translucent glass screen. The walls are lined with built-in filing cabinets.

The third room is another working office with walls lined with filing space, plus another lavatory and the piece de resistance: a kitchenette with cabinets, countertop and built-in refrigerator.

The entire floor space is covered with wall-to-wall carpeting of a surpassing softness and thickness. Each office will be completely furnished.

Canada to Inquire Quickly Into Charges Of Bribery, Coercion

SASKATOON, Sask. (AP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson says a judicial inquiry into allegations of bribery and coercion against two federal ministerial assistants will be set up "just as quickly as we can get a chairman."

Pearson said in an interview Tuesday night the inquiry would determine whether prosecution was necessary.

Erik Nielsen, Conservative deputy, made the allegations in the House of Commons. He charged that Raymond Denis, when executive assistant in the Immigration Ministry, had offered a $20,000 bribe to a Montreal lawyer to drop opposition to granting bail for Lucien Rivard.

Rivard was arrested in Montreal at the request of U.S. authorities on a charge of smuggling heroin.

Nielsen also charged that Guy Lord of Cranbourne, Que., former special assistant to Justice Minister Guy Favreau, tried to coerce Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne into dropping opposition to bail in the narcotics case by threatening to deprive Lamontagne of government business.

Britain Will Allow Delivery of Bombers To South Africans

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new Labor government is going to allow delivery of 16 jet bombers ordered by South Africa before Prime Minister Wilson imposed a ban last week on arms sales to the white supremacist government.

South Africa ordered the planes on a $56-million contract two years ago. An option to buy 14 more expired recently.

Informants said Britain's need to increase exports and earn foreign exchange was a primary factor in the decision to honor the contract.

Men Like Gifts of Wearing Apparel

Most Have Little Time for Personal Shopping, So Wardrobes Diminish

It won't take long for this year's Christmas shopper to find out that there is no longer such a thing as the man who "has everything," says old St. Nick.

To begin with, since most men are very practical guys, and since few of them have all the time they'd like to have for personal shopping, you can bank on it that personally selected gifts of wearing apparel will rate tops with them.

Remember that men's wardrobes wear out, that styles change and that a plentiful supply of accessories is always important to keeping a man properly groomed.

So check his wardrobe first, and aim at replenishment of his shirt supply, adding colorful ties, more handkerchiefs and underthings, bringing up to date the accessories that he may not necessarily have worn out, but which are outdated in style. And if you want to be really imaginative in a practical way, think in terms of sports jackets, suits, hats and shoes or house slippers. All these can be bought as Christmas gifts with the assurance that the store will exchange them if they are the wrong size.

What Are His Sports?

Does he bowl, play tennis, or golf? Buy him something that he can wear to play his favorite game. A smart wind breaker, rugged trousers, gloves, tennis shoes and shorts may be right up his alley.

These are the musts for truly personal gifts for the man. There is additional inspiration in his greater mobility — yes, he travels more — and in his leisure time activity. Here are some additional thought-starting ideas on gifts for men.

Gifts for His Workday

A man's needs and likes in the office or in the course of his working day are as greatly diversified as his needs at home. And every man will appreciate items which add masculinity and a bit of his own personality to the four walls that surround him five days a week. Gifts for the office are by no means limited to a picture of the wife and family, which nevertheless is always a good gift if he does not already have one. Desk calendars, memopads, blotter holders, paintings are just a few of the items that will add a personal touch to his working environment.

More and more men are traveling to distant points in their work, or carrying home work, hence the attache case or briefcase with his own initials on it will give him status and convenience.

Other items such as lighters, cigarette cases, billfolds, and key chains can all be personalized and make appreciated gifts for any man, in his work day and in his leisure time.

And what about the time he spends at home? More and more men are doing so, than ever before, no matter what their walks of life.

Hobbies Offer Ideas

Take his hobbies, for instance; if he has one, it can always be expanded by adding something new to it; and if he doesn't have a hobby, then why not give him one. The main thing is to pinpoint his interests before making a definite choice. But, whether he is moth collector or a stamp collector or a "do-it-yourself" handyman around the house there are plenty of choices for Christmas giving.

For the do-it-yourselfer there is an extremely wide range of presents that will make him happy. Now tools and that means every thing from a new hammer to an electric saw, offer a price range wide enough so that even junior can buy something for Dad just by saving a few weeks' allowance.

Does he tinker with cars? Is he a hi-fi enthusiast? Does he collect records? These are just a few of the hobbies that he might already be, or might want to get, interested in.

Perhaps he just likes to spend his time reading. Find the books he likes best. Buy him one that he'll really enjoy.

If he's a traveling man, he'll appreciate some fine new luggage. And that can mean anything from a whole set of new luggage to a smart new leather shaving kit.

For the amateur chef indoors and out, there are countless number of things that he will appreciate—new spickets, seasoning holders, serving forks and spoons.

UW Center To Hold Tax Clinic Dec. 5

Program Planned For Operators of Small Businesses

A tax clinic on Wisconsin sales, income and property taxes will be held Dec. 5 in the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Professor Irving K. Christiansen, program coordinator, said the purpose of the clinic is to aid owners and managers of small and medium-sized businesses, and their advisers, to understand better the impact of Wisconsin sales taxes, income and property tax laws in business decision-making.

The clinic is not for the purpose of showing how to prepare tax returns, but rather to bring them up to date on important changes in state tax laws and assist with anticipated problems, he said.

The $10 enrollment fee includes luncheon and materials. Enrollments are now being taken through the office of Ronald L. Gray, assistant to the Fox Valley Center director, who said a full refund will be made if notice of cancellation is received a week before the clinic.

Fox Valley Center Director Verne Imhoff will welcome participants, and C. A. Pertain, vice president of Appleton Wire Works Corp., will give a short keynote address.

Morning speakers will be W. Donald Knight, professor of commerce and director of the Center for Budgetary and Fiscal Research at Madison, on "New Taxes—Are They Necessary," and four Wisconsin Department of Taxation officials, Allen Rappell, field compliance supervisor, Appleton, on "Sales Tax and the Businessman;" J. L. Tibbetts, assessor of incomes, Appleton, on "Income Tax—Business and Individual;" Werner Doering, director of property tax division, Madison, on the new "Wisconsin Property Tax Manual—Cost and Procedures," and Donald Sherman, supervisor of assessments of the Fond du Lac District, on "Changes in Wisconsin Property Tax Law."

Three concurrent work sessions are planned from 1:15 to 2:45 p.m., and will be repeated from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Panelists on sales tax will be Rappell and Thomas K. Harkess, manager of sales, use and miscellaneous taxes of the Midwestern territory, Sears, Roebuck Co., Chicago.

The session on income tax will be conducted by Tibbetts, Max G. Hensel, C.P.A., Appleton, and Harley Split, C.P.A. and controller of Fox River Tractor Co., Appleton. Panelists for the session on property taxes (real, personal, local and state), will be Doering, Sherman, Harold S. Jones, land manager, Kimberly-Clark Corp., Neenah, and George E. Peotter, former Appleton assessor.

AFS Chapter Holds Annual Fall Meeting

Appleton Participation, Application to Be Host Town for Tour Given Approval

Participation in the American Field Service (AFS) school year program for local students and application to be a host town for the AFS summer tour for foreign students were approved by the Appleton AFS chapter at its fall meeting in Appleton High School this week.

Initial steps in the AFS school program will be taken next fall. Under this program, the student spends an entire year or semester with a host family in a foreign country while he attends school. The Appleton chapter now participates only in the Americans Abroad summer program.

If Appleton is accepted by the national committee as a host town for the AFS tour next summer, the city will be host to a busload of returning AFS foreign students for two nights and one day. The last activity for these students is a three-week bus tour of the United States.

Progress Report

AFS President W. R. Shelden conducted the fall meeting and presented a report on progress of this year's AFS activities. A financial report also was given. The meeting was attended by townspeople and AHS students and faculty members who are involved in the AFS program.

Mary Dahl and Rae Ellen Solberg, the two AHS students who were chosen earlier as candidates for next summer's Americans Abroad program, were introduced.

Sigrun Steinthorsdottir of Iceland and Gonzalo Azaleifa of Costa Rica, foreign AFS students now attending Appleton High School, spoke.

John Schilling, dressed in Arab costume, showed slides Dec. 2, 4, 7, 9, 11, 14, and 16, taken last summer in Damascus, Syria, and told of his experiences as an AFS student there.

Ear Surgery Corrects Some Hearing Defects

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. (this is the word for it — the first time since my teens I hear the wind and the voices of children playing outside.)

Dr. Molner

Two years ago I was faced with a similar decision. The thought of ear surgery frightened me, and I was four months pregnant. My obstetrician felt it was all right to go ahead.

The plan was to remove the stapes bone and replace it with wire. I went to the hospital the night before. Drops were put in my ear and a dressing placed over it.

The next morning I was given an injection to make me relax. When taken to the operating room I was a bit woozy but fully aware of what was going on.

The doctor and nurse explained the why and wherefore of each thing they did. As the doctor chipped the stapes bone the sensation was about like having a radiator pounding. There was a clock and from time to time I would open my eyes to see it. The doctor said the operation would take one to two hours. It took an hour and 45 minutes. At no time was I uncomfortable.

As soon as the wire was connected up, it was as though a speaker had been turned on, voices coming in loud and clear.

Dizziness Later

I went home the next day (it was 100 miles to my home) and the only after-effect was dizziness which wore off in about a week. I resumed my work at home in a matter of days, and went back to the hospital in two weeks to have the packing removed. This, too, was painless.

Now I hear beautifully and

Robles Policy on Panama Canal Gets Vote of Confidence

PANAMA (AP) — President Marco A. Robles' policy in talks with the United States on the Panama Canal treaty has received a 24-12 vote of confidence from the National Assembly.

The assembly's resolution, adopted Tuesday after almost 23 hours of continuous debate, also said the government had reaffirmed its "firm determination to seek a new canal treaty reflecting Panama's just demands."

The vote was a blow to rebellious pro-Castro student leaders and left-wing extremists who have accused Robles of taking a soft line on the treaty.

Shortness of breath from emphysema usually occurs while you are active and thus overtaxing your lung capacity. Hence I would suspect some other source at night. The coronary (heart) trouble is a logical possibility.

Nitroglycerin (and the specialized medications you mentioned) are excellent. Your doctor may want to alter the time at which you take them, day or night, to ward off this shortness of breath.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and had my first period last year. I have not had another since. I am terribly worried, but I haven't told my mother. Does this mean when I marry I can never have children? — P.E.F. It is not uncommon for young girls to have one period, then a lapse before periods resume. I do think, however, that you should tell your mother. Your weight, a lack of thyroid, or some other factor may need attention. This present condition will not affect your ability to have children.

For facts about the total health of you and each member of your family, Dr. Joseph G. Molner's new book, "Stay Well Every Year Of Your Life," ($5.95) is now available at your book store.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

'Birthday Cake for Jesus' Is Brought to Fox Valley Area

New Appleton Resident Says Idea Was Started in Florida

A "Birthday Cake for Jesus," should not detract from the a Christmas custom originated in Florida, has been brought to the snowy North by a new Appleton resident.

Mrs. Fred Clark, 2211 N. Appleton St., who moved here two years ago, watched the custom grow to a community-wide tradition in Miami. This year she is trying to promote it in the Fox Valley area, where to her knowledge it has not been used before.

The "Birthday Cake for Jesus" idea was started in 1953 by a Miami mother seeking a way to help her 6-year-old son realize the connection between the glitter and excitement of Santa Claus, decorations and parties at Christmas and the Birth of Christ.

Decorated Cake

To do this, she thought of a birthday cake with symbolic decorations calling to mind the events and meaning of Christmas. She let the boy help her make the cake and answered his questions about the decorations. On Christmas Day they ate the cake at a birthday celebration for Jesus.

With the endorsement of the Greater Miami Council of Churches and the United Church Women of Greater Miami, the new tradition spread through the city and to other churches across the nation. It is used in many ways in homes, churches and clubs. Miami now annually lights a huge replica of the Christmas cake in Bayfront Park.

Three Symbols

The Christmas birthday cake can be any white-frosted cake with three symbolic decorations—a Christmas angel, standing on a silver star, encircled by 20 red birthday candles. Other decorations can be added but also hopes to interest merchants in using displays or posters about the custom.

Send Leaflet

First English Lutheran Church, 326 E. North St., Appleton, Mrs. Clark's congregation, will send free leaflets explaining the custom to persons who send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the church office.

Dec. 8, First English Lutheran Church Women will have a Christmas-birthday party, using the cakes as centerpieces and bringing "gifts for the Christ Child" to be given to Bethany Home for the Aged. The cake also will be used by First Congregational Church's Sunday school this year, Mrs. Clark said.

The new custom will be an addition to other Advent and Christmas customs which have been traditional in Fox Valley homes and churches, such as the Advent wreath, the Advent calendar, "bringing straws (for good deeds) to the manger" to prepare for the Christ Child's coming, and trees decorated with symbols of Christ.

Grand Jury Has Been Probing Bobby Baker Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has been investigating the Bobby Baker case for six or seven weeks, it has been learned.

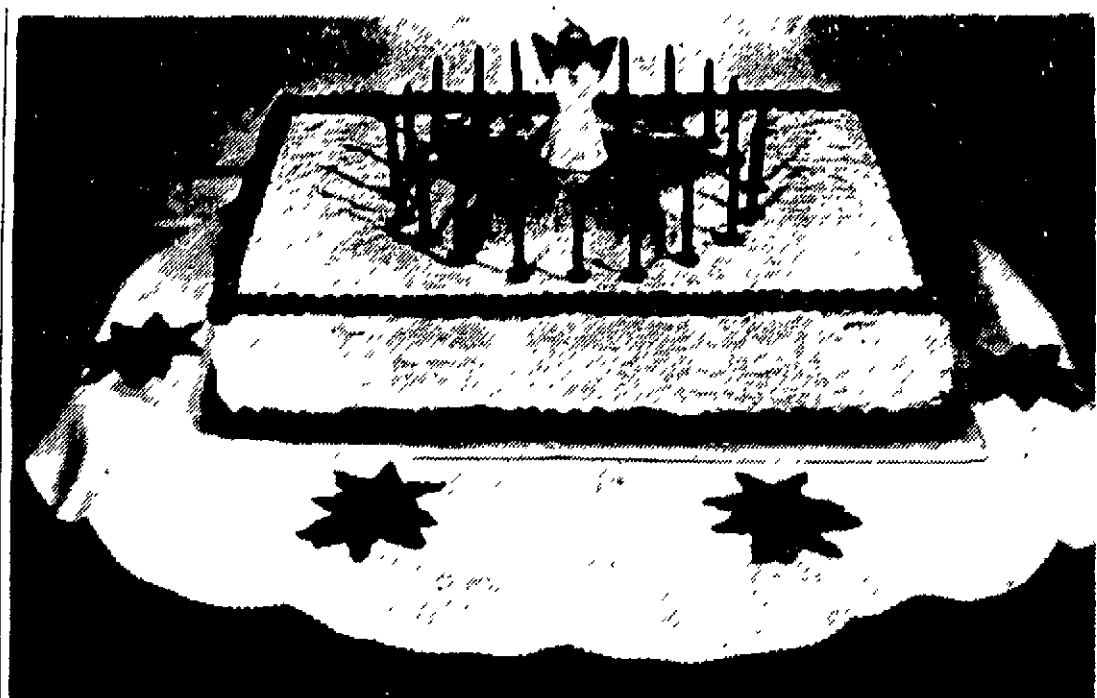

Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas B. Katzenbach launched the grand jury probe, it was understood, in the midst of the presidential campaign. Republicans then were accusing Democrats of a whitewash in the Senate investigation of Baker, former secretary of the Senate Democrats.

It was learned that the grand jury was concentrating on subpoenaing documents.

Operational Depths Of Submarines to Be Greatly Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy expert says that within 10 or 15 years submarines may be able to operate as deep as 12,000 feet — compared with the present maximum depth of 4,000 feet.

Owen Oakley, technical director in charge of preliminary design for the Navy's Bureau of Ships, said Tuesday the Navy is seeking help from industry in developing hardware to operate at depths down to 20,000 feet. He addressed representatives of some 200 contractors.

This "Birthday Cake for Jesus" is a new Christmas custom brought to the Fox Valley this year by Mrs. Fred Clark, Appleton, a former resident of Miami, Florida, where the custom originated. The cake symbolizes the fact that Christmas is the celebration of the birth of Christ. The angel symbolizes the shepherds' story, the star symbolizes the story of the Wise Men, and the 20 candles represent the 20 centuries since Christ was born. The cake can be used in various ways by families or church groups. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Even Portable TV

Wide Variety of Mobile Broadcast Equipment

At Christmas, Santa Claus really gets around, and so do most of the people on his gift list—with the difference that they're on the move all year long.

For such a mobile population, mobile entertainment is in demand, and manufacturers have gladly complied with that demand. There is a wealth of portable and transistor radios, television sets, tape-recorders to keep families on the go amused for a short hop or a grand tour, and each one is a fine gift idea.

Portable and transistor radios are the favorites of the younger set, although adults enjoy them, too, for trips to the beach, picnics, or listening in any part of the house or patio.

Transistor TV

Transistor television is relatively new, but has caught on quickly and is now popularly priced. Powered by batteries, these sets can be viewed anywhere.

Mrs. Kennedy Sells Estate in Virginia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sale of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's Virginia estate, Wexford, to a China-born Harvard graduate who operates a New York investment firm has been arranged.

It was reported Tuesday that sale of the 39-acre estate in the Virginia hunt country at Afton will be completed in mid-December. The asking price for the estate was $225,000. The actual sale price was not disclosed.

The buyer, Quin Non Wong, 31, his French-born wife and their three children plan to move in in January.

Taft-Hartley Section Target of AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President George Meany of the AFL-CIO told a news conference Tuesday that the federation's top priority is repeal of the portion of the Taft-Hartley Act that permits states to enact laws banning compulsory union membership.

Meany spoke after the AFL-CIO Executive Council released a statement which criticized the Federal Reserve Board action Monday raising the discount rate to member banks from 3.5 to 4 per cent.

Languages Will Be Expected of Future Reporters

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A journalism education leader said Tuesday night that news reporters of the future will be required to learn such foreign languages as Russian and Chinese.

Paul S. Swensson, executive director of the Newspaper Fund, Inc., told the Milwaukee professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic society that "the Russians and Chinese are doing a much better job of teaching the English language to their elite citizens."

Swensson, a former managing editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune who now directs a nationwide talent fund organized by the Wall Street Journal in 1958 to improve journalism education, said that newsmen will have to learn Russian and Chinese to report accurately on the people of the Soviet Union and Red China.

"The reporter of tomorrow will be deeply involved in reporting the problems and principles of science and education," he said. "for the press and other means of mass communication will grow as major vehicles for adult education."

Swensson said the new crop of reporters will be different from today's journalists in several ways, adding:

"First of all, I believe tomorrow's journalists will return to the art of writing. Second, they will operate on a much broader base of knowledge. Third, they will find more opportunities to be news specialists. Fourth, they will have a heritage from our generation—an informed American citizenry."

Wheelchair Allows User To Climb Steps

Fascinated Reader
Gets Idea From Newspaper Article

EDITOR'S NOTE — The newspaper story said that out of space age research — some day might come a marvelous mobile chair to give persons unable to walk a hope of independence from family and friend. A weird gadget with legs, developed to poke around the surface of the moon, might be converted to take crippled persons just about anywhere — except up that great barrier to the legless, the stairs. A fascinated reader was Rod Zamotin, a man with a wheelchair that actually climbs the stairs.

BY BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I've got a newspaper clipping here," a telephone caller told The Associated Press. "It says the space scientists hope to develop a wheelchair that climbs stairs."

"I thought you might be interested in knowing that I've already built one and my son-in-law rode it up the steps of the courthouse the other day."

The caller was Rod Zamotin, 45, an employee of the jet engine division of Eastern Air Lines, part-time inventor and architect.

Working at home, in two years of spare time effort, the "hobby" inventor has produced a wheelchair that does climb stairs, and could open a whole new world to the handicapped.

Courthouse Steps
With Donald Whitney, Zamotin's son-in-law, riding the chair, it easily mounted the concrete steps of the courthouse.

Zamotin, soft-spoken, New York-born son of a Russian portrait artist, has invented only little things in the past — such as a salt shaker which keeps the salt dry.

Two years ago, he read an appeal to inventors from the Department of Commerce to work on a wheelchair that would climb stairs. He went to work on it.

With his model completed, he applied for a patent. He said he has been advised that it will be granted "because of the novelty of my invention."

Beyond that Zamotin, no marketing expert, didn't know how to go about getting his brainchild to those who needed it. He wrote to a manufacturer of hospital supplies "and they said it was a wonderful thing, but it would involve a lot of tooling up to produce it and they wanted to know how big a market there was for it."

Demonstrations Planned
Zamotin has now been put in touch with experts in the handicapped field and has set up a series of demonstrations to prove the need.

"My chair," he said, "can mean that a paraplegic, now a burden to his family and friends, can enjoy independence."

"The two or three steps down from his front porch — or even a curb — offered an insurmountable barrier to him. He couldn't really go anywhere without help."

"With my chair, he can go down the porch steps, cross the street, go to the shopping center, up the steps of the library, or just down to the beach to watch the tide come in."

"He can sleep upstairs in his home if he wants too, without someone to carry him up. Of he could work on the upper floors of a building, something no paraplegic can do now, without someone to carry him up."

Looks Conventional
Zamotin's wheelchair looks much the same as a standard kind, with two big wheels up front and a small one behind. On the flat, the driver operates it like any other, by turning the big wheels.

At the foot of a flight of stairs, the driver turns a small device which retracts the rear wheel and lowers a frame with a non-skid belt made of a special rubber composition developed by Zamotin and built by the U.S. Rubber Co.

The belt, molding itself to the stair edges, takes the driver upstairs backward as he turns the two large wheels by hand, just as in traveling on the flat. Zamotin says it can't slip or skid on the stairs.

While the model is hand-operated, Zamotin says it could easily be electrified.

The model is much heavier than production chairs would be, but a 72-year-old man testing it out ran it upstairs handily.

An American Holiday

And those who came were resolved to be Englishmen,
Gone to the world's end, but English
every one,
And they ate the white corn-kernels,
parched in the sun,
And they knew it not, but they'd not be English again.

Stephen Vincent Benet

Many lands and peoples have special days to give thanks, but our Thanksgiving Day is peculiarly American. It grew from a day of prayer and feasting the Pilgrims at Plymouth shared with some friendly Indians. And we have come to regard those Pilgrims as symbols of all the millions who sought refuge or fortune on these shores.

The symbol is a fitting one. Those who waded ashore from the Mayflower were both the deeply religious who sought salvation in worshipping as they believed, and the purely adventuresome who risked the winter Atlantic because they looked for something better than what they had. There were those who trusted in divine providence to protect them and those who sneered at everything except the strength in their own sword arms. There were fearful women who came in spite of their terror, and brutes who sailed for their lives.

But there is one unique facet about the Pilgrims and all those who followed them to America and this has become peculiar to our heritage. They looked to the future. The Mongols who crossed an ancient land bridge from Asia, the picture brides arriving in San Francisco, the indentured English, starving Irish, babushka shielded peasants, modern refugees from the more refined tyrannies of Hitler or Stalin, those who were dragged in chains but who had the will to survive the hideous holds of slave ships—all dared or risked or believed the future.

The gospel for Thanksgiving Day in the Book of Common Prayer puts it a little differently. "Be not therefore anxious for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

It is traditional on Thanksgiving Day to give thanks for the blessings that are ours. We are thankful for our liberties won and protected by a strong but free government. We are thankful for the material riches symbolized by the loaded tables. We are thankful for the freedom to worship God as we please. We are thankful for the truth that any man may aspire to become President or a millionaire. But each of those gifts was won because Americans — no longer English or German or Korean — dared to consider and attempt the new kind of government we evolved, had faith to require that religion be free, risked property and life to plow the Great Plains, mine the mountains, invest in new ventures and visions, challenged old ideas of the aristocratic few or the racially superior. Americans thought the unthinkable and did the undoable. They have followed throughout our history the philosophy stated simply by Douglas MacArthur a few years ago that there is no security, only opportunity.

In our prayers today, as we give thanks for all that we have, may we quietly ask that we continue to be blessed with the ability to see what Benet called "the line of unimaginable coasts."

Dr. Conant on Education

In what has been described as the culmination of his educational research into the American public school system, Dr. James Conant has published a new book, Shaping Educational Policy. As usual in Dr. Conant's writings, the volume is a calm and reasoned approach to some of what he considers the more serious problems of our system. But we are not sure we are in agreement with all his proposed solutions.

Dr. Conant has been disturbed by what he finds to be a wide variation in educational standards and practices around the country. To remedy the situation, he calls for a "nationwide policy" of educational aims and methods but one not dictated by the "establishment" of professional educators. In case this scares the dickens out of Americans who see increased federal influence as a further step down the road to the socialist state, Dr. Conant emphasizes that a Constitutional amendment would be necessary for the control of such a policy to rest with the federal government. His stress would be upon state authority with the "cooperative exploration of educational problems between the states and the federal government."

Dr. Conant suggests that a form of compact be drawn up so that a commission can be formed with representatives from all member states. The states would not be bound to policies agreed upon but there would be a form of national trend.

The proposals sound reasonable. But there seems a tendency in Dr. Conant's most recent book to downgrade the responsibilities of local school boards. And here we would take issue with him, for it would appear that such a trend would work in exactly the opposite direction of the purpose of Dr. Conant's study.

Some boards, it is true, are concerned only with finances and buildings and have little understanding of educational policies or problems. When appointed by visionless mayors or city councils whose only ideas concern the mill rate and the next local election, such board members are ineffective in dealing with real educational matters and the schools often reflect their apathy and ignorance.

But in Wisconsin at least many local school boards have actively and intelligently worked with the professional educators heading their schools to the benefit of education generally. And they also serve to present a major defense against another trend Dr. Conant decries—too much power and decision-making by professional educators alone who sometimes are guided by the indoctrination of schools of education limited in understanding the over-all picture.

Dr. Conant is certainly right, however, when he criticizes the political interference and control of state boards or departments of education. In Wisconsin we have been fortunate that our state superintendents have been men of independence, ability and integrity. Also they are elected for a period of six years so don't have to face the electorate too often.

But the lack of quality in some of the also-rans for the office has been nothing less than frightening. So too has been the tendency of some groups, angered at one or another decision concerning the public schools, to base their votes upon, at best, a narrow understanding of the problems and, at worst, pure religious prejudice. The appointment of a state superintendent is also fraught with political peril and we are now witnessing the unfortunate spoils system of picking men and women for the boards of regents.

There is a tremendous difference in the kind and quality of education in the public schools around the country. Entirely aside from the slum schools and those with primarily racial minorities, both of which face extensive problems not present elsewhere, some schools have programs which better than those of other areas bring out the abilities of the mediocre, challenge the brilliant and help the slow. In a national sense perhaps this is a major flaw in the system. But the solution would seem to be to arouse more interest and understanding among parents and other taxpayers rather than to withdraw from them the opportunity for such activity. Perhaps a national policy making board would serve to educate the public to the immense needs of education. But participation is also important.

Dr. Conant cites the comprehensive high school as the ideal and we are inclined to agree with him if it is really comprehensive and not weighted toward one or another type of education. But one of his recommendations is still the most valuable advice in the book—the recruitment of more intellectually able young people into the teaching field. Policies and organization and buildings are all important but in the long run the education of our children depends upon well educated and intelligent teachers who find their vocations a stimulating and satisfying way of earning a good living.

Thanksgiving Activities 1864

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Nov. 17, 1864.

An Oyster Supper is to be given by the Ladies of the Christian Commission on Monday next at Odd Fellows Hall. The ladies propose to give one-half of the proceeds to the needy families of soldiers in service.

In view of the fact that the Commission works almost exclusively for the hospitals, and was organized for that purpose, it is commendable that it devotes half the proceeds of the Thanksgiving Festival to the purpose announced.

Remember, the more they get the larger the amount to be distributed here at home and our sick and wounded brave "boys in blue" in the hospitals will get the rest. A "feast for the mind" will also be served up as part of the programme.

Series of Informational Meetings On Little Chute School Needed

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Why is our Little Chute Village board of education reluctant to inform citizens of sites being considered for construction of a high school? Doesn't the board realize they have no power to purchase land without getting approval from voters at an annual or special meeting? State law permits the board to take options on property, but the right to purchase must be given at a general school meeting.

Perhaps the school board had better plan a series of informational meetings to acquaint the citizenry of school plans and progress. No bond issue can be floated without a referendum vote by residents of the district. Again by state statute, people should be fully cognizant of all aspects of the school to insure a sensible vote when the bonding referendum is held.

The village has limited borrowing power for school construction. Since we have no public high school at present, money raised would not only have to pay for construction, but for fully equipping the building. The state has informed us, the educational system must be comparable to that of neighboring communities.

This means, with limited capital, we must secure a site, pay legal and architect fees, build a school and furnish the building. These furnishings include typewriters, band instruments, art supplies, athletic and physical education equipment, biology and chemistry equipment, desks and hundreds of other educational teaching aids secured by other districts over a period of years.

A petition circulated in the village recently asked parents whether they would send high school youngsters to a public school on a "shared time" basis. This, according to state law, is not legal. High school credits are not transferrable and no state aids would be available. Shared time on the elementary level is approved, but not on the high school level.

Some citizens feel it would be too costly for the village to attempt to support public schools in neighboring communities. This perhaps is true. But it is also true, it will prove more costly to attempt to go it alone. Industry and business in the village pay a very small portion of the taxes. Can we as home owners expect to provide our children board of directors of the Michigan Central Railroad, largest subsidiary of the New York Central system.

Miss Sara Wilkinson, Appleton, was named to the dean's list for outstanding scholarship at Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio.

Mrs. Orville Meltz was elected president of the St. Therese Christian Mothers Society. Other new officers included Mrs. Myrtle Wagner, vice president; Mrs. Harold Edelbert, treasurer, and Mrs. Chester DeNoble, secretary.

tage of the industry tax to provide top education advantages?

We do not want a second-rate high school with our children receiving a second-rate education. We want our children to be able to compete with others for scholastic honors in college and in the all-important future job market. If this can be provided locally without burying the citizenry under an unbearable tax load, fine. Then let's build. If not, then let's go elsewhere.

These are vital and important questions and need answering by people who know, not by a group of men and women who use false pride and hearts for thinking instead of common sense!

A Disturbed Mother

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your newspaper is to be commended for the excellent news coverage given American Education Week.

At this time your readers might be interested in the origin of this observance. American Education Week was established in 1921 under the sponsorship of the then newly formed American Legion and the National Education Association, after it was found during World War I that an alarming number of the American population were illiterate and physically unfit. Since 1922 this observance has also been sponsored by the United States Office of Education and in 1938 the National Congress of Parents and Teachers became the fourth national sponsor.

The American Legion and Auxiliary, recognizing the importance of education in the strengthening and preservation of a free America, have worked to help young people and encourage every citizen to be informed about their schools. Badger Boys and Girls State and Nation Programs, the Oratorical and Essay Contests, contributions to the AFS Foreign Exchange Student Program and other worthy causes are our recognition of the fact that a sound education and good citizenship are inseparable.

The American Legion Auxiliary each year makes available to the high schools of Appleton copies of "Need a Lift," a comprehensive listing of scholarships available and other sources of information about colleges and career opportunities. This booklet includes a list of those scholarships provided by the American Legion Auxiliary, National and Department Scholarships for daughters or wives of veterans, two Merit Scholarships for daughters of veterans, a Nursing Scholarship for specialized training in the field of teaching mentally retarded children, as well as loans are available.

Many children of veterans have benefited from the Junior G. I. Bill since its enactment at the request and with the support of the American Legion. A survey shows that less than 50 per cent of eligible students have used these benefits, although at present, 170,000 children could qualify.

I would also like to remind readers that when you "wear a poppy for a veteran," those coins you give are also being invested in the future of America, because Legion Poppy funds are used only for such projects as those listed above for the welfare of veterans and their families.

Mrs. Hjalmar Gill, Education and Scholarship Chairman, American Legion Auxiliary, Post No. 38

Wisconsin Report

Political Posts Offer Stiff Competition for Talents of Reporters

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Again the successful politicians all over Wisconsin are hiring young men trained in journalism and publicity for key staff assignments in the offices to which the people elected them this fall.

Wyngaard

The first two assistants named by Gov-elect Warren P. Knowles were chosen primarily on the basis of their professional experience and competence in news and public communication. In the first congressional district, Lynn Staibbaum, the new congressman, picked a professional editor as head of his new Washington staff of assistants. In the sixth district new congressman John Race chose two newspapermen for the top places in his office. They were following the leads of chief Wisconsin politicians as far back as this reporter can remember. Retiring Gov. Reynolds and his predecessors for many years, installed in the most sensitive and responsible places in the executive department men who had trained in newspapering rather than politics.

WHY?

There was a time when the Wisconsin publisher regarded the proprietors of the larger papers in the country as his rivals in recruitment of editors and writers.

Today the chief rival is the politician and his spiritual brother-in-law, the head of the administrative agencies in the national government and in the state governments all over America who are constantly luring away his most promising employees after he has invested in their training. Considering the Wisconsin state government professional bureaucracy alone, there are probably a hundred key men who were recruited from the ranks of working reporters and desk-editors in Wisconsin. The professional reporter is sometimes asked by the uninitiated why this should be.

Perhaps an attempt to reply, from a reporter who has no desire to leave his desk, may be useful.

The first and most obvious reason is that there is no other craft that produces potential political assistants of such immediate usefulness as the reporter, and especially that reporter who has had some exposure to the realities of government and politics.

Also involved is the excitement and the challenge of personal involvement in government and policy-making. As one friend wrote in a guest column published in this space some months ago, the professional reporter has an intense curiosity to see what it is like behind the doors of government. Usually when he gets there he discovers that there really isn't much he didn't know or couldn't guess. But there is a strong lure, nevertheless.

AGAIN

Most reporters worth their keep are adventurous. Politics is a fickle mistress, but she offers fewer perils to the newspaperman, seemingly, than to the teacher, or lawyer, or whate'er.

The newspaperman risking employment with a congressman in a tenuous district always knows that he can find something else to do without much trouble. The market for him in politics and government is nearly endless.

Candor also compels the observation that the able young newspaperman in today's economy invests more training and talent per dollar earned than do most of his compatriots of similar educational experience or competence. Often the appeal is simply in the comparatively high pay the politicians and the public agencies offer quite casually. There is a good deal of complaining in politics and government about poor pay. But when put against salaries in private enterprise they often appear generous, indeed.

The best example I know is a young man who worked on the Wisconsin political affairs "beat" for a few years after finishing college and was making admirable progress, as it is measured in journalism. About 18 months ago he was invited to Washington by a ranking politician, for $20,000 a year. Recently he was raised to $24,000.

Strictly Personal

Readers Offer Own Prejudices Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Today's column is made up of contributions sent in by readers, expressing their own "professional" prejudices.

Harris

From a nurse: "Doctors are the most dreaded and disliked of hospital patients—not merely because they think they know more than the staff, but also because they are suspicious and cynical toward their treatment, and actually exhibit more fear than lay patients do."

From a teacher: "Too many school superintendents, especially in small town and rural areas, are recruited from the ranks of physical instruction and shop teachers, who are the most limited in their educational viewpoint, and who resent the intellectual content of school programs."

From a lawyer: "Many clients will lie outrageously to their lawyers, and then expect the lawyers to do a good job for them; they fail to see that lying to your own counsel is like trying to win a race with an anchor tied to your legs."

From a marriage consultant: "Men are much more candid than women in discussing personal affairs; it reminds me of what Marguerite of Navarre wrote nearly 500 years ago: 'Women suffer greater embarrassment at confessing to a love affair than at engaging in one.'

From a minister: "I wish people would think less of 'sins' and more of 'sin'—that is, less of individual acts that they are ashamed of, and more of their over-all attitude toward other people and society in general; too often, their preoccupation with trivial acts of wrongdoing enables them to ignore the claims of justice and charity in the social order."

From a psychiatrist: "In a recent column, you spoke about 'charm'; I should like to suggest that charm is not a quality that resides within a person (like frugality or punctuality), but is a process taking place between one person and another; we call a person 'charming' when he or she makes us feel more attractive to ourselves, and not merely when that other person is attractive."

From a mathematician: "It always irks me to hear the phrase, 'It's only theoretical,' as if theory were something disembodied from the world; actually, every real difference in theory means a difference in fact, and if something is theoretically true it must be so in fact as well, or the theory is bad."

From a judge: "Why don't citizens rush to help someone in trouble? Why do they stand by, or hurry on, when women are attacked or men beaten? Not cowardice, but something worse—the desire not to get involved, not to have to take time out from pleasure or profit, not to care at all."

When Checking Card List, be Sure to Check Etiquette, Too

Checking the Christmas card list? Check greeting card etiquette, too. Certain rules that must be followed when ordering and signing Christmas cards, if they are to be in good taste. Engraved signatures are based on formal tradition, but generally more liberties are taken with Yule greetings than with invitations and announcements, especially if the greetings signature is handwritten. The use of first names, "Mary and William Jones," is more appropriate for Yule cards, even printed or engraved ones, than "Mr. and Mrs. William Jones." People don't identify themselves as "Mr. and Mrs." to their friends. "The William Joneses" is also proper. When first names are used, cards can be signed "William and Mary Jones" or "Mary and William Jones." The order is a matter of preference, but the wife's name usually comes first. Etiquette experts say it is not good form to sign a greeting, like "William, Mary, Susan and Mr. and Mrs. William Jones Robert Jones."

Banks One of Santa's Biggest Yule Helpers

Probably one of Santa's biggest helpers in the local bank. Providing special Christmas services to their customers has become more and more commonplace with banks throughout the country; especially when it comes to giving a really big gift.

Right now banks are ready for this Christmas, and already preparing for next Christmas, too. Christmas Clubs exist all over the country. By saving anywhere from 30 cents to two or three dollars a week, a person or a family can have quite a little nest egg saved for Christmas 1965. Most local banks are now paying out savings on 1964 Christmas Clubs and announcing the opening of 1965 clubs for those who want to be ready for next Christmas with cash on hand.

And for those who didn't participate in this year's Christmas clubs, or those who want to give something really big, the bank is on hand to make loans to buy that new appliance, new car or even a new home. Banking services can be great gifts, too. For instance, for the young man who is growing up, going into his senior year in high school, or perhaps starting college, a special checking account will start him off on the right foot towards learning the important lesson of how to handle his own money.

Checking Accounts

Personal checking accounts are a good gift for anyone in the family, and can be an added bonus to gifts of cash for Christmas. No one is too young or too old to have a savings account.

GOP Congressmen May Open Conferences To Governors of Party

BY JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Senate Leader Everett

M. Dirksen said today it may be possible to open conferences of GOP congressional leaders to the party's governors and other top Republicans.

But the Illinois senator said he agrees with House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that any move to set up a mechanism to bring all elements of the party into policymaking ought to be delayed until Republicans know more about what President Johnson is going to propose to Congress.

Gifts for the Do-It-Yourself Man should hew to his interest in the tools that extend his skills. These may range from hand tools to one of the immensely versatile kits of power tools that can do almost anything for him.

Five Nations Work to Save Ancient Temples

Work of Egyptians 32 Centuries Ago Would be Lost in Giant Nasser Lake

ABU SIMBEL, Egypt (AP) — In a few weeks, the huge temples of ancient Egypt that were cut in the rock here 32 centuries ago will be going under.

The covering will be sand — not water.

The sand cover is the second step in the big job of saving the temples of Abu Simbel.

The task has captured the imagination of millions, since it was first disclosed that the temples, with their colossal statues of the Egyptian Pharaoh Ramesses II, were going to be flooded by the waters of the Nile, backed up by the new Aswan Dam.

Soviet Engineers
The dam, being built by Soviet engineers almost 200 miles downstream, will create the greatest man-made lake in the world, Lake Nasser, beginning in September of next year.

At Abu Simbel, a five-nation team is working to move the twin temples to a new location higher up the rock cliff.

This means sawing these huge structures into big stone blocks and putting them back together again at the new site. They stand 66 feet high and burrow back into the rock more than 180 feet.

"We're right on schedule," said Werner Esme, a German engineer working with the Hoch-tief construction firm which is directing the operation.

Coffer Dam

"The coffer dam that will hold back the Nile water until we are finished here is almost complete. Now we are working on the second step, covering the face of the temple and the walls inside with plastic and then sand."

"In a few weeks — certainly by the end of the year — the entire temple will be filled with sand and the front covered. Then we will start to cut it up into pieces of about 30 tons each."

The process is the same one used by the ancient Egyptians more than 3,000 years ago to build their massive temples.

They put down a layer of rock, then covered it with sand and built the next layer. After the roof was put on, the sand was shoveled out, and decorators worked on the carvings and inscriptions from the top down, as the sand level was reduced.

Cut Temple

"We will do the same thing, cutting the temple into pieces from the top down," Esme said. "Each piece will be numbered. The limit for each one will be about 30 tons. The ancient Egyptians sometimes moved 500-ton blocks, but 30 tons is a more practical size for our modern equipment."

The whole job will take seven years — two to cut up the temples, three to reassemble them, and two years to put the finishing touches on the job.

A new airport and tourist hotel will be built at the site.

Until then, only a few weeks remain for visitors to see the temples at their original site, and boat loads are taking advantage of the opportunity.

Steel Funnel

They can't see much — scaffolding is up inside and a big steel funnel has been built through the door of the main temple. This will allow workmen to go in and out after the front of the temple is covered with sand.

Engineers and archaeologists from Germany, France, Sweden, Italy and Egypt are involved in the project.

About all the United States sent was money — and there was a struggle about it. The job will cost $36 million. The United States promised $2 million, but a congressional committee cut the sum out of the appropriations bill when it first came up. Eventually the money got put back in. Egypt has matched the total and 45 other nations have added $5 million. A committee headed by Huntington Hartford, the American financier, is trying to raise the rest.

Officers From Valley Elected by Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce

Five vice presidents, including two representing Fox Valley area districts, have been elected by the board of directors of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce.

W. Mead Stullman, president of Wisconsin National Life Insurance Co., Oshkosh, was named to represent the 15-county District 3, including Winnebago and Calumet counties.

George C. Landon, president of Motor Parts Co., Schofield, was elected to represent District 4, which has 14 counties including Outagamie, Waupaca and Shawano counties.

Other vice presidents are Vito Pasucci, Kenosha, District 1; Dr. Abraham A. Quisling, Madison, District 2; and Donald J. Macrae, Eau Claire, District 5. Each currently is a director of the State Chamber of Commerce, serving on its 42-member governing board.

SANTA IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES!

From Thanksgiving Day to Christmas, he wears the traditional uniform of red, trimmed with white fur. And, none of us would want it any other way.

But . . . the other eleven months of the year . . . what then? Well, we'd like to venture the guess that he wears the type of clothing you can always find at Perry-Ernst. After all, Santa is a top-flight executive. His organization is world-wide in scope, working to please people of all ages in every country on this globe. And, all deliveries must be made on the same night, Christmas Eve. It takes a great executive to plan and coordinate all this, and one who looks the part, and our man of mirth has never failed. What other executive has a batting average as good as his, guessing correctly as often as he does just what his public wants?

Now, far be it from us to suggest that he's so effective just because of the lean, trim, tailored appearance he gets from the sharp kind of attire we feature in our store . . . but, it surely doesn't hurt his efficiency any. Who should know better than Santa where to find suits that immediately set a man apart as being someone marked for success . . .

Fleeting Claim to Fame

Gobbledy, gobbledy, squawk, squawk—
It's not a song, just turkey talk.
He struts and preens his feathered back
And says he's king of all the pack.
See him pecking at the ground
Throwing all that weight around —
Sticking out his bony back
Just to let us have a peek!
He sure lives up to all that fame
He got with Gobbler for a name.
Tomorrow I'll be famous too,
Today I'll be a 'Gobbler' too.

Children at the Appleton Cooperative Nursery had a guest in class this week. The Honorable King of the Thanksgiving Feast was the center of attention. Youngsters in the classes, held at All Saints Episcopal Church Parish Center, imitated him, teased him, fed him, and reacted to all his sounds and movements. # CAMPBELL'S

The Formal Season points up the contemporary elegance of men's formal attire. At left, the suit of banker's gray blend of worsted and mohair carries the increasing popular Gothic or L-shape lapel framed in black satin. It has a cardigan square-bottom vest to match. The clover-leaf-lapel model on the right is in a new lighter than navy blue color and is also a mohair-worsted blend. The framing is in a matching brocade which is repeated in the waistband of the trousers.

Gala Evening Wear for Men in Wide Style Range

Formalwear in the holiday season can be a many splendored thing. Dependent upon the locale and the degree of formality of the festive events, gala evening wear for the festive fellow can range from the elegance of "white tie and tails" to the cool comfort of a white or seersucker dinner jacket.

The holiday season is also the unofficial opening of the southern resort and cruise season. As a result, the selection of appropriate formalwear in which to celebrate the joyous the one outfit worn to house parties and country club dances, it is currently getting some stiff competition from the richly colored silks and silk-like fabrics as well as from some recently introduced brocades. Those dinner jackets, of course, are also worn at southern resorts and aboard cruise ships along with whites, summery seersuckers, and madrases.

Of course, for theater parties, night clubs and restaurants in the colder northern areas, the black dinner jacket still rules the roost. However, never before have there been so many variations on the black theme. Starting with the flat black fabrics, there are others that offer a stygian gleam via the use of mohair on silk in their blends. Then there are the choices of styled-up contemporary models, authentic traditional models and conservative classic styles. A newcomer in the contemporary group is a blend of mohair and worsted in a blue several shades lighter than navy blue. It has cloverleaf lapels framed in a rich brocade. Other contemporaries are cut with framed notch, semi-peak and fish-mouth lapels as well as some with framed shawl collars.

and the notched lapel in either satin or faille. Virtually all of the traditional are made of the flat black cloths.

The classics, like the suits of the same type, have been influenced in some instances by the styled-up contemporaries, in others by the traditional. For instance, they may be of conservative cut but made of a glowing mohair blend or may be a close replica of a natural shoulder model with just a bit more of the tailored look at the sleevehead.

A counter trend to the less formal semi-formal, is the increase in the wearing of the ultra-formal white tie and tails which, in the final analysis, is the only outfit that really rates as truly formal evening wear.

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

Questions, Answers

Q. Is there a simple way of using two large bath towels to make an after shower robe? Miss E. P.

Remove the bodice and pin the skirt to the marked line.

A. Just stitch the two towels together on both long edges, leaving 9 inches open at the top and 12 inches open at the bottom. Then gather the top until it measures 14 inches. Stitch narrow ribbon or bias tape over

Q. Why is it some instructions call for double top-stitched seams? Sometimes it doesn't seem to be for decoration. Miss E. B.

A. B. Very often this finish is used because the garment requires extra strength at the seams.

Q. Why is it that I get "V"s and points when I turn up the hem of a flared skirt where tucks are required for the extra fullness? Mrs. H. G.

A. Because you shouldn't be taking tucks. You handle the excess fullness by easing—that is, making a line of gathering stitches and drawing the thread slightly until the excess fullness has been pulled in.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, How to alter your dress patterns, which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For a copy of this guide write to Patricia Scott in care of the Post-Crescent enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

After the Feast Is Over....

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

When one thinks of it the right way the carcass of a splendid, meaty turkey is worth its weight in gold in terms of leftovers. There's really no leftover problem if the smart homemaker arms herself with a sheaf of fine recipes just begging for use with the meat of the holiday bird.

Consider the makings for soups... really all kinds of them... the more turkey that's left, the more soups can be made. And everyone of them is delicious in its own way when the turkey meat (and sometimes the leftover stuffing) is combined with vegetables, spices and such.

Then don't forget the casserole. There are so many of them and one of the best budget boosters after a holiday splurge is the macaroni dish. The recipe for Turkey Encore uses one small jar of pimientos with macaroni and turkey to impart a lively flavor and appealing color to what might be an otherwise drab-looking dish.

That's an important trick to remember... keep any leftover dish from being humdrum or colorless... spice it wisely and well... but never over-spice.

So here are creations small of cost, easy to prepare but BIG in the eating department.

TURKEY CHOWDER
Turkey Carcass
2 quarts water
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
3 sprigs parsley
2 stalks celery with leaves
2 medium onions, sliced
1 bay leaf
1 bouillon cube
1/2 teaspoon thyme
4 carrots, pared and sliced
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1 can (1 pound) cream style corn

Remove meat from carcass; reserve. Break up carcass and place in a large, deep kettle. Add water, monosodium glutamate, salt, Tabasco, parsley, celery, onions, bay leaf, bouillon cube and thyme. Bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat and simmer one hour. Strain stock and return to kettle. Add carrots and rice; cover and cook 20 minutes, or until rice is tender. Add corn and turkey; heat to serving temperature. Makes about two quarts.

2 cups diced cooked turkey
1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) peas, drained
1 can condensed cream of celery soup, undiluted
1 cup milk
4 ounces pimientos, drained and chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Add tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Combine macaroni, turkey, peas, soup, milk, pimientos, salt and pepper. Turn into three-quart casserole. Combine butter and bread crumbs; sprinkle over casserole. Bake uncovered in 375 degree oven 20 minutes. If desired, reserve one whole pimiento; cut to resemble flower. Fill with peas to use as garnish.

One of the Nicest Things about a holiday turkey is the fact that wonderful soups can be made from the leftover bird. These include such good ones as turkey chowder, turkey vegetable and clear turkey soups.

CLEAR TURKEY SOUP
Turkey carcass
2 quarts water
Leftover stuffing
2 quarts water
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1/2 teaspoon tabasco
2 teaspoons salt
1 carrot, pared and diced
1 medium onion, sliced
1 celery stalk with leaves
3 sprigs parsley
1 bay leaf
1 bouillon cube
3 peppercorns

Break up carcass and put in a large, deep kettle with remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat and simmer two hours. Strain. Recipe makes about one and one-half quarts.

Canned Pimiento and Peas form a perky "flower" to garnish this casserole of elbow macaroni and leftover turkey. More pimientos are in the mixture to give the dish a festive touch of color and unique flavor. It's called Turkey Encore!

TURKEY VEGETABLE SOUP
Turkey carcass
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon tabasco
1 bay leaf
1 cup sliced celery
1 carrot, pared and sliced
1 medium onion, chopped
1 bouillon cube
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
1/2 cup uncooked rice
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Remove meat from carcass; reserve. Break up carcass and put in a large, deep kettle. Add water, and next eight ingredients. Bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat and simmer one hour. Add peas and rice; cover and cook 20 minutes longer, until rice is tender. Stir in lemon juice and turkey; heat to serving temperature. Recipe makes one and one-half quarts.

TURKEY ENCORE
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni

Velvet Suits, Gowns In Holiday Settings

Where there is feminine glamour, there's bound to be velvet. And velvet there is, enjoying one of the most phenomenal booms of its long and distinguished history as the leading exponent of the current fashion trend of ultra-femininity.

Radiant, supple velvet is the fabric master that creates an aura of luminous beauty about the wearer. Skintones glow in the reflection of its radiant colors; body contours soften under its fluid, caressing fit.

New boulevard velvets draw the fashion spotlight of every social scene, in every style — from afternoon suits, cocktail and theater coats, and little "disco" dresses to queenly ballgowns. A major reason for the success of these modern boulevard velvets is that their fragile-looking beauty is combined with a forthright-of-the-times—practicality. They all have special finishes that make them non-crushable and spot-resistant.

One of the bright new lights of the season is the short little "disco" dancing dress. It's the most graceful performer on the dance floor in fluid velvet that skims the figure, often ending in a skirt flounce or flare, sometimes with a full-blown rose as its single adornment on skirt or at neckline.

This accent on youth sets a theme of light-hearted sophistication in charming velvet dresses and suits that are frosted with white dotted Swiss collars. The richness of velvet gives a youthful elegance to casually cut sleeveless jacket-suits, worn with soft, long-sleeved crepe blouses.

For a woman's daytime social and important life of luncheons, teas and matinees, the simply styled velvet suit is the mainstay of her wardrobe with its unstudied look of poise and good taste.

The Discotheque Dance craze has brought the little black 'disco' dress first-place honors in the wardrobe. The luminous boulevard velvet formals are sleeveless and easy-skirted. The dress at left has a row of tiny satin buttons parading down the front. A satin rose is at the base of the neckline. The bateau-necked dress, center, scooped in back, slides down to a low-gathered flounce skirt and is ornamented with a rose. A daisy-embroidered white bodice, right, tops a slender skirt of black velvet.

Blouses, Sweaters Top 'Wanted' List

Tops for the gift list this season could well be new styles in blouses and sweaters. Feminine-looking blouses in a flurry of ruffles are fashion news, but she still needs her tailored shirts, too. A smart Santa might give her both! Gift worthy sweaters show the ski look, the bulky look or the dressmaker look.

Cherry Sauce

Make a cherry sauce by thickening the syrup from canned dark sweet cherries with cornstarch; add the drained cherries and a touch of lemon juice. Serve warm with ice - cold creamy tapioca pudding or ice cream.

Grandest entrance of the evening is made by the magnificent velvet formal gowns, gliding in with glamorous beaming skirts or tiny trains, or with slim column skirts slit to the knee. Satin or beading often punctuate the lush depth of the velvet.

One sweeping princess gown with demure bateau neckline in front, dips in back to a shoulder-baring V, framed with satin banding that ties in a huge bow at the point of the V.

Women everywhere are delighted by velvet's impressive return to leading fashion prominence, because no other fabric can create a special-occasion line.

BREAKFAST MIX-UP

Dear Louise: My husband and I with another couple went to a restaurant for breakfast. I ordered an egg, ham, toast and coffee. What did I get? Payment for too long. Your husband cakes, two eggs, ham and fried potatoes. The other three got what they asked for. I told the waitress that she brought the wrong things. She answered, "That's the breakfast the cook fixed for you," and walked away. I started to eat it but felt hurt, so called the waitress to the table to please take away what she gave me and bring what I ordered. My husband remarked, "Just anything disturbs her." The reason there was a tiny bit of anger in my voice was because I felt my husband was being discourteous to me. I felt it was his place to ask the waitress to follow through. Do you agree?

Louise Davis Answers:

Husbands should wise up that they are their wives' protectors, no matter how many years they have been married. Yours let you down, then added insult to injury by criticizing you in the presence of others. Perhaps you have allowed a situation like this to get out of hand by being too independent for too long. Your husband might have accepted the challenge if you had told him about what he asked for. I told the waitress that she brought the wrong things. She answered, "That's the breakfast the cook

Miss Kuester Gives 'Holiday Food' Talk For Elks Ladies

Miss Mary Beth Kuester, home economist at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., showed slides and gave a talk on 'Holiday Foods' for the Elks Ladies 337 Club Monday evening.

The organization voted contributions for toys for needy families for Christmas. An induction ceremony for 12 new members was held.

Mrs. Martin Fillhouer served as chairman of the refreshment committee. She was assisted by Mrs. Gerald McLaughlin and Mrs. Marvin Voissen.

Bracelet Charms

Charm bracelets seem still to be every teenager's favorite. The variety of charms is great this year. Miniature Class rings, pennants, silhouette heads, zodiac signs and various types are favored.

Party Crepes, Left, for the casually frantic holiday season have been introduced in an exciting new silhouette. This A-line white crepe has accenting black bias skirt bands. The smartest combination of the season, below, is lace and chiffon. The beautiful full, full skirt of willowy chiffon is complemented by a lace midriff and set-in jacket.

Sneeze, Sniffle Time Here

Old King Cold is a king-sized ity of about 45 per cent. Dry troublemaker. mucous membranes cannot clean themselves by action of their cilia, the hairlike structures that move mucus upward out of the respiratory tract. As a result they become more vulnerable to invasion by cold viruses.

No specific treatment, so far available, is effective against the cold virus. Any treatment must be directed toward relief of the symptoms and prevention of complications. The wonder drugs, antibiotics and sulfas, have no effect on viruses. They should be used only under medical supervision for the control of complicating bacterial infections. Bed rest, or at least inactivity in a controlled environment, is helpful. Your doctor may suggest mild medication to help allay the discomfort.

Check Allergies

Those who have repeated colds should investigate the possibility of allergies being mistaken for colds. Current cold vaccines are of little value, since so many viruses cause colds and effective vaccines have been developed for so few of the viruses producing cold symptoms.

Solid evidence is lacking to demonstrate that "natural" foods, taking vitamin supplements, special types of clothing, or forced exposure to sunlight and fresh air have any effect on susceptibility to colds.

Colds are spread by intimate personal contact. A person with a cold should practice good contagion preventing techniques. Coughs and sneezes should be covered. Frequent hand washing is helpful. The victim of a cold should have his own drinking glass, towels and other personal items. Above all, he should stay away from other people.

Humidity A Factor

There is a sharp rise in incidence of colds at the time the winter heating season begins. The lowered humidity in heated rooms causes the dry nose and throat which contributes to susceptibility to infection. The nose, throat and lungs work better when the air that is breathed has a relative humid-

Long a favorite on Christmas lists, beauty gifts are one of Santa's standbys when it comes to choosing something feminine for her, yet each year they're new and different.

From new developments in beauty products to fresh approaches in the way they're packaged, this gift category always offers opportunities to please and surprise women of every age, along with the assurance that the presents will be welcome and useful.

Types and prices of beauty gifts are varied, too. A beauty gift could well be her "big" present this Christmas—a portable electric hair dryer, for instance.

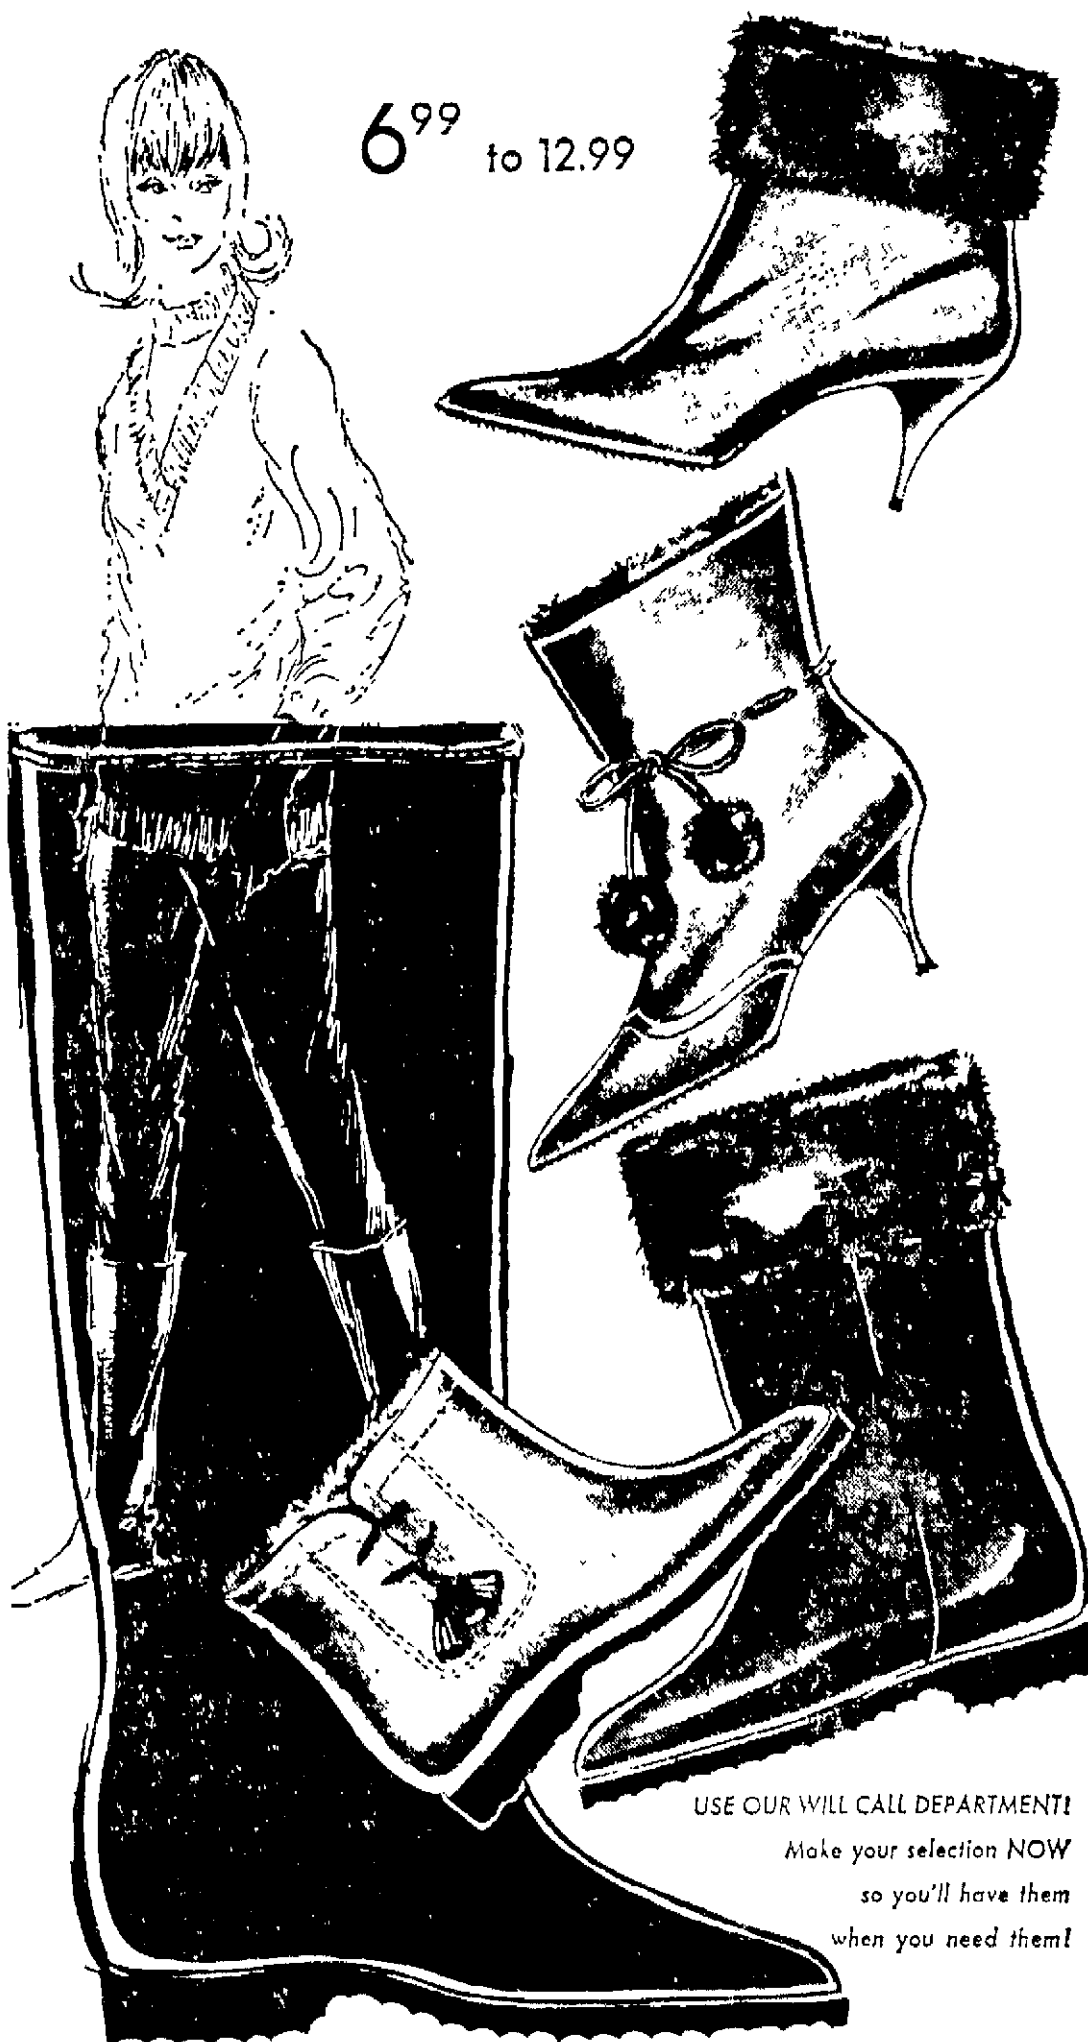

On the other hand, there's a wealth of little beauty gifts, ideal for gifting her with the many small packages that add a lot of extra pleasure. Purse-size spray cologne, fragrant soap bath powder or bath mitt are just some of the possibilities.

And if Santa wants to make her beauty gift really different, how about false eyelashes—or a wig? Since Santa's a man, he may think such suggestions sound far out—but many a busy woman will tell him they are really practical!

Sheinwold Insurance Law Used For Bridge

An insurance company is interested in the chance that John Jones will die in the next fifteen years. The opposite kind of probability is less familiar: If you know only that John Jones is dead, what is the chance that he was killed by an enraged giraffe? This may help you at the bridge table.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

When this hand was played, South took the queen of spades and led the nine of hearts to dummy's queen. Then he led the queen of diamonds for a finesse. Naturally, West defeated the slam with the king of diamonds and the ace of hearts.

North complained that South should have allowed the nine of hearts to ride as a finesse. Playing West for the jack of hearts would bring the slam in. South said that finessing through East for the king of diamonds was just as good as finessing through West for the jack of hearts.

Actually, it was not. The heart finesse was an even chance, but the odds were against the diamond finesse.

Inverse Probability
Inverse probability is complicated, but it's worth a glance if you're interested in guaffes or in slam hands.

West may have thousands of different hands from which to make an opening lead. Take four typical hands of these thousands—two with the king of diamonds, and two without the king. When West has the king of diamonds he will always lead a spade. When he lacks the king of diamonds, he will sometimes lead a spade and sometimes a diamond.

Out of every four hands, he will lead a spade three times and a diamond only once. And if you examine his hand on the three spade leads, you'll find that he has the king of diamonds twice and lacks the king only once. So that when West leads a spade the odds are about 2 to 1 that he has the king of diamonds.

The odds are considerably against the diamond finesse, but they remain even on a finesse through the jack of hearts.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold S 10 7 4 2, H A J 7, D K 8 6 2, C 10 6. What do you say?
Answer: Bid two hearts. This shows trump support and about 6 to 10 points, including high cards and distribution.

Textured Stockings to be Hung With Care

Holiday Dressing-Up starts from the ground-up. Textured stockings are feminine and flirtatious, but not dull. Above, sheer stockings, hand-painted with roses are worn with gold kid pumps to take the little black dress out of the basic class into the realm of smash party-goer. At right, black silk sling back shoes with pave glittering on the toes are worn with gossamer stockings of white point d'esprit.

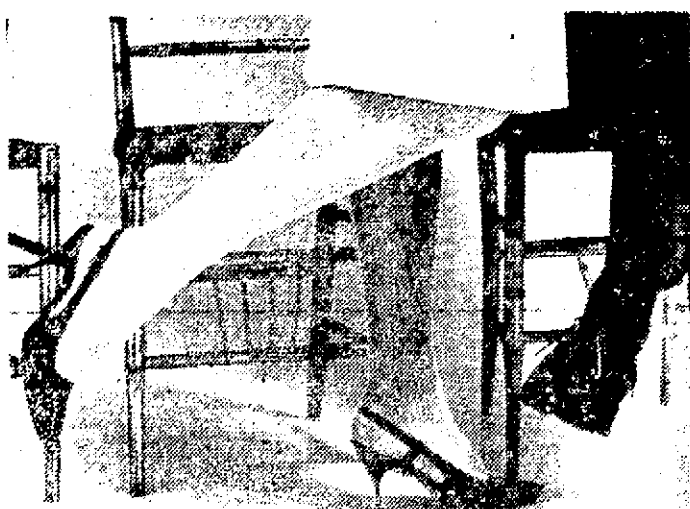

Fashion is capricious. Styles can change radically each season or remain at a nice safe standstill for years. Take the case of the "basic" black pump. It was the "in" shoe to wear with basic beige or taupe stockings from day through evening. That's all changed now.

Was it the beautiful textured stockings that made the basic pump for evening look so plain Jane or vice versa? It doesn't really matter which came first. What matters is that there's a totally new leg look for late day party-ing.

Holiday leg dressing goes like this. . .

Dress your legs in color. In gold or silver stockings, for example, to blend with any of the shimmering brocade dinner suits. Take white . . . wear white this winter all the way: white dress, white stockings and shoes. Naturally you'll vary the texture, a white cloque dress worn with white point d'esprit stockings and white brocade sandals outlined in silver is one formula. There's the boucle evening stockings in melting colors: pink, blue, gold and white. There's evening explosion in bright colors: in chartreuse to wear with some of the spare little golden dresses; in plum, to wear with the evening pinks.

Don't forget pattern for evening. The laces you've all heard about but what fun to experiment with others: the open meshes, the diamonds, the medallions in every shade from subtle to screaming.

Beauty Recipe: You-Plus Good Diet, Sleep, Exercise

Beauty begins with you as you are.

Your basic assets are hair, coloring, features, skin and vitality. Beauty is a habit — doing the ordinary things the pretty way over and over until they become part of your very being.

What do you do every day? You eat, sleep, walk, sit, stand. If you really want to be prettier, follow this pattern to a prettier you.

Eat your way to beauty. What and how much you eat is the most important beauty habit. It makes the difference between a poised, attractive girl and a listless, dreary, "I wouldn't take a second-look-at-her-gal." It will make a prettier, happier you — all your life.

Here are everyday food essentials for the right diet:

Two glasses of milk or the equivalent. Foods made from milk like custard, cream soups, sherbet, etc., are equivalent.

Two or more servings of meat, poultry, fish, or eggs.

Two or more servings of fruit. Make sure one serving, at least, in citrus — oranges, grapefruit, tangerines. Fresh, canned fruit, or frozen.

Two or more servings of vegetables — one of them yellow or leafy green.

Some enriched bread, whole grain cereal, or other flour product.

Moderate amounts of butter, margarine, or other fats.

Moderate amounts of sugar or sweets.

Time Element Important

When you eat these necessary foods is important. If you haven't had any food energy fuel for 10 hours, it makes very good sense to eat a good breakfast.

During the week, alternate these three sample menus and discover how good breakfast can be!

Orange Juice
Cereal, Toast and Jam
Milk

Breakfast II

Grapefruit Half
Bacon and Eggs
Toast and Jam
Milk

Breakfast III

All-In-One-Breakfast Shake

Combine in a blender one cup dry cereal, one cup orange juice, one cup milk, one egg, two tablespoons honey or maple syrup. Makes two good servings.

Make lunch as good a meal as breakfast, with soup, a meal, maintenance and repair of body tissues, and resistance to colds, sticks, a whole orange and milk. Keep your evening meal light. Maybe an omelet or scrambled eggs: a sandwich if you didn't of vitamin C are: one grapefruit or meat, fish, glass of orange or grapefruit and green salad, milk, juice, one large orange, one-half and fresh fruit for dessert. Stand like a queen, not a duck. You'll notice we repeat citrus. Place feet parallel to each other, but never a word about rich pies or, toes pointing straight ahead, for frosted cakes or caramel. Relax knees. Tilt pelvic structure forward by tucking hips. There's a good reason. Fruit is under. Stretch your midriff, almost synonymous with p.e.p., keep shoulders down and energy, beauty — your object-straight, chin parallel to the floor. Low in calories, high in vitamin C, rich in flavor and natural fruit sugars for quick energy.

Diet Tricks

If you want to lose weight, or front foot. Keep knees relaxed, not gain, you can still eat allied: hips tucked forward; mid-the foods mentioned in the s.e.iff flat; shoulders down; chin means, but there are several lit-up. Swing your arms slightly as the dieting tricks: you walk — think, "I'm going."

Eat your orange sometimes in- to glide."

Sit Gracefully

Seems more filling because it Sit like a lady, not a frog, takes longer to eat and provides Walk until you are right in front bulk. If you must nibble, eat of a chair. Stop, turn around, low-calorie foods like raw car-take tiny steps back until your ribs, celery, oranges, grape-legs just reach the edge of the fruit, tangerines, green pepper chair. Bend at knees and hips, strips, fresh tomatoes, etc. sit on the chair edge and slide.

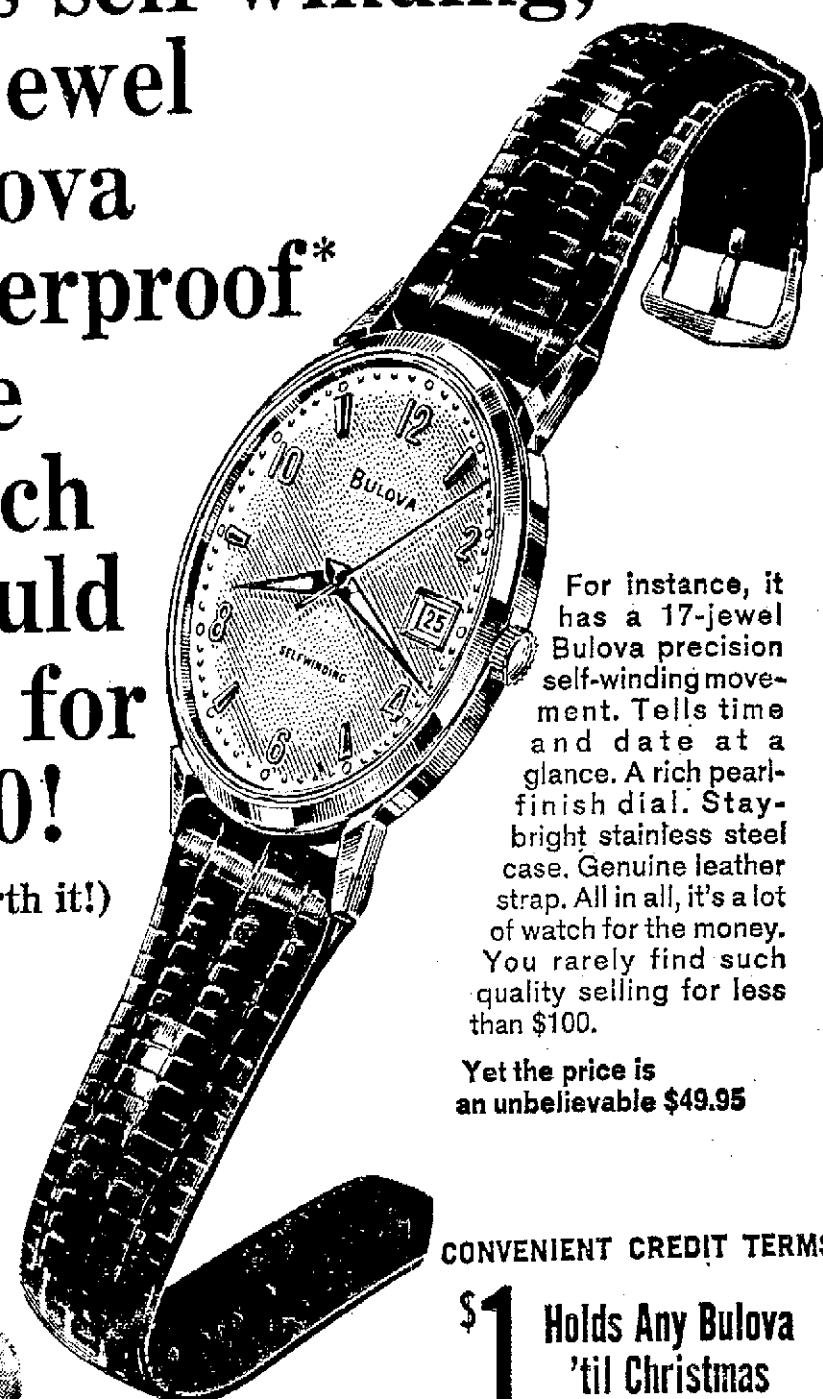

A piece of chocolate cake with back. Hold your legs together chocolate frosting is the equiv-from the knees on down, angle alert of 4 to 5 oranges or 9 them a little bit, and point both grapefruit halves. Gives one e feet in the same direction. Keep pause, doesn't it? your feet flat on the floor. Or, cross your legs at the ankles.

Vitamin C Essential

Oranges, grapefruit and tange- Or cross them at the knees, rines are an excellent natural keeping them close together. To source of vitamin C, needed get up, simply reverse the pro- every day as it isn't stored by cess. Slide forward, up, and the body. It's valuable for nor-walk away. And remember to mal growth, building strong-watch your skirt — it should bones and teeth, healthy gums, cover your kneecap.

Perfect Present: Perfume Pendant

In a season when the biggest jewelry crave is the pendant, a revolutionary fashion idea bound to make outstanding fashion news is the perfume pendant. It's a brilliant new way to wear and carry your favorite fragrance all day long. The perfumed pendant consists of a collection of nine individually hand-crafted renaissance designs by the master jeweler, Callejero. Hidden inside is a secret compartment filled with a concentrated creme perfume. Morton Edell, cosmetic firm president who conceived the idea of the perfumed pendant, went to jeweler Callejero, the noted florentine craftsman, and asked him to design a complete jewelry collection of pendants. Intrigued with the novel idea, Callejero went to work, taking his inspiration from the famous royal jewels of the 16th century House of Madalagne. Now there's no need to dig frantically into a crowded handbag for a fresh scent of perfume, nor is there any chance of spotting your dress with your favorite fragrance. All you do is slide open the secret panel and touch the creme perfume to your skin. The refreshing, haunting fragrance is yours instantly, and lasts for hours. The pendants, each hand-crafted and individually designed, have the look of an ageless, priceless, royal family heirloom. One resembles an old-fashioned watch, another features an open rose, a third pendant is centered with a lovely cameo. Three of the collection are centered with colorful stones. The pendant comes complete with a 24 inch chain in gold-tone metal.

Make New England Liverwurst Spread Boiled Ham Dinner

Liverwurst takes to catchup. You can use boneless smoked pork butt (such as a "daisy" or "cottage" roll) for a New England Boiled Dinner. For two pounds of butt add six small potatoes, six small onions and six small carrots. Toward the end of the cooking time, cut and add these.

Live In a Cloud of Fragrance all day long with gift of a perfume pendant. Crafted by master jeweler, Callejero, the renaissance styles have a 24-inch chain and are finished in antique gold. Each pendant opens to reveal a secret compartment of creme perfume. Above is one of nine designs, set with a variety of eye-catching jewels. At the right is one of the renaissance inspired pendants featuring a Madonna, with the pendant open to reveal the perfume.

Favorite Fur Will Fill First Holiday Desire

Santa won't need mistletoe this year if he puts fur under the tree for Mrs Claus. What woman can resist the soft, caressable, opulent look and feel of fur; and what Santa can resist seeing the joyful expression on her face when she finds fur plans to give her fur and let under the tree for her Christmas morn. Santa needn't worry about the strain on his Christmas budget, either. Easy credit plans let him pay for her Christmas fur in easy installments that usually begin after Christmas. Because fur is a special present that will last for years to come, it is important that he choose the right fur. There are many ways he can be sure of his choice. He can tell her long with a sketch of the suggested style. This way she'll be her choose it herself, or he can hint around and find out what she likes (it isn't difficult to make any woman talk about fur). If he wants to surprise her completely, he can give her a gift certificate from a furrier or a fur department, or a bundle of skins in the chosen fur, a long with a sketch of the suggested style. This way she'll be pleasantly surprised but never disappointed. There are many types of furs to choose from. Mink is, of course, still first on the luxury list, but Persian lamb, seal, beaver, otter, opossum, jaguar, and spotted cat are also favorites. Sporty fun furs such as kit fox, monkey, tiger and pony put fur well in the range of any Santa's budget.

Decision on College Must be Made by Child Not Mother

DEAR DR. JONES: I've been waiting weeks to have a talk with my 17-year-old son about choosing a college to go to next year. But he never remembers he promised to come home in the afternoon to discuss this.

Eve Jones

He acts almost as if he didn't even care about going to college, although he knows perfectly well that we've been counting on this for years.

My husband says you're supposed to let a boy his age be independent and let him take his own responsibilities. But if he doesn't decide which schools he wants to go to, he won't have time to make out his applications. And I'm afraid he won't get in if he's late, because his grades aren't much better than average.

Don't you think I should make him sit down and tell me which schools he wants and then I should send away for applications for him?

DEAR MRS. G.H.: Why so formal? Bring the subject up at supper this evening! Ask your son if he's at all interested in attending college or if he'd

Diamonds Graded by Cut, Color

How is the price of a diamond established? It is based on the four-C story of the individual gem: its carat weight, its color, its clarity and cut. No two diamonds are alike; they vary in quality and price. Ask a reliable jeweler to explain the four-C quality facts as you look at diamonds.

Carat weight is the unit of measure in weighing diamonds. Points, comparable to the cents in a dollar bill. For example, a

Value Judged By Color

Color has great bearing on the price of a diamond. The whiter the gem the greater its value. Over 200 shades of white have been identified. The finest diamond is as clear as a drop of pure rain water.

Note Imperfections

The slightest tinge of brown or yellow lowers the price, but often the trace is so faint that it cannot be seen by an untrained eye. Diamonds of clear, strong colors, such as green, pink, red and brown are rare and expensive.

Clarity refers to the absence or presence of imperfections (tiny planes on to the gem. All which gemologists call inclusions. A flawless diamond is so that each angle meets at one which shows no imperfections, such as carbon specks or "bubbles," to a trained eye when examined under ten-power magnification. Most flaws are so small that the naked eye cannot see them, but the price of the diamond is lowered by the imperfection.

Perfect Cut Means Much

Cut, the fourth C, has two meanings: it describes the shape of the diamond; it refers to how accurately the diamond cutter placed the facets (tiny planes on to the gem. All 58 facets must be precisely cut so that each angle meets at a specific degree in order to reflect the maximum of light. If a diamond is not cut to proper proportions, it will not have the maximum brilliance.

Know what you want in diamond quality. If size is important to you, you must expect to pay top price for flawless quality; a one-carat flawless diamond of the finest color will cost more than a one-carat stone with a slight color gradation, or a tiny flaw or less than full brilliance.

Hard-to-Please Male on List Sure to Approve This Twist

A sure way to score with the college or high school male student on your Christmas list is to present them a bright red sports car, or lacking the ability or inclination to indulge such a Yuletide munificence, take some advice for items that are 'in'. Remember that booby-traps are inherent in any gift-giving situation, but there are 'safe gifts' which should please regardless of the age group, area or individual mores.

Among the safest sweaters are camel colors, dark blues and heathery mixtures in either V-neck pullovers or cardigans. If the student lives in or attends school in a ski area, a burly, hefty ski-type sweater, patterned or plain, crew or turtlenecked is an excellent choice. Regardless of the area, a turtle-neck "bib" to be inserted under a V-neck, a crew-neck or a sport shirt, will show that you are in the know.

Shirt Ideas
In your selection of shirts as student gifts, be restrained. Choose button-down - collar oxfords made with a box pleat down the back and an inconspicuous hanger loop. These can be striped or in solid shades of blue, yellow, stone or (very prosaic) white.

Genuine bleeding India Madras plaids are among the "in" sport shirts, as are some of the deeper shades of knits. The latter must be devoid of fancy self-knit decoration and should have plain rib-knit collars.

Outerwear garments offer a significant "in" selection. Parka-hooded duffle coats in camel, loden green, deep blue and black are admired. So is anything that smacks of the ski slopes. The newest "in" ski parkas are knee-length or a bit longer in the "pro" models, some of which can be worn shorter via snappers. The majority of ski parkas are made with nylon "shells" quilted over various fibers to provide warmth without weight.

Unlined Popover
In warmer climates, plain un-quilted nylon popovers, hooded and with "kangaroo pockets" score very big. Those usually have elasticized wrists and tie bottoms and are sort of a hybrid sailing-skiing garment. Waist-length poplin golf jackets are highly regarded by both leathers such as pigskin, deer-golfing and non-golfing students. skin or capeskin — or go for In the Northeast, heavy wool warm wool knits. Avoid sophis-"buffalo plaid" lumberjack-ticated mochas, doeskins or shirts are another "in" bit. sleek nylons.

In gifting students with neck-ties, select rip stripes as a safe type. However, most college men will want ties in the wider shapes (about 2½- to 2¾-inches) and in brighter colors than those chinos and jeans, the wools with worn by high schoolers, who their dresser slacks and suits.

White handkerchiefs are prefer more restrained colors in the 1½- to 2-inch widths. The younger man is apt to think of gloves as an aid to warmth rather than as a fashion accessory. So, make your selection from the warmly lined in the classic paisley patterns, no solids, no patterns, no ab-stract or modern prints.

Wool or wool-type robes in solid colors or authentic tartan plaids are very much "in." So are big thirsty terry cloths. Avoid tricky models, silk or silk-type robes for the youngsters. Again, unless you have other information relevant to the individual, stick to solid color pajamas and avoid tricky models or "cute" prints. Depending on the climate, your student may prefer knitted ski pajamas or simple coat-style broadcloths.

When giving him slippers, be sure of his correct size or make certain that he will be able to exchange them. One way to beat the size problem is to give him a pair of the new light-weight "stretch" slippers. Skip the attractive (to you) bright red or shiny black patent leath-ers.

Your gifts of jewelry to the student may include classic au-thentic designs in tie clasps and tie tacs as well as gold or silver "safety pins." Good leather wallets and pocket secretaries are liked by the students.

No student ever has too many belts providing, of course, they are of the right type. Select colored web belts, harness leath-ers, combined cordovan and grained leathers, or for some-thing special, a brass-buckled alligator belt.

If a new suit, a sport jacket, slacks, a raincoat or a topcoat is in the offing as a gift for your student, give him a gift certificate. This will save time and sweat. He is almost cer-tain not to like your selection.

Scandinavian Influences are seen in the knit caps, upper left, for the high school or college male. The ear band is a gift appreciated by young men not favoring caps or hats. The face mask pullover, is an item welcomed by students in the ski coun-try. Hand stitched gloves, lined or unlined, are always a good gift in deerskin, pig-skin or capeskin. New shoes, like other clothing, can be purchased after Christ-mas with a gift certificate at his favorite store. A plaid driving cap will add dash to any outfit. In the lower left are wrap-around sunglasses for a sophisticated look; a set of small foreign language dictionaries; a clothes brush which unzips to show a manicure set; brushes in a leather holder; a compact duffel bag kit for per-sonal supplies; a leather secretary with a conversational guide and a gift set of after shave lotion and cologne.

Loss-of-Income Policies Are Individually Geared

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley:

Is there a good and inexpensive insurance policy against sickness which would help me to get something if I get sick? I am a bachelor in the early thirties, and my take-home pay is $80 a week.

T.Z., Rego Park, N.Y.

Dear T. Z.,
There are plenty of good policies, but you might as well face it—insurance against loss of income isn't cheap. The amount of coverage you can buy is limited—usually 50 to 75 per cent of your earnings, or in your case from $40 to $60.

There isn't any one standard loss-of-income policy. Each is individually geared, depending on how much "waiting time" you specify between the time you get sick or disabled and the time the policy begins to pay off. Naturally, the policy that doesn't begin to pay until after thirty days has a lower cost than a policy that would start paying in a week's time.

To give you a general idea, the annual premium on a sickness and accident non-cancellable policy for a man 35 years old until age 65 (figuring your salary of $80 a week) could be $170 to $195. This would pay $250 a month—or approximately 75 per cent of an $80-a-week income—for total disability.

Incidentally, some policies

Remove Carpet Stains

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I recently purchased some used carpeting which has several stains on it. It looks like dog or cat stains. How can I remove these?

A: The color of the carpeting may have been permanently affected and require spot-dyeing by a professional cleaner. However, the following is frequently successful: Mop the spots with water, to moisten thoroughly, and blot up excess. Then saturate the area with a solution of one-half cup of white vinegar to one quart of warm water and allow to remain for a few minutes. Blot up solution and repeat treatment if necessary. Rinse off with clear water to remove all trace of vinegar solution.

Q: I have linoleum on my sink top. Due to some moisture, I have a mildew spot on the linoleum. How can I remove this spot?

A: To remove all trace of the mildew, scrub with a stiff brush and a detergent solution. Then apply a household chlorine bleach, allowing to remain four to five minutes. Rinse thoroughly with clear water and wipe dry. When linoleum is completely dry, apply a thin coat of a good quality paste wax, buffing well.

Q: We purchased canvas awnings last spring and wonder if it is necessary to take them down in winter? Will they deteriorate and fade if they are left up?

A: Left out and subjected to weathering results in more wear and tear on the canvas, shortening its life. I recommend taking them down and storing them in a well-ventilated, dry area (attic is good, if it meets these conditions). Be sure the awnings are perfectly dry when taken down. If there is any question of dampness in the storage area, coat the canvas with a mildewproof, the kind used on the sails of a boat (available boat and marine supplies dealers). This will prevent development of mildew.

Q: We took the front porch off our house. The old foundation is stone and very rough. They cemented over the stone, but after a winter the cement has cracked and is falling off. It gives the house a very bad appearance. Can anything be done about this?

A: This is a classic demonstration of what can happen when new concrete is applied to dry stone or masonry. The moisture in the new concrete is blotted up by the dry mass. This not only prevents the new concrete from curing properly, but also prevents a permanent bond. After a while—especially with a big change in temperature—the concrete will loosen. Before applying new concrete, any wall must be thoroughly soaked. After the concrete has been applied, it should be periodically sprinkled in order to keep it constantly damp for at least a week.

business. She pays $7.50 a week for a large bedroom with two spacious closets, privilege of the apartment, lights and TV. She gets a small lunch and full course supper, plus more than 35 cents worth of selected fruit a day, for $15 per week.

We would like your opinion on who profits most on the deal. And an estimate of how she would fare on her own.
B. L., Jersey City, N.J.

Dear B. L.,

From the money angle, I'd say it's a fair deal for all three of you. Actually, your relative could be fed for about $9 a week, on a moderate cost plan.

It would be more expensive for her, of course, if she tried to find comparable quarters and conveniences elsewhere. And she probably wouldn't have two closets! But she could make out for the same amount of money.

I suspect you're feeling underprivileged in the matter of closet space, rather than dollars and cents. Have you and your wife considered switching rooms with her?

Dear Miss Feeley:

I would like your opinion on tithing to one's church. I know you will probably say each family should work this out to their own satisfaction—but it concerns me that I find it impossible to save 10 per cent of our salary for the church.

P. W., Miami

Dear P. W.:

Many families feel conscience-stricken about not tithing, and I sympathize sincerely. However, even a church board must be realistic about finances. When there are children to be fed and clothed and educated, income will only go so far. The breadwinner is morally and legally obligated to take care of his own. So I see no other answer than to give what you can, after examining your budget and your conscience.

I believe that many of us

When Changing Her Mind Woman Can Make a Million

DEAR CY:

I am a suburban housewife with a new twist to the old home party plan selling idea. My plan should be a big money maker for some large fabric or sewing machine company. I have discussed it with a number of other women to get some idea of how well it would be accepted. It was greeted with enthusiasm, so I am ready to go. How do I present this idea to a large company which might buy it? Is this the best thing to do? —VIVIAN G.

DEAR VIVIAN:

Shrewd women entrepreneurs start off with a discount and you can too. Discount the enthusiasm of friends until they lay cash on the tablecloth to prove your idea is sound. You can't sell accolades of friends to General Combined, American Universal Amalgamated, or Josephine Zilch. Develop your deal or idea and put it in motion. Patent, copyright, and protect your brain child in every way allowed by law . . . and through customer good will. With profitable performance you can sell the business with or without your services. You can also exploit the market for yourself. Margaret Rudkin, after cooking up a multi-million dollar business in Pepperidge Farm baked goods, switched her corporate course and sold out to Campbell Soup company. You, too, have the inalienable female privilege of changing your mind. It's always nice, however, to make a few million dollar profit, doing what comes naturally. —CY

DEAR CY:

Our son is an engineering student at the state university, located here. Frank lives with me at home and takes entirely too much time from his studies, practicing piano. When I complain, he says, "An engineer is supposed to be musical, Ma." Not being the least bit musical minded, I can't judge. —MRS. FRANTZEN

DEAR MRS. FRANTZEN:

The American Music Conference looked into the phenomenon of scientists' and engineers' interest in music. A study was conducted encompassing 100 top executives from tech and engineering schools. Over 50 per cent of those queried played musical instruments. Families of these off-duty music makers rated 66 per cent musical. You face the risk of becoming a musician . . . if Frank gets his engineering degree. —CY

NEW WESTINGHOUSE HEAVY DUTY 15 WASHER: ENGINEERED TO PREVENT COSTLY REPAIR BILLS

Only Westinghouse Has It!

BIGGEST TRANSMISSION OF ALL—
We built the transmission (the cause of costly repair bills) half again as large as those found in other automatics. It has what it takes to run this trouble-free, heavy duty washer.

COLOR-KEYED LOAD MARKERS save hot water and detergent. Load markers inside the tub are color-keyed to the size of your wash load. Pack clothes into tub, lightly and evenly, see how far up they come. Now set the Water-Saver to the proper load size. Automatically, you have exactly the correct amount of water—never too much, never too little.

15-LB. CAPACITY—now, you can wash any size load you wish—from the smallest load all the way up to a big 15-lb. load. And with Westinghouse you get really thorough washing action regardless of the size of the load.

DOUBLE-ACTION WASHING—Thorough Yet Gentle—specially engineered Westinghouse agitator draws clothes in one direction through hot, sudsy water. Ribbed wall tub turns in opposite direction for a second washing action.

Westinghouse

Card Etiquette Decrees Imprinted Names Proper

It all started back in 1843 when an Englishman commissioned a noted London artist to design what was to become the very first multiple-print Christmas card. The words chosen for this greeting, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," have become the most popular Yuletide sentiment, and the custom of "keeping friendships in good repair" has spread from England to the United States and around the world.

Again this year, more people than ever before will take the time to send seasonal greetings to loved ones, friends, acquaintances, and associates. And again this year, countless thousands of thoughtful card senders will wonder if the husband's name should come first, or if the envelope should be sealed, or if a greeting must be sent to this person or that.

Called For Answers Often called upon to answer these questions is Mrs. Jeanette Lee, art director and a member of the board of directors of a leading greeting card publisher. Recognized as a leading authority of Christmas card etiquette, Mrs. Lee answers the most frequently asked questions about Christmas cards:

Does a person have to send a Christmas card to everyone who sends one to them?

No. I consider Christmas cards a voluntary expression of friendship or love, not something that needs a reply. If you do receive a card from someone you've overlooked and its too late to send a Christmas greeting, Thank You and New Year's cards can be sent. Then, add the name to your mailing list for next Christmas if you wish.

Proper Names Printed
Is it good manners to have the family name imprinted on the card?

Imprinting is both proper and practical. It becomes more widely used every year.

Should a husband include his wife's name on cards to his business associates?

Generally not. Business and social mailing lists are best kept apart. Only the husband's name should be imprinted on business cards.

How should Christmas cards be addressed if the sender knows only the wife or only the husband? How about widows and divorcees?

It's good form to address a card to a husband and wife even if you know only one of them. When sending cards to widows and divorcees, the first name and preferred last name should be used.

Are photographic cards, including pictures of the children, considered in good taste?

Family photographs should be sent only to loved ones and very close friends. The usual photograph of the family conveys little personal warmth when sent to friends and associates outside the family.

Is it correct to send Christmas cards in unsealed envelopes?

It is socially correct, but a poor investment. First class postage makes sure your carefully selected cards and personal messages will be quickly delivered and will be forwarded or returned to you, if undelivered, without additional postage. Unsealed cards will not be forwarded if your friends have moved and will not be returned to you unless you guarantee return postage.

If the full return address is printed or written on the envelope, does this suggest a return card?

No. It is quite proper to use your full return address on either the front or back of the envelope. Not only does the Post Office Department encourage this, but your friends will appreciate this opportunity to record the information in their address books.

Is it all right to send Christmas cards to families who have suffered a recent death?

Certainly. The comfort of hearing from friends will be especially appreciated during a period of mourning. Special care should be taken in selecting the card for this situation. Special sympathy-Christmas messages are offered by retailers for this purpose. Otherwise, a Christmas card with a religious message would be best.

Card Signatures
When a married couple sends a card, whose name should be written or printed first?

The person writing the card should put his or her name last. If a man signs the card, he should write: Mary and Bill Miller. The complete name should be written since there are so many Marys and Bills, so many Junes and Bobs. If the cards are printed they should say either Mary and Bill Miller, Bill and Mary Miller, The William Millers, or Mr. and Mrs. William Miller. The last two are preferred for casual acquaintances.

What is the proper form for family signatures?

On a Christmas card from the entire family, the father's name should come first, followed by mother's, and then the children in order of their ages, regardless of sex: Bill, Mary, Tom, Harry, and Charlotte Miller. Grown daughters' names may be included: grown sons' should not be. Some families prefer: The Four Millers — Bill, Mary, Tom and Charlotte. The expression "and family" is not recommended since it tells nothing of the children.

Is it all right to write on beautifully imprinted cards?

Accessory Gift Items Numerous

Point the way to a Merry Christmas for her with a gift of gloves, in every length from shortie to above-elbow. Hand her a handbag to carry Yuletide good wishes and her many scarves and stoles.

Deck her with fashion jewelry—bracelets, pins, earrings, necklaces, rings. There's a sparkling selection this Yuletide with the accent on the glowing look and the real look in gems. Whatever Santa's choice of accessory gifts, he'll discover that little things do indeed mean a lot to her, in terms of fashion, practicality, beauty.

Going around in the best fashion circles, belts make a welcome gift for her, in casual to elegant styles. Hankies, headwarmers, umbrellas, aprons, even little touches of fur are still more of the gifted ideas accessories departments offer for her.

Perhaps one of the most important accessory gifts, with regard to both Santa's investment and her long-term use, is a handbag. With this one style-right gift, she can solve a clothes problem, secure her fashion reputation and score a double gain in wardrobe beauty and practicality.

Satchel Purse Popular
For a handbag with all around appeal, choose a day-time style such as a satchel or pouch. In brushed or grained leather, this will serve her smartly through busy hours of working, shopping, visiting, running errands, ad infinitum.

If she's an advocate of the handy shoulder-strap bag, give her one of the sleek new versions now available.

Beautifully detailed envelopes and clutches in smooth, suede, fine-grained or embossed leather textures accessorize perfectly with her dressy costumes.

To make her tree glitter on Christmas morn, give her a decorative evening bag.

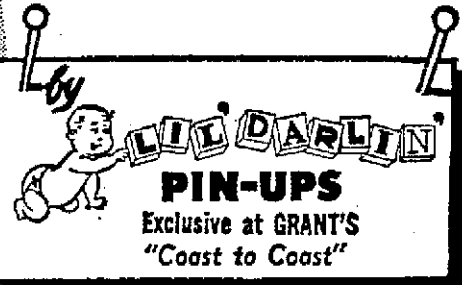

Coordinated purse accessories such as wallets, french purses, eyeglass and key cases can add joy to the gift of a handbag or serve as presents on their own.

Fullness of a personal note. This extra touch pays dividends and often brings you the same kind of personalized card in return. Whether your handwritten note is a paragraph or just a line, it adds personal warmth to the card and will please the recipient.

Pajama Parade in Review

A Sailor Accent is noted in the hostess jump suit above, styled for a holiday evening at home. The figure flattering pajamas are made of soft jersey Orion and wool with brass-buttoned, bell-bottomed trousers belted gently at the waist. The hostess culottes at the right are cut so full they are almost disguised as a skirt. They are Orion and wool, laminated to acetate tricot and styled to complement any color scheme in pumpkin, red, green and royal blue.

There are still some men who can honestly say that they wear the pants in the family—but how much longer this will last is anybody's guess.

The great pants contagion, which started on Seventh Avenue and spread to Paris and back again, makes it increasingly difficult to tell girls from boys.

Actually, pants for day or evening wear in the city have been slow in gaining acceptance, even with the backing of the big names in fashion on both sides of the Atlantic. It's at-home pants that are a rousing success.

The holiday collections of virtually all the leading lounge-wear designers include trousers of one sort or another, everything from sweeping hostess pajamas and culottes in nylon velvets and Orion jerseys to sleek jump suits in spandex lace that fit like second skin.

Pajamas are back in style for sleeping as well as lounging, and the look they project is deliciously feminine, a welcome change of direction from the sportswear influence that brought treader pants and knickers to the boudoir a few seasons ago. Among the most glamorous early-to-bed pajamas are madly ruffled one-pieces in wrinkle-resistant crepe and sophisticated overblouse styles in radiant tricot, rich satins and silk.

Softly Feminine, the newest pajamas for sleeping are a welcome change from the sportswear stranglehold that brought treader pants to the bedroom. Luxurious tricot nylon fashions the trousers, while the overblouse is nylon lace over nylon tricot.

Use of Blushers

The easiest and quickest way yet discovered to minimize a number of problem features is with brush-on blushers. For a woman who feels uncertain of her skill with make-up, a blusher really is a blessing in disguise. Application methods are both simple and sure.

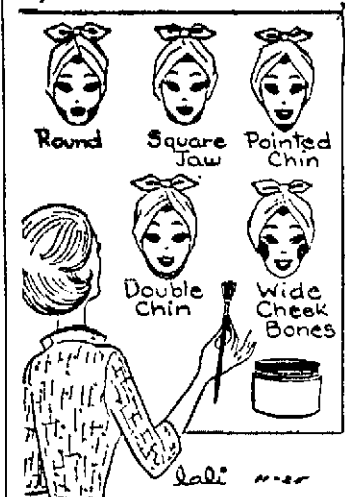

You first apply foundation and powder as usual. The blusher is then brushed on the feature you

Round Face. For a slimming effect, brush blusher on lower cheeks in a triangle with the apex under cheek bone and the base under jaw bone.

Square Jaw. Shade jaw bone, except for the center of the chin.

Double Chin. Flick blusher across underside of chin, from ear to ear and from jaw bone to top of throat.

Wide cheekbones. Whisk blusher in a semi-circle, so that it overlaps outer edges of cheekbones. Start close to the hairline at mid-temple and finish close to ear lobe.

Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types; proper application methods; treatment for blackheads, enlarged pores, circles, wrinkles, crepiness, etc. For your copy write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

Ex-Divorcee Offers Advice To the Obstinate and Blind

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I want to commend you on the advice you gave "Just Plain Miserable," the woman who announced to friends and relatives that her husband was an impossible giving me the courage and good sense to reunite our home and make our marriage work.—Living Proof

Dear Living: I'm sure thousands of divorced men and women who read your letter are at this moment regretting that they didn't take the same route.

I earnestly hope the slightly disenchanted wives and husbands in my reading audience (which means everybody—for what marriage can live up to the glowing image of the movies and novels?) will read "Living Proof's" letter again, and take a good look at their own marriage. It may not be the greatest but it's probably better than any alternative.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who tries hard to get along with her family. The biggest arguments we have are about my friends. The kids I go with (both boys and girls) have a habit of ignoring my mother and father. If my parents say hello to them first they sometimes get an answer. The minute my guest leaves the folks jump on me with, "I certainly hope you have the good manners to greet the parents of your friends when you go to their homes."

Last week I gave a party for 24 kids. When the party was over only one boy and two girls said "Thank You" and "Good-night" to my parents who were sitting in another room. The next morning I heard plenty about it.

I have mentioned this to some of my friends but they don't seem to improve even after I tell them. Why is this? — Want to be Civilized

Dear Civilized: The reason your friends don't do better is because they were not taught good manners early. It's no excuse, however. Kids learn plenty that is undesirable outside the home. They can learn much that is good outside the home, too — if they want to.

Step in Style With Slippers

Traditionally, a "Merry Christmas" means Santa, snow—and new slippers under the tree. Fun to get and to give, slippers bring fashion and foot ease to every member of the family.

This season's attractive array of comfortable slippers offers sizes and styles that make it easy to choose just the right presents for everyone.

Women on the go will appreciate their leisure hours twice as much when they slip into pretty slippers. Mules and sandals, simply styled or ornamented tastefully with embroidery or fur, please and pamper busy feet. Textures include smooth, grained, suede, brushed, crushed and embossed leathers.

Striking slippers of gold, silver or bejeweled leather can be worn for glamorous at-home entertaining as well as for at-home comfort and ease.

For Man on List

Make it a happier holiday for the men on the gift list with a handsome classic, the opera slipper. For the man who has marked the boot for his own, even around home, there are lightweight leather slipper-boots lined in smooth leather or shearing.

Super slipper styles for the fashion-minded teen-ager include leather booties trimmed with bows, buckles, braid or bunny fur, as well as the Persian "turned-up-toe" model and the ballet flatie.

To discourage bare-footedness in the milk-and-cookies set, stuff youngsters' stockings with cozy slippers. They especially like crayon-bright colors and warm shearing linings.

"grand prix" by Princess Gardner

The purse accessories she needs . . . and wants, in a smart modern cut-out design with black mylar underlay on lustre cowhide. Beautiful in blue, red or otter.

Crisp white blouses are always welcomed Yule gifts. The eyelet and lace edged blouse, left, has an Oriental mandarin collar to frame the face. Lace trims the eyelet panel and the cuffs on three-quarter length sleeves. Black ribbon on white box ruffles, below, adds an impact to the smart simplicity of this holiday charmer. A neat row of ruffles marches down the front and is accented by a small bow. Snowy ruffles also trim the cuffs on long sleeves.

Luggage Is for the Man Who Travels, and Who Doesn't?

Luggage is for the man who travels, and what man doesn't travel these days. Whether he travels on long trips, or just two days, or even one at a time, he'll always need something to carry that extra shirt in. Of course, if he is gone for long periods of time, then he'll be needing a two-suit, with plenty of room for more shirts, underwear and socks. Chances are, likely as not, that he travels by air to the many places that his work takes him. If this is the case, then the lighter weight luggage the better. Suits, ties, shirts and underwear aren't the only things that a man takes along with him when he travels. A handsome shaving kit for all his portable toiletries, brushes and combs, would certainly make an ideal gift. A portable tie case to keep his cravats unwrinkled, or even a small laundry bag for the clothes he soils "down the line" may well be in order. And don't forget that his initials on the travel aids was a special Christmas thrill and his status, too. For many a businessman, be he traveler, commuter, or townsman, a trim attache case will bring the aura of status to his public image. Slim and smart, the latest attache cases and briefcases come with one or more compartments and many have room for a shirt or two and a few ties.

All Sizes

There are numerous sizes of luggage all of which come in various materials. Of course, the most luxurious of all the luggage materials is leather. Smooth, grained or even brushed leather luggage comes in all sizes and shapes — full two suiters, 21-inch weekenders, trim carry-on cases and shuttle bags.

If he's a front-runner, give him the latest in a soft sided two-suit with three separate entry compartments. Two half-sized pockets cover one side of the suitcase, with a third full size compartment on the other side.

Still in the travel field are any number of items to make his visits away from home base ever more comfortable. Choose a traveling clock, folding slippers, personalized playing cards, or even a portable bar for long thirsty trips.

Luster of Silver Shines Through Gift Wrapping

Gleaming silver and festive footed dishes that set into new occasions go together like love and marriage. For silver is the "Queen of Metals" and always when not holding a glass pyrex reflects good taste and charm to family gatherings of all kinds, especially during the holidays.

With the accent these days on elegance in entertaining, nothing adds as much to the table as the luster of fine silver, bringing a special glow to family and guests alike.

Sterling flatware today is available in a wide range of patterns, traditional and modern, and gives years of service in gracious living. Daily use keeps it bright and shining, eliminating the concern of some housewives about keeping it polished.

A fine silver service grows more beautiful with use through the years, and makes a memorable Yuletide gift that the entire family will appreciate and enjoy. A new and exciting flatware service is actually sterling with an overlay of karat gold.

Holloware pieces bring a special occasion feeling to any meal, and the unique distinction of beautiful silver makes it one of the most exciting and wanted Christmas gifts any woman of any age can receive. What makes holloware particularly attractive as a gift is the fact that many pieces are dual purpose.

For example, there are cast-iron dishes that set into new footed dish holders that can be used as extra serving pieces when not holding a glass pyrex baking dish, and lovely ceramic or plastic lined bowls that are marvelous for serving various items such as lemons, mayonnaise, relish, etc.

Condiment Bowls

There is also a wide range of other bowls, either in sterling or plate; tiny bowls for nuts and condiments, medium-size silver bowls for food and flowers, and big bowls for salads and fruits that give a lovely look to any table.

Trays are another sure-fire silver gift suggestion with a wide size and price range. From tiny appetizer trays to big, beautiful tea trays, these silver accessories fill a glamorous role in any woman's homemaking plans.

Table accessories such as salt and pepper shakers, gravy and mayonnaise boats, candlesticks and candelabra and even that Victorian glory, the silver goblet, are exciting gifts.

And silver shines with a special glow in home accessories, such as ash trays, coasters, vases, match boxes and cigarette boxes.

Bake Tomatoes

Bake stuffed tomatoes in a moderate oven for 15 minutes or until tender. Don't overbake or the tomato skins will burst and your effect will be spoiled.

Belgian Linens For Holiday Giving

Almost any homemaker will be pleased by a Christmas gift of Belgian linen for the kitchen or the dining table. Choices include jumbo tea towels with holiday designs, calendar towels with snow scenes, red or green tablecloths trimmed with contrasting ball fringe, and place mats and napkins sprigged with wreath designs. These accessories are practically ageless as the sturdy linen is noted for its washability in hot soap or detergent suds.

AHS Trips Neenah, 65-52; Xavier Thumps Marinette

Mumme and Miller Each Score 21

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY ....
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah—Appleton High School chalked up the last five points of the third quarter and six of the first eight in the fourth to sink Neenah, 65-52, in their non-league game Wednesday night.

The victory was the Terrors' second straight while Neenah now is 0-2.

A strong shooting exhibition in the last two periods propelled the Terrors to their triumph. Unofficially, they canned nine of 15 field goal attempts in the third stanza and seven of 11 in the fourth.

AHS' rebounding also improved and several times they converted Neenah errors into baskets off the fast break.

Led at Quarter

Neenah led 15-13 at the end of the first quarter, but the visitors took a 30-29 halftime edge.

The score was tied six times in the third frame until at 44-all and less than a minute to play Neil Weber scored on a layup, added a free throw and John Mumme connected off the fast break for a 49-44 score at the period's end.

The narrowest margin in the last segment was seven points as the Rockets could only make four fielders in 18 tries.

Mumme and Bruce Miller shared Appleton's scoring honors with 21 points apiece. They combined for 26 in the second half. Mike Boyd had 16 and Karl Pennau had 14 for the Rockets.

Appleton (13-17-19-16-65) Miller 10 1 3, Weber 4 1 2, Mumme 19 1 1, Tepper 3 2 1, Volkman 0 0 1, DeCock 0 0 0, Jooss 2 0 2, Soley 1 0 1. Totals 30 5 9.

Bays Pull for Chicago Victory

BY ART DALEY

GREEN BAY—Good old Thanksgiving Day. . . The Packers used to fret when it approached.

For the past 13 years, the Packers played the Lions in the annual Turkey Day Classic in Detroit. It always meant two games in five days and turned out to be quite a hardship—especially for the visiting team.

The Packers started wish-boning in 1951 and finally broke the string after the 1963 game. Coach Vince Lombardi let it be known about three years ago that the Packers wanted no part of a Thursday game and the league decided a year ago to start alternating Detroit's Thanksgiving Day opponent.

Our friends from Chicago were the first team to replace Green Bay and they'll be taking their pre-game meal at 8 a.m. Thursday morning. Try eating a steak at that hour. Bub.

Kimberly Hits 50 Per Cent of Field Goals in First 2 Periods

BY TERRY GALVIN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE—Kimberly High School's rangy Papermakers vaulted into 33-20 intermission advantage behind 50 per cent floor shooting and then held on in the fourth period to edge St. John, 62-55, here Wednesday night.

Jim VandenBoogaard, Don Van Grinsven and John Reider powered the Papermaker offensive assault in the first half.

five of seven from the floor for 10 markers.

The Chuters failed to find the frame in the first three periods, hitting on a mere 13 of 44 from the floor for 29.5 per cent. The Bill Fitzpatrick-coached Dutchmen came to life in the fourth frame with eight of 14 fielders to cut a 48-33 third period deficit to seven points before time ran out.

Van Grinsven led Kimberly with 18 points for the game on nine fielders. VandenBoogaard was next in line with 16, followed by Reider and Chuck Meyer with 14 and 12 respectively.

"Grins" finished with nine of 15 from the field to pace Kimberly to an overall 44.4 per

Hawks Post 83-49 Win In FVCC

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Xavier High School's jet-powered Hawks Extracted a sizeable measure of revenge from their worst basketball tormentor when they blasted Marinette Catholic Central, 83-49, here Wednesday night.

In recording their 31st straight Fox Valley Catholic Conference victory and their 54th win, overall, in their last 55 games, the Gene (Torchy) Clark-directed Hawks really laid the wood to the 1964 state Catholic champions. The Marty Crowe-coached Cavaliers had halted Xavier's winning streak at 49 straight last March in the state tourney finals and are the only team to hold two victories over Xavier since it became a 4-year school.

As the Hawks opened defense of the WVCC title they've monopolized for three years, they never gave Marinette a chance. Steve Schmiedle scored on a steal with the game only seven seconds old, and a standing-room-only crowd cheered incessantly as the Hawks winged their way to their fifth straight win of the young 1964-4 campaign.

The Cavaliers, who were making their season's debut, came close briefly, at 6-4, before they were engulfed by a Xavier tidal wave. With Tom Rankin opening the floodgates on a corner shot, the Hawks outscored Marinette, 13 to 1, in a fabulous three minutes of full-court-press and fast-break basketball. The surge pushed Xavier's lead to 19-5.

Jan Roland kept Marinette's slim hopes alive as he helped reduce the deficit to nine points (20-11) before the Hawks went on another unstoppable spree. In a 6-minute span, covering parts of the first and second periods, the Hawks drove for 18 points while restricting the Marinette offense to four. With about three minutes left in the half, Xavier held a prohibitive lead of 38-15. The same lead—23 points—held up at halftime, 46-23.

The Cavaliers made no effort to employ their famed control game—even early in the proceedings—but the unrelenting pressure of the Hawks' whirlwind defense would have given it little chance on this night.

The Hawks, who converted numerous interceptions into baskets and solved Marinette's 2-1-2 zone with ease, shot at 46.7 per cent (35 of 75). Marinette was limited to a .372 shooting average (16 for 43).

Tom Huiting set the Chuter pace with six of 15 from the floor en route to 14 points.

Bruce Hammen, shackled by the defensive work of Reider, also rimmed 14 points.

Dave Van Vreede added 12 markers before fouling out in the final frame.

Menasha Bluejays Record 87-78 Win Over Manitowoc

Don Steffin Paces Victors With 29 Points

BY HOWARD FOREMAN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA—The Menasha Bluejays downed a powerful Manitowoc Lincoln High School squad, 87-78, here Wednesday night.

The Jays pulled away to a large 44-28 halftime advantage, but then had to hold on to turn back the Ships. Manitowoc cut the deficit to 75-70 with 3:30 left to play, but four of the five starters fouled out in the fourth frame to stymie the rally.

In the first quarter Manitowoc managed only two ties, at 2-2 and 4-4, before the Jays built up a 14-6 lead with four minutes left. Menasha led 23-17 at the period's end.

Guard Rick Zimmerman sparked the attack with 11 points in the first quarter.

Led Runaway

Don Steffin led the Menasha runaway with 12 points. The Jays led by 16 at the half.

Bob Sullivan, an all-state forward in 1963-64, helped the Ships cut the count to 63-54 in the third period with 13 points. Sullivan continued his heroics for the Ships with six fourth period baskets to cut the lead to five points. However, Sullivan was forced to carry the entire burden as Greg Smith, Bill Schwartz, Jack Floederl and Jim Chermak fouled out.

The key to Menasha's impressive victory was that all five starters hit double figures. Junior Don Steffin set the pace with 29. Zimmerman coined 23 followed by Dick Sorensen and Tom VanderHyden with 11 and Dick Slattery, 10.

MENASHA — (23-21-19-24-87) Sorensen 4-3-1, Steffin 13-3-3, Slattery 4-2-3, VanderHyden 4-3-1, Zimmerman 8-7-2, Hansen 1-1-1. Totals—34-19-11.

MANITOWOC — (17-11-26-24-62) — Sullivan 16-2-3, Smith 6-2-5, Schwartz 6-0-5, Chermak 5-1-5, Floederl 1-3-5, Pankratz 1-0-1. Totals—35-8-24.

Clintonville Deals Preble 59-54 Defeat

Truckers Build Up 34-19 Lead In First Half

CLINTONVILLE—The Clintonville High School basketball team posted its second straight win of the season by defeating Preble, 59-54 here Wednesday night.

Clintonville rolled up a 39-19 halftime advantage and Coach Carl Bruggink substituted freely throughout the final two periods. Closest Preble got was when the margin was shaved to five points in the final period.

Ed Dahly paced the Truckers with 18 points, all in the first half and 15 of which he scored in the second period when Clintonville scored 23 points.

CLINTONVILLE (11-23-12-13-59) Dahly 6-6-4; Dieck 2-5-4; D. charity line, hitting on nine of 19 tries while the Ghosts connected on 15 of 19.

Coach Ken VanderVelden inserted his first string to open the second half. The regulars quickly hiked the lead to 57-20; Golla 0-0-2; Bonarski 1-0-2. To only find themselves benched in the reserves finished the game.

Kaukauna blistered the nets on 12 of 19 shots in the third 36-26-25. period. Fond du Lac hit on five of 13.

Notre Dame's Huarte, Snow Eye Homecoming Against USC Saturday

Passing Combination Returns to Home State for Finals

BY JOE MOOHSIL
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's invasion of Southern California Saturday in quest of an undefeated season and a national championship will be homecoming for the great passing combination of John Huarte to Jack Snow.

Huarte and Snow, who have been rewriting Notre Dame's passing and scoring records this season, are Los Angeles area lads who practiced their skills at their respective high schools last summer.

Huarte, responsible for a record 18 touchdowns in one season with 15 by passing and three rushing, is from Anaheim where he attended Mater Dei. Snow, holder of a record eight scoring passes in one campaign, is from Long Beach and attended St. Anthony's.

They worked together all summer with Huarte throwing to Snow.

This was a throwback to the days when Gus Dorais and Knute Rockne worked together on sandy beaches perfecting their passing game.

Huarte played only about 45 minutes last year, but his accomplishments this season as a senior under Coach Ara Parseghian have been monumental. Before the season started, Parseghian said "You're my quarterback." Huarte responded with 92 completions in 176 attempts for 1,790 yards and 15 touchdowns. Snow, the No. 1 target, has caught 50 passes for 856 yards and a record eight touchdowns.

They are planning to add to their records Saturday at the expense of the Trojans, and hoping to put on an extra-special show in front of the home-folks.

If Southern Cal is determined to two-learn Snow, the Trojans had better be wary of another Californian. He's halfback Nick Eddy, a sophomore from Lafayette who is Huarte's No. 2 target.

Eddy, whom Iowa Coach Jerry Burns said "is the best running back I've seen all season," also catches passes. He has grabbed 12 for 315 yards and two touchdowns.

Gymkhana Slated Sunday by FVSCC

A gymkhana, sponsored by the Fox Valley Sports Car Club, will be held at 12:30 p.m. Sunday on the Puggly Wiggly parking lot on State 96 between Kaukauna and Little Chute.

Competition for this event is open to the public, according to James Vandenberg, with seat-belts the only required equipment. Tim Scheib is chairman of the gymkhana.

Les Behm, club president, said the activity could best be described as a rodeo with sports cars. Events will include a road course and a "serpentine" laid out with cones. In both cases, drivers take the runs separately against the clock.

Walt Biddle Places Eighth in U. S. Test

Walt Biddle finished in eighth place in the 11-Production Class of the American Road Race of Champions at Riverside, Calif. recently.

Fred Salo, Detroit, a Central Division representative along with Biddle, won the race. Biddle, an Austin-Healey Sprite, A blowout prevented Biddle from recording a qualifying time.

Post-Crescent's Ski School Set Jan. 11-18

The third annual Post-Crescent Ski School will be held in two outdoor sessions and one indoor session, according to plans announced by George Kubisiak, president of "View Ridge" operated by Mo-Ski-Tow, Inc., and Tom Wolf, president of the Fox Valley Ski Club.

The two Fox Cities ski organizations co-sponsor the ski school with the Post-Crescent.

Dates for the two outdoor sessions will be Saturday mornings, Jan. 11 and 18 depending, of course, upon weather conditions.

Classes will start promptly at 9:30 a.m. and continue until noon. The indoor session, at which instructional films will be shown together with fundamental instruction regarding the proper use of the right equipment, is tentatively scheduled for the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 7. A definite date must wait the acquisition of an auditorium and will be announced in the Post-Crescent as soon as final arrangements are made.

In contrast to past years when such arrangements proved impracticable, no rental equipment will be available at either View Ridge or the Fox Valley Ski Club. All students will be required to have his or her own available at the Post-Crescent offices and in issues of the Post-Crescent. An announcement will be made as soon as the forms are ready.

Southern California's McKay Lauds Notre Dame Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The West Coast's Rose Bowl representative Both are tied for the Southern California Trojans conference lead with 3-1 would look like a cinch to make their goal this season except for one more-than-minor obstacle — Notre Dame's Fighting Irish.

The Trojans take on the Irish here Saturday and will have a go at spoiling Notre Dame's perfect season record.

The Athletic Association of Western Universities voted Monday to wait until next Monday before deciding between the Trojans and Oregon State as the

Some observers said, however, the Trojans played a tougher schedule than Oregon State. Southern Cal beat Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas A&M, California, Stanford and UCLA, and lost to Michigan State, Ohio State and Washington.

Oregon State beat Colorado, Baylor, Washington, Idaho, Syracuse, Washington State, Indiana and Oregon; bowed to Northwestern and Stanford.

Need a Victory
Trojans' Coach John McKay said Monday he doesn't think it will be enough if his squad just comes close or ties Notre Dame Saturday. "We'll have to beat Notre Dame to get the vote."

Asked if he thought his team could win if it played like it did in winning 40-14 over Oklahoma, McKay declared:

"It would be a close game. I don't think we can. We've lost some fine boys on injuries since then. We don't have John Thomas, who I think is one of the best players in the country. We'll have to play errorless ball to make it close."

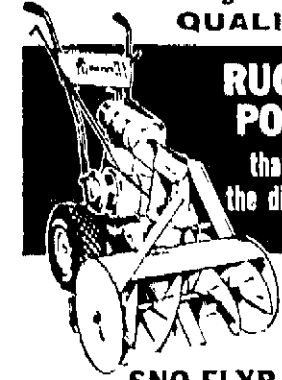

McKay said he stayed up late watching films of Notre Dame in action, and termed the scenes a "horror movie."

"Our game plan will be to keep the ball away from them," he quipped. "I think the only way we can do that would be by using two footballs, and the NCAA won't let us."

"Notre Dame is the best defensive college team I've seen in many years. Their offense is adequate—they only make 400 yards a game. But it's their defense that really beats you. They don't let you keep the ball," he said.

Bears' Johnny Morris Near NFL Pass Catching Record

Packers' Bart Starr Leading Quarterback; Moore Tops Scorers

NEW YORK (AP) — The next pass that Johnny Morris catches or the Chicago Bears will tie the National Football League record of 84 set by Tom Fears of the Los Angeles Rams in 1950.

Morris has caught 83 for 1,071 yards and nine touchdowns in the first 11 games of the season, according to NFL statistics released Wednesday. He and Mike Ditka, the Bears' tight end, already have set a new high for receptions by two men on the same team. Ditka has caught 66 for 808 yards and five touchdowns.

Jimmy Brown has no chance at breaking his own rushing record of 1,863 set last season but the Cleveland fullback is assured of his seventh title in eight years. Brown, with 1,155 yards on 219 attempts, leads runner-up Johnny Henry Johnson of Pittsburgh by 299 yards. The real race is between Johnson and Jim Taylor of Green Bay for second money. Johnson has 856 yards and Taylor 833 yards.

Leads Scoring
Lenny Moore has run his consecutive game touchdown streak to 14, 11 this year and three in 1963. The Baltimore halfback leads the league in scoring with 96 points on 16 TDs. Lou Michaels, Baltimore place-kicker, is second with 91 points on 43 conversions and 16 field goals.

Bart Starr of Green Bay leads the passers in the system based on percentage of completions, 61 per cent, scoring passes, 11, percentage of interceptions, 1.9 per cent and average yards gained, 8.31.

Bobby Walden, Minnesota rookie, continues to lead the league in punting with an average of 47.1 yards. Tommy Watkins of Detroit is the top punt return man and Walt Roberts, Cleveland rookie, is first in kickoff returns. Paul Krause, Washington rookie, has taken over the lead in interceptions with 10.

Loberg Slams 655 Set in New London

Gil Loberg unloaded a 255 singleton en route to a 655 series in the Men's All-Star Bowling League at the Golden Hour Lanes, New London.

Vic Kersten garnered the runner-up laurels with a 238 solo and 634 sol. Other honor scores were Paul Kamke, 591; Russ Hotchkiss, 562; Archie Beaudoin, 557 and Art Gottschalk, 554. Golden Hour holds a 1/2-game lead over Sport-O-Lec-tric and Kamke's.

Kersten's 578 was the top series in the Goodfellows 11-p League. Wayne Sawall posted a 246 solo.

Bob Wilson's 235 and 624 were the top efforts in the Black Creek Major League at the R & R Lanes.

Other honor tallies included Gerry Tyler, 598; Allen Lubinski, 227 and 578; Bob Krohlow, 578; Bob Nettekoven, 574; Fritz Heiden, 552 and Wally Moore, 551.

Ed Gehartz slammed a 587 trio in the Continental circuit at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly. Howard Brill's 564 was the only other honor score. Runnerup Gordy's Bar upset league-leading Kimberly D-X twice to cut the lead to two games.

THAT'S ALL THERE IS
Bob Wilson posted a 568 series in the American League at 12 Corners Lanes. Marvin Zick cracked a 245 solo. Bob Schmidt totaled 550. Stammers holds a half-game lead over K & B Auto.

Three Changes in Yankee Scouting Setup Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees announced three changes in their baseball scouting setup Wednesday involving Johnny Johnson, Bill Skiff and Jimmy Gleeson.

Johnson was named to the newly-established position of vice-president in charge of player procurement and development. He will be director of scouting and retain his present position of farm director.

Skiff, a veteran Yankee scout, was named to assist Johnson as a player personnel advisor. Gleeson, the Yanks' first base coach last season, was signed as a scout.

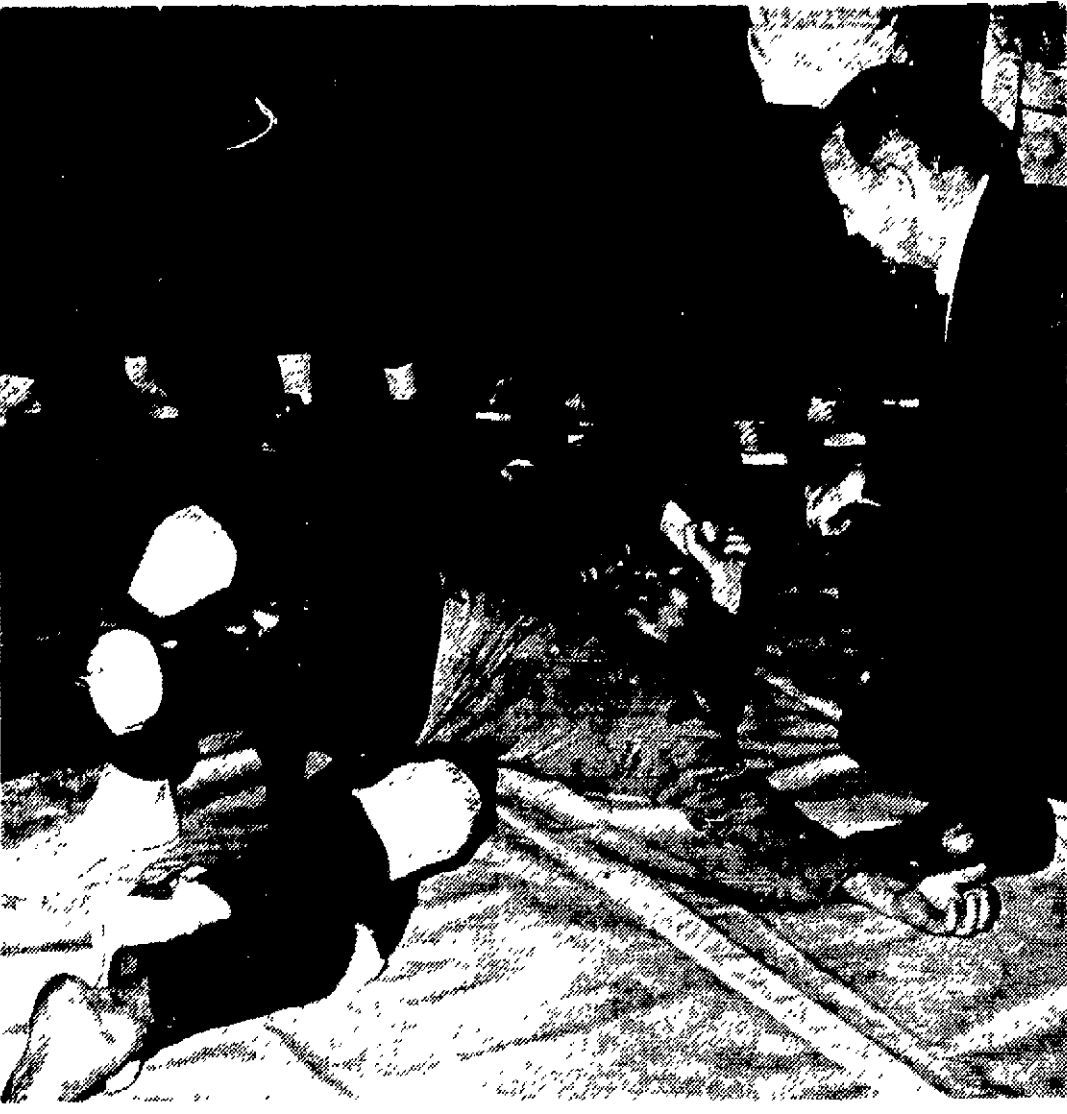

Jack White, the club's director of scouts last season, recently left the Yankees to join San Francisco of the National Football League.

Quigley Re-Elected Ridgeway President

NEENAH — Fran Quigley was re-named president of the Ridgeway Country Club at a meeting of the board of directors. Ray Doell was reelected vice president and Walter Strong appointed secretary-treasurer.

Bob Yakes was named chairman of the house committee. Bert Huns and Gene Van Gorp will assist him. Doell will be greens chairman, assisted by Harley Loker.

Frank Gmelner was named acting chairman of the steering committee. Other committee heads include Joe Parker, social, and Dick Spangenberg, golf activities and publicity.

Back of Week, Timberlake Cites Defense as Key Factor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan quarterback Bob Timberlake said Wednesday he was "very happy to be named" The Associated Press' Back of the Week, but added he felt some defensive players on his team should have been honored.

Timberlake, who directed the Wolverines to the Big Ten football championship and the Rose Bowl berth, was cited for his work in the title-deciding game against Ohio State Saturday.

He passed 17 yards for one touchdown, kicked an extra point and booted a 27-yard field goal in the 10-0 victory. "I really don't feel the offense won the ball game," the soft-spoken senior from Franklin, Ohio, said. "The defense did the work."

Cowboys May Use Roach Against Pack

DALLAS (AP) — The injury situation with the Dallas Cowboys is so bad a rookie may be playing his first game at quarterback Sunday when the Cowboys meet Green Bay in the Cotton Bowl.

Billy Lothridge, the former Georgia Tech star who has been doing the punting for the Cowboys, probably will alternate with veteran John Roach at quarterback, Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday.

Don Meredith, the regular quarterback, received stomach injuries that appear internal in the losing effort with Washington last Sunday and Landry said it was very doubtful that Meredith could play against Green Bay.

JoAnn Schwartz Hits 512 at Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — Honors in the Women's League at the Hortonville Lanes in their latest round went to Cleo Fannin with a 200 game and Bonnie Bellie with a 193. JoAnn Schwartz fired a 512 series.

Deanna Bauman Posts 514 Set in Lucky League

Deanna Bauman slammed a 215 singleton on the way to a 514 series in the Lucky Bowling League at Sabre Lanes.

Other honor scores were Phyllis Falck, 506; Barbara Derks, 504 and Buelah Greason, 203.

Haupt's Bar (22-8) holds a 4-game lead over Appletan Coated.

Eunice Dietzen led the way in the 5-Minus-2 circuit at Sabre Lanes with a 514 aggregate.

Bobcats Idle for Two Weeks; Open At Home Dec. 5

The Green Bay Bobcat sextet, currently a half-game behind first-place Rochester in USHL standings, are on a two-week vacation from loop competition.

Nightly practices are slated by Player-Coach John Mayasich in preparation for the Bobcats' home opener against the Marquette Iron Rangers Dec. 5.

Jackie Poole, who missed the Bobcats' first three starts, is back in action. Poole is working out with the regular first line along with Paul Coppo and Gordy Yewman.

Colts' Owner Provides Money for Education

BY GEORGE A. BOWEN
BALTIMORE (AP) — "Let me know what you need," said Carroll Rosenbloom.

There are 50 boys in colleges this year partly because of that offer by the owner of the Baltimore Colts.

None is an athlete. Or if he is, it had nothing to do with being given the amount of money he lacked to go to the college of his choice. Neither did scholarship.

The program is for the "real poor."

"It was one cold day in 1958 when Carroll broached the idea," recalls A. Paul Menton, sports editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun. "We were standing on the field watching the Colts get ready for the National Football League championship against the Giants in New York."

"Carroll said he would like to set up a foundation to help Maryland boys who really needed help to go to college."

It was done with the sports editors of the three Baltimore daily newspapers, the Colts' lawyer and Rosenbloom as the trustees. But Rosenbloom won't allow his name used on the stationery of the Baltimore Colts Foundation.

Rosenbloom fixed no limits for the foundation, just wanted to know each year how much it distributed.

He thought after it was established," Menton said, "that we would try to get donations from other people or industries. But 99.9 per cent of the income has been either directly from the Colts or through their advertising contracts."

As president and keeper of the records, Menton reported the

Fox Lutheran JV Quint Wins, 64-37

Fox Valley Lutheran High School's junior varsity cagers handed Winnebago Lutheran a 64-37 defeat Tuesday night.

Dave Tiedt and Howie Korth paced FVL with 18 and 13 points, respectively. The Foxes made good on 50 per cent of their floor shots on the way to their third win.

FVL-Korth 5-3-1; Depner 3-2-3; Tiedt 8-2-2; Schuelke 3-0-1; Mueller 3-2-1; Tiede 0-0-2; Zellmer 1-0-1; Miller 1-2-1; Volkman 0-3-0; Knaus 1-0-0. Totals 25-14-12.

WLA-Westphal 1-1-1; Krug 1-2-3; Lueck 0-1-1; Kleinke 0-0-1; Dilts 6-1-3; Schuette 1-0-0; Behm 3-1-5; Ruch 1-1-1; Pieper 2-0-2. Totals 15-7-17.

Matt Snell Example of Why AFL Is Smart to Wait Before Facing NFL

Rookie Star for Jets Won't Hit Peak for 4 Years

NEW YORK — Pro football buffs are pressing for a world championship playoff between the National and American leagues but young Matt Snell is a prime example of why the newer circuit is smart in playing a waiting game.

Snell was an All-America fullback at Ohio State last season. The New York Jets of the American League outbid the NFL Giants for his services and figure he was well worth the $43,000 investment.

Snell boomed to American League stardom in his rookie year. Yet, when you watch him afield and talk to him in person, it comes through solidly that he's no Jimmy Brown or Jim Taylor.

He probably will reach their stature in time because he's big, fast and bruising in action. But there is to him still a boyish quality which marvels at the violent world into which his talents have projected him.

"I figure it will be three or four years before I reach my peak," he admits. "Some days I feel as if I have arrived. Other days I feel as if I played better when I was in college. The real answer, I think, is that pro ball is so complex it takes those three or four years to learn how to execute automatically."

Meanwhile he's trying to keep from being executed.

"Man," breathes the 22-year-old with the bulging shoulder muscles, "this pro game is really rough and I'm learning everything the hard way. In college you got a breather once in a while but not here. The only thing I can truly say is that the price is right."

It has been, indeed. The Jets gave him a $20,000 bonus to sign and an annual contract for $23,000.

But as he says, it's rough. Despite his size and agility, Snell in his first season suffered a badly bruised leg just above the knee, strained ligaments in his shoulder and had his nose broken twice in one game.

"I reported at 225 and I'm down to 215," he sighed. "All I wish is that I weighed 250 pounds. You can't be too big in this business."

Behind his outlook is the fact that he has achieved stardom despite his inadequacies, making it a tipoff on the American League as a whole. Jet Coach Weeb Ewbank becomes rather testy when asked whether Snell could have made it big in the National League and the man who coached such as Johnny Unitas and Big Daddy Lipscomb at Baltimore says that Matt "could without question."

But not so big so quickly.

Close observation discloses that the long years of sifting talent provided the NFL, as could be expected, with stars at every spot. This jump has to make them bigger and better on the whole. The AFL in five years couldn't be expected to close the tremendous gap so noticeable in the beginning. It has narrowed it to the point where such teams as San Diego and Buffalo could make a respectable showing in the other loop.

But AFL commissioner Joe Foss is a smart gent when he says he'll be content to wait three or four years before concerning himself with a world championship playoff. Guys like Matt Snell will really be ready by then.

Jim St. John Cops 4 Games

Sweeps by First Round in Defense Of Bowling Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim St. John, the former Navy career man from Santa Clara, Calif., took up Wednesday where he left off last year in the $52,000 World's Invitational bowling tournament.

St. John, who won the 1963 event by the largest margin in history and then paced the qualifying of this year's event, swept all four games in his first finals match Wednesday with Ralph Brunt of Atlanta, Ga.

The sweep, on games of 235, 257, 212, and 248, moved St. John into the lead among the 16 men finalists after one round and four games. A scheduled 16 rounds and 64 games will end Sunday with a $7,500 first prize for the winner.

St. John has a Petersen point total of 23.02. A bowler gets a Petersen point for every 50 pins he knocks down plus an additional point for each game he wins.

St. John got 19.02 points with his 952 series and added four points for winning four games.

In second place was Pete Tountas of Chicago with 21.42 points. Pete won only two games and tied one with Andy Rogoznica of Chicago, despite shooting a 967 series, best of the day. Third was All-Star and PBA champion Bob Strampe of Detroit with 21.08.

Sindahl's Volleyball Team Still Unbeaten

Sindahl's remained undefeated in the ARD-sponsored Men's Volleyball League with a 3-0 game sweep over First English, hiking its loop string to 15 straight wins.

Trouble Makers retained second place (12-3) with a sweep over Reactors. Felt Makers won three from the Resistors and AAL posted a 2-1 edge over Slim Otto's.

Wesleyan Dominates All-Loop Team

NAPERVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Unbeaten, once-tied champion Illinois Wesleyan placed six players on the 22-man All-College Conference of Illinois football team named for 1964 by CCI coaches Wednesday.

The honor team included:

OFFENSIVE

Ends — Jerry Kloostera, Augustana, and George Novak, Carroll (Wis.); tackles — Jim McHenry, Millikin, and Wally Zook, North Central; guards — Norm Matzl, Carthage, and Ron Altpeter, North Central; center — Dick Healy, Illinois Wesleyan; quarterback — Steve Laub, Illinois Wesleyan; and backs — Dick Raab, Illinois Wesleyan; Carroll Hickenbottom, Carthage, and Ken McGhie, Millikin.

DEFENSIVE

Stichweh Has Last Chance To Beat Navy

Rival Quarterbacks Pit Running, Passing Abilities Saturday

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Carl (Rollie) Stichweh, Army quarterback, has one last crack at beating Navy — and his friendliest rival, Roger Staubach — Saturday.

With vivid memories of the 21-15 loss of a year ago when the clock ran out on the Cadets two yards from a smashing upset, Stichweh has no intentions of letting this opportunity slip away.

Seniors Stichweh and Staubach, standout field generals on losing clubs, are the best of friends off the field. That fact only serves to add more zest to their competition on it.

"We have a very definite need to beat Navy," says the William Park, N.Y., boy who passes well but runs much better. "How many times have they beaten us, five straight?"

"Well, it's getting to be a matter of self-respect."

Stichweh isn't as well known as Staubach, 1963 All-America and Heisman Trophy winner. Yet Army men say Rollie's value can't be measured. In nine games he has run, passed and returned kicks for just under a mile of yardage.

The two quarterbacks, who met at the start of their academy careers, have visited each other on Cadet-Middle weekend exchanges. Staubach also has been to Stichweh's home.

"Roger is an outstanding player," says Stichweh, who has the greatest respect for his Saturday adversary. "He has self-confidence. He proved to himself early in his career that he had a great faculty for getting out of tight situations."

As sophomores Staubach ran and passed Navy to a runaway decision over an Army team on which Stichweh was a reserve halfback. Last year at quarter, Stichweh equalled if not surpassed Jolly Roger, almost pulled off the shocker of the year and was promptly voted the best back the Middies had faced all season.

Stichweh, a scrambler in his own right, considers himself lucky.

"If you're hemmed in, you aren't going to get out no matter who you are. When I get out of trouble a lot of luck is involved. The truth is that I just don't like to get tackled."

A year ago — when the game was postponed a week by the death of President Kennedy — Stichweh proved something too. He doesn't have to take a back seat to anyone. Even if the name is Staubach.

Late George Trautman To be Memorialized in Baseball's Hall of Fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George M. Trautman, late president of baseball's minor leagues, will be memorialized in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Phil Piton, current head of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, said Wednesday the association had been granted permission to place a bronze plaque honoring Trautman in the museum. No date for the installation has been set.

Trautman, who died June 24, 1963, was head of the minors from 1947 until his death.

52,000 Deer Bagged During Early Part of Season

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin hunters are credited with the big kill in the first half of the 10-week season.

The west central registration station at Black River Falls reported a kill of 21,000, an increase of 34 per cent over 1963. The east central station at Oshkosh reported a registered bag of 6,968, up 35 per cent; the northwestern station at Spooner registered a kill of 11,000, up 25 per cent; and the northeastern station at Woodruff reported a bag of 9,253, up 10 per cent.

Southern Wisconsin had a registered kill of 4,655, an increase of 10 per cent.

The Conservation Department reported 115 bears also had been dropped by hunters. The largest bear was a 636-pound animal shot at Port Wing in Ashland County.

Hunters were advised to head for Oneida, Vilas, Forest and Marinette counties in the final half of the season.

The department said there had been 487 arrests and 533 illegal deer seized during the first half of the season.

Muskingum '11' Accepts NCAA Playoff Spot

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) — Muskingum College's football team accepted a bid Wednesday to participate in the NCAA small college regional playoffs.

The Muskies, who closed the regular season with an 8-1 record and a second-place finish in the Ohio Conference, will meet an unnamed opponent at Murfreesboro, Tenn., Dec. 12.

Eight small college teams will be participating in the regional playoffs at four different sites. Four regional champs will be crowned.

The NCAA bid to Muskingum had been tendered originally to Wittenberg University, which declined because they were unable to play several regular freshmen members of the squad under NCAA rules. Wittenberg is the conference champion.

Liberty Bowl Berth to Utah

Co-Champion of WAC to Meet West Virginia

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The University of Utah has accepted a bid to play in the Liberty Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J., Athletic Director Bud Jack announced Wednesday night.

Its opponent in the Dec. 19 game will be West Virginia, the Southern Conference champions with a 7-3 record. Utah finished the season 8-2 and tied for the Western Athletic Conference title.

The game was moved this year from Philadelphia to Atlantic City's Convention Hall, where it will be the first major college football game to be played indoors.

Jack said Utah also received feelers for the Gator and Sun Bowls. Coach Ray Nagle said: "I'm most honored by this bid, and I feel real good that the Gator and Sun Bowls considered us too. West Virginia is one of the fine teams in the nation and will be an outstanding opponent."

The Convention Hall, described as the world's largest auditorium, has a seating capacity of 12,000. It was the site of the 1964 Democratic National Convention.

The game will be televised by the American Broadcasting Company for a reported fee of $95,000.

Other honor scores were Bud Otis, 559 and Delores DuChateau, 192.

Karla Single's 207 single and 511 set were the only honor scores in the Cocktail Couples League at Sabre Lanes.

Bicycle Good Gift For Many

'Two-Wheeler' Most Asked For For Christmas

Because Christmas is for the young and the young at heart, "youths" of all ages qualify for that traditional gift, a bicycle. Tots, teens, collegians, parents, and grandparents, too, can enjoy the fun, exercise and transportation provided by bicycles.

If proof is needed, look back to last Christmas, when department store Santas reported bikes as the "most asked for" gift, and more than one million were given.

This Yuletide the bicycle gift selection includes the unique as well as the usual. New and different are two-passenger tandems, unicycles (one wheel bikes) and models that operate like conventional bicycles but look and sound just like motorcycles. The latter have a special appeal for the youngsters, while tandems and unicycles please individualists.

Conventional lightweight and middleweight bicycles continue to top the list where convenient transportation is one of the important reasons for giving a bike. Students from grade school to college have found bicycles handy and economical transportation to and from school, or around campus.

Increasing emphasis on physical fitness adds the dimension of healthful exercise as a reason to give a bike.

Chisox Release Two To Minor League Clubs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, trimming their roster to 37 for possible deals at the baseball winter meetings, released two players to minor league clubs Wednesday.

First baseman-outfielder Joe Long was sent to Indianapolis of the Pacific Coast League and catcher Jerry Mykkanen to Lynchburg of the Southern League.

Toys Based on 1964 Headlines Are Popular

Makers Mix Topical Gadgets With Old Favorites for Adults

Toyland, 1964, will launch a record variety of surprises planned to amaze, enchant and instruct youngsters and give them a chance to participate in today's headlines.

Santa's newest pack is the most topical ever and, at the same time, gives more attention to replays of history, and creative hobbies than ever before, reports Mel Freud, president of the Council for Toy Evaluation.

Nostalgic adults, too, can find old favorites like tops, rocking horses, blocks, and doll houses streamlined in design and using new materials.

Truck Is Specialized

Fascinating to future historians as well as today's children, will be the operating reproductions of the latest facets in luxury living.

Most specialized is a miniature kennel truck of heavy gauge steel with a vista dome to permit plenty of sunlight for the prize pooches on the way to shows. Kennels remove for extra play value. The young rancher's trailers for horses and cattle, too, incorporate most avant garde details of luxury transport.

New remote control sports cars not only have complete mobility but also boast upholstered bucket seats.

Most novel of the headline oriented toy kits is a set that illustrates the bad effects of smoking on the lungs and a miniature U2 that takes reconnaissance photos.

Show Features

The celebration of the 20th anniversary of D Day may be responsible for a record variety of military-flavored toys evident in 1964 toylands. Missile launchers and search light trucks of heavy gauge steel have the latest features of US defense equipment.

The junior army engineer will lay his airports and super highway complexes with bulldozers,

Most versatile novelty in the military sector is a one man army which incorporates seven different types of weapons ranging from anti-tank rocket to a repeating rifle.

For Communications

New in field communications play is a micro helmet and phone set that will permit junior GIs to communicate up to a mile away.

New, too, is an impressively real looking pillbox of fiberboard, more than three feet high, which two kids can crawl into conveniently. This pillbox folds flat for storage.

New thrills include an attachment for bicycles that achieves the noise of a motor and gains

Tavern Operator Loses Court Fight In Gambling Case

MADISON (AP)—A Delavan tavern operator who appealed a commercial gambling conviction on grounds the poker games in his place were just "sociable" in volume as pedaling speed is stepped up.

Auto racing continues to offer new additions, designed to intrigue connoisseurs and sharpen competitive thrills. Speeds set the pace of switch lane action. In one of the new sets, a slot lock system permits cars to spin and slide without jumping the track.

affairs lost his case in the State Supreme Court.

Raymond J. Morrissy was arrested July 15, 1963 after police officers broke up one of the card games.

Morrissy admitted he charged players $1 each but contended the commercial gambling charge was improper because the poker games were held only on Monday nights. The primary function of his place, Morrissy maintained, was the sale of liquor and beer.

Walworth County Judge Erwin C. Zastrow fined Morrissy $100 and Morrissy appealed.

Justice E. Harold Hallows said the high court could not "agree with the defendant's contention that the Monday night poker game was an incidental use" of the premises.

Large Variety of Realistic Toy Dolls

Toy Figures Range From Babies To Smart, Sophisticated Ladies

From squirming new baby to sophisticated lady, the new line of realistic toy dolls has a variety of features that make them more like real people than ever. The dolls are made of a soft, flexible material that allows them to be posed in a variety of ways. They have realistic facial features, including eyes, nose, mouth, and hair. Some dolls have even more realistic features, such as eyelashes, eyebrows, and freckles. The dolls are also dressed in realistic clothing, including dresses, blouses, and pants. They are perfect for children who want to play with dolls that look and act like real people.

Greater participation in family life motivates many of the new doll designs. For example, Pamela, a new version of the child-size walking doll, escorts her own poodle, holding him firmly on a leash. New dolls in the nursery section of the doll world include an astonishing baby who, when her lips touch her wonder bottle, demonstrates all-over action. Not only does she turn around and twist, she kicks her feet, her hands grope for the bottle, and her body gives an extraordinary illusion of life. Another baby prototype is Blabby, who "talks" realistically for all occasions but also her own sports car and an operating beauty parlor, as well as smart furniture. An authentically-styled hospital bed that raises and lowers adds spice to nurse-convallescent doll play. The newest fashion doll house of sturdy fiberboard, with furniture scaled to fit eight and 10 inch dolls, presents an efficiency one-room apartment. With the aid of a decorative screen, the apartment converts from living room-dinette to bedroom, and has its own smart patio layout, too. Hardos for the lifelike new dolls show greater variety, from infants' pixie hair and toddler dolls' bangs to the sophisticated doll contingent with high rising pompadours, chignons and braid effects. They're Fantastic

Contrasting with the galaxy of realism is an array of fantastic trolls, engagingly grotesque with wildly streaming hair and holes in the heads. Among these ingenious fantasy dolls is the Wishnik clan, ranging from a family of cave dwellers to an Insomniac in pajamas and Smartniks in academic robes. Boys are more in evidence in the doll world. There's a Jack and Jill pair of pre-school aged dolls. Teen-age dolls like Barbie and Tammy have male companions of comparable age. And there's even a GI Joe doll with authentic uniforms.

The world of stuffed animals also reflects fascinating designs. Pooches are carefully styled according to champion dog tradition and include all the favorites from poodles and St. Bernards to dachshunds and terriers. Pokey the playful pup is an intriguing variation of the puppet concept. He operates on two strings, from a bone shaped control bar. Give Pokey a squeeze and he obliges with a highly realistic "woof woof."

Slippers Are Traditional of course, but why not also think in terms of shoes for your favorite man this Christmas? There are many new styles for casual and everyday wear and, although his right size may be a problem, don't worry — most stores will exchange them.

Christmas Festival Planned for Dec. 2

By Homemakers

WITTENBERG—The Christian Mothers Association Christmas party was planned at Holy Family Catholic Church.

The party is set for 8 p.m. Dec. 15. Gifts will be exchanged and pot-luck lunch will follow a Christmas program.

Group Four was appointed to clean the church for the holiday season. Mrs. Eugene was named to take charge of altar duties for the next two months.

The Christmas Party for children was planned for Dec. 19 after the morning instructions.

'Big League' Family Games Are Realistic

Big league sports, scaled to home front size, play an increasingly important role in family recreation.

A break through in realism of home ice hockey is achieved this season with a new "ice pro-puck" that gives the effect of actual play on ice. This innovation, which incorporates a ball bearing construction, gives super realism to a new electric slide action hockey game.

A new 3-D effect stadium adds to the authentic atmosphere of big league game competition, according to Edward Gluck, who has pioneered many realistic adaptations of big league sports to table size. Dedicated fans are highly appreciative of fine points of action in miniaturized version.

A special feature of the National Football League electric game this season is a real-as-life magnetic football which makes it possible for home front players to pick up a loose ball while it is in motion. The NFL game utilizes large three D players in four different playing positions. Team members are motivated by built-in polyethylene "legs."

NFL team favorite plays are outlined in an accompanying booklet.

The use of billiards as a home front family favorite is a phenomenon this season. Favorite base for play is the medium size table whose legs collapse for easy storage.

Jaycee President Speaks at Brillan Anniversary Fete

BRILLION — Joseph Kucierk, Wausau, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke at the Brillan Jaycee's 10th anniversary banquet Saturday.

Kucierk gave a brief history of the Jaycees in the United States and the purpose for which the group first organized. The 117 Wisconsin chapters are now rated sixth in the United States based on their activities.

Local president, Orlo Koerth, welcomed charter members who attended the anniversary. The original membership was 32. There are now 27 members in the group.

Service projects of the club include the safety doll coloring contest, the all-sports banquet, calf award, farm-city days, the Main Street Christmas decorations and the Christmas tree lift.

Light-Hearted Kiddie Games

Contests Guarantee Junior Rest From Rigors of Homework

Light-hearted novelty games set a new fun pattern this Christmas.

Notable in Santa's pack are a record number of hilarious competitions sure to give junior and his sister complete relaxation from the rigors of school work.

One of the most novel in the all-out fun category is the Shenanigans game, which recreates the excitement of carnival adventures on a three-D board. The Sword of Damocles, weight guessing, a hold-every thing contest, snake charming, punch cards and palm reading and a galaxy of other carnival fun contests are incorporated in this unusual competition where two, three or four players race to get Shenanigans, the carnival game's equivalent of prize money.

In tune with the emphatic trend to novelty is Kookie Chick which bases competition on a scramble to maneuver, by magnetic sticks, some shaky legged chicks into pushing eggs into a nest in the center of the board. Also in the hilarity vein is Tussle is another action fun game that requires coordination and luck. Players each grip a handle and then the fun begins. The slightest pressure on the tussle handle will send the marbles moving in a new direction.

Wow, the first board game to build competition around a pillow fight, and in fact, the first to be beamed to girls only. A companion piece for boys, Pow, is a cannon game which keys competition to marksmanship with marbles propelled from plastic cannons. The first to eliminate the enemy is the winner.

Imagination Sparkles From Home Decoration

The holiday season is one great green wreath, pungent fir time when imagination can do more than decorate dreams. Let the sparkle, brilliance and beauty of the holidays come into full bloom right at home this year. There are many special ways to help Christmas spirit shine in the home. Fresh flowers, in both traditional and novel arrangements, should be focal points of all important areas. Certain spots are perfect for holiday dressing-up. Doorways, for example, set the scene for the entire home. Make them bright as a holly berry, with a mantle — all the better to reflect a glorious arrangement of holiday greens, red-ripe berries and color-splashed pine cones. Christmas tables are another important point for holiday decorating ideas. Use seasonal props such as a rich red tablecloth and handsome candleabra. Group traditional green branches, holly and mistletoe around them. If a holiday buffet is planned, again the table sets the party mood. Floral arrangements should be planned so guests can reach all the food easily. Decide on the menu first. Then the necessary serving dishes will dictate the best kind of table center. For example, if a large chafing dish is used, place two handsome holiday table arrangements on either end of the buffet table.

Shoes Make Gifts for Men

Casual Slippers to Formal Oxfords Sure Bet for Christmas

Bedroom slippers are traditional gifts for men — but ever stop to think that shoes too can make great gifts for this Christmas — and don't worry about size. Any feminine Santa worth her Christmas morning kiss can easily abstract an old shoe from his closet. But be sure to return it if you want to keep your gift a secret until December 25th. Shoes are available in every price range, and in great variety, from a pair of simple loafers to an elegant pair of kiltie-topped oxfords. A long time masculine favorite, the styled-up moccasin has been interpreted in new colors and leather grains this year. With a medium weight sole underfoot, the handsewn moc will take the full heft of a big man without losing its shape. What about the shoes that he works in, especially if he has an outdoor job? Anyone from a newspaper reporter to a construction worker will appreciate shoes or boots that will stand up to the beatings they get in the different places his jobs take him. Popular leisure time shoe with men is the chukka, a half boot that can be worn with a variety of casual clothes. The reason for its popularity is obvious: the higher top keeps out wind and weather without the weight of storm gear. Strictly for casual purpose, the chukka is a familiar sight on the suburban scene. There are many new styles out for men now in canvas, especially for casual wear. He may appreciate the extra comfort that these shoes and sandals afford him on the beach and around the house and neighborhood, throughout the year.

Manawa Water Supply
MANAWA—A break in the main water line late Saturday completely drained the city's water tank of its 50,000 gallon supply leaving the community with empty water taps. When the break was found at 6:30 p.m., the water supply had been exhausted. The city crew worked until 7 a.m. Sunday repairing the broken main.

MARION — The high school freshmen and seventh and eighth grade Wildcats won their openers at Manawa Monday, 56-14 and 40-21, respectively. The Wildcats used 10 players in their romp, led by John Braun's 12 points. Larry Miller had six to top the losers. Tom Brandenberg tallied 25 points to pace the freshmen. Jim Braun added 15. Don Pessl had six of Manawa's 14 points. The teams will be at Clintonville Wednesday.

Positive Steps Can Save Taxes On Securities

Try to Wipe Out
Short Term Gains
By Taking Losses

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you're typical of millions of America's stockholders, you already have taken some profits. In 1964, possibly some losses, and you now own stocks on which you have both paper gains and paper losses. In the remaining weeks of 1964 you will may be able to take positive steps to save taxes on your securities transactions.

To find your best tax strategy, check today where your 1964 transactions stand as of this date. List all your sales so far in 1964 to show your actual gains and losses and what your tax picture would be if you make no more trades in '64. List all the securities you still own, their dates of purchase, and up to $1,000 of ordinary cost and current market prices, to show what other gains or losses you could take in 1964.

Most of you probably will then find you can benefit from a strategy of selling enough stock on which you have losses to year in which you realized the make your losses at least equal loss. The new law says that any to the profits you have taken so far in 1964. If you have more over to 1964 under the five-year paper losses available then you carry-over rule, plus any unused need to wipe out capital gains already taken, it will pay you to and hereafter can be carried take up to another $1,000 of over for the rest of your life.

Profit Taxed

If you own securities for more than six months before sale, only half your profit is taxed, but if you own them for six months or less before sale, your profit is a short-term capital gain—taxed in full just as your paycheck is. Therefore, if your list of completed sales shows you already have short-term capital gains this year, you have a particularly strong incentive to try to wipe out the short-term gains by taking losses.

A key point: your long-term losses must first be subtracted from any long-term profits you carried over from before 1964 have. Only then can any excess will continue to be short-term of long-term losses over long-term profits be deducted from short-term profits. Short-term losses are deducted first from excess then can be deducted from long-term profits. It's the total excess of both long and short-term losses over long and short-term profits which is a deduction of up to $1,000 from your ordinary income.

Suppose you decide that your best tax strategy calls for sale of some of the stock on which you have paper losses, but your investment strategy calls for holding the stock for future action.

Sell Short

There are several ways by which you can, in effect, both make your loss and hold on to your stock. You can sell your stock and immediately buy a similar stock. But if you want identical shares, choose among the following methods. You can sell your shares short, immediately buy the same total of shares and, after 30 days, cover your short sale by delivering your older, higher priced stock. One court has approved this method, but the Treasury hasn't agreed yet, which means you may get into a fight with it.

If you think your stock may go up in the next 30 days, you can double up on what you own buy a number of shares equal to what you already own—and after 30 days, sell your original stock at a loss. If you think your stock may go down in the next 30 days, you can sell your shares, take your loss, repurchase them after 30 days. Both of these methods are okay with the Treasury.

If you had or now have more capital losses than you can use in a year against capital gains, their dates of purchase, and up to $1,000 of ordinary income, two changes in the 1964 law are important to you.

The old law allowed you to carry over any unused capital losses as short-term capital losses for five years after the on which you have losses to year in which you realized the make your losses at least equal loss. The new law says that any to the profits you have taken so far in 1964. If you have more over to 1964 under the five-year paper losses available then you carry-over rule, plus any unused need to wipe out capital gains already taken, it will pay you to and hereafter can be carried take up to another $1,000 of over for the rest of your life.

For instance, if you take a you can deduct from your $10,000 capital loss in 1964 and ordinary income (such as your have no capital gain in 1964 or paycheck) up to $1,000 of capital any year after this, you can losses in excess of your capital deduct $1,000 from your ordinary income in 1964 and $1,000 a year from ordinary income for each of the next nine years. You would have wasted $3,000 of only half your profit is taxed, your carry-over under the old but if you own them for six months or less before sale, your profit is a short-term capital gain—taxed in full just as your paycheck is. Therefore, if your list of completed sales shows you already have short-term capital gains this year, you have a particularly strong incentive to try to wipe out the short-term gains by taking losses.

Before the 1964 law, all carry-over losses became short-term losses must first be subtracted from any long-term profits you carried over from before 1964 have. Only then can any excess will continue to be short-term of long-term losses over long-term profits be deducted from

'What Up Christmas Early,' Is the Advice of Santa Claus

Gifts Are on Display at Stores Now for Shoppers' Convenience

Santa Claus has come to town! In the wee hours of the morning, while everyone was sleeping soundly, he arrived with a sleighful of dazzling, delightful Christmas gifts for one and all. Now, those wonderful gifts are spread on the counters, racks and shelves of local stores, ready for viewing and choosing well in advance of Christmas.

Santa is making an early entrance with his gifts for very good reasons. He's eager to personally supervise the opening of the most fun-filled, exciting Christmas gifts shopping season the Fox Valley has ever seen. What's more, he wants to help everybody take advantage of an important secret he has learned in his many years of joyful, successful gifting.

This secret is a simple one, but it makes an almost magical difference in added ease and pleasure for pre-Christmas preparations. Santa sums up his secret in just one sentence: "Wrap up Christmas early!"

Early Start Pays

In every way, an early start on Christmas shopping really needed for shopping early, Santa points to the calendar. Again this year, Thanksgiving is late, occurring near the end of the month, on November 26.

Thus the "traditional" after-Thanksgiving shopping season offers only 24 shopping days till Christmas — two days more than last year, it's true, but still all too few. For those who don't want to be hurried and harried by the last minute rush, it's wise to start early.

Preview the News

When to begin? No later than tomorrow! And right now, turn the pages of this newspaper's Special Christmas Gifts Section to preview a wide variety of gifts, news and ideas.

There are literally hundreds of story and picture suggestions for gifts, and in addition, stores have taken advertising space to present the highlights of their Christmas collections, ready for your early selection.

Because Christmas and children go together, one logical place to begin shopping is in local Toylands, where parents as well as children will find much to marvel at.

Talking, walking dolls, more lifelike than ever, often have complete wardrobes, furniture, even their own pets.

Fox Valley Lutheran Ski Club Does Work At Ski View Ridge

Ski View Ridge at New London was the scene of volunteer work done by the Fox Valley Lutheran High School Ski Club.

The group, supervised by the club's advisor, Miss Karen Pahl, spent a day at View Ridge preparing it for the coming skiing season.

Newly elected officers of the club are David Krueger, president, New London; Gary Wichman, vice president, route 3, Appleton; Shari Vissers, secretary, Appleton; and Nancy Nyman, treasurer, Appleton. The officers will draw up a club constitution.

The two-year-old club, which has 25 members, plans on holding skating and tobogganing parties for the entire school. Its main function is learning and enjoyment of the sport of skiing.

Toys and games inspire creativity, and are just for fun, too. Many toys have a historical story to tell, while others reflect today's living.

Gifts that bring happiness and comfort to everyone in the family take a high place on most Christmas lists. This year a wealth of furniture and furnishings, appliances and home entertainment aids bids for attention from Santa's helpers.

These include the big gifts, such as a new sofa, an electric dishwasher, a color TV set or hi-fi stereo components, "from the family to the family," and smaller personal presents as well — perhaps a tea cart for Mother, or a portable transistor radio for almost anybody!

Jewelry stores, too, offer a Santa-inspired selection of enduring gifts for the whole family or any of its members.

For the women on the list, Santa suggests gifts of fashion, which combine practicality and glamour to serve feminine needs, tastes, wishes.

Appeal to Interests

Men, traditionally hard to gift, have obliged Santa and his helpers by continually adding to their interests. Now, aside from Special Christmas Gifts Section apparel, the categories of sports, business, travel, hobbies, leisure are just a few that suggest ideas for a man's Christmas.

Since practically everybody has a hobby these days, hobby shops and departments provide the Christmas giver with a host of suggestions. Photographic gifts, for instance, include both an interesting array of new cameras and a variety of practical gadgets.

With all this to choose from, Christmas shoppers are indeed wise to start early and get the full benefit of this season's complete wardrobe, furniture, more extensive opportunities for cars — even their own pets.

Crunchy Popcorn Balls Decorative for Holidays

Christmas more than any other time of the year is a season of warmth and hospitality. Both are at their high point as far as the good hostess is concerned.

One way to express the holiday spirit is to match the home to this gay and wondrous time. One clever way to say "Merry Christmas" is to hang a popcorn wreath over the mantel or near the front door.

It's a greeting to all visitors who will enjoy snipping off a wrapped popcorn ball with the gaily decorated scissors hanging nearby for the purpose.

The wreath is made of sweet popcorn balls, wrapped in bright transparent wrap and tied to a circular straw mat. Add your biggest, brightest bow to the wreath and smaller bows to each popcorn ball, if desired. The wreath may be replenished to be ready for the next group of visitors coming to call.

Here are the recipes for the popcorn balls and the makings for the wreath as well.

POPCORN HOSPITALITY WREATH

- 4 quarts unsalted popped popcorn
- Butter for bowl and hands
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon salt

- Transparent wrap
- Circular mat (straw or heavy material)
- String
- Ribbon
- Scissors decorated

Place popped popcorn in large buttered bowl. Combine sugar, water, corn syrup, vinegar, vanilla and salt in saucepan. Bring to boiling point, stirring until sugar melts. Cook slowly until syrup reaches hard ball stage (250 degrees on candy thermometer).

Pour hot syrup in fine stream over popcorn; mix just until popcorn is evenly coated. Butter hands and quickly mold popcorn into small balls. Wrap each ball in transparent wrap big enough to hold a colorful bow at top, if desired. Tie onto circular straw mat or mat made from heavy construction paper. A frame might be made of light wood and the popcorn balls wired to it at intervals. Decorate with ribbon bow. Attach decorated scissors to frame or hang nearby on long piece of ribbon for snipping off popcorn balls.

This is the kind of decorative treat that helps build up memories of Christmas at home. The youngsters will be delighted with an edible holiday wreath, complete with scissors for help-yourself clipping. As the popcorn balls disappear they are replaced to keep the wreath and its hospitality use intact.

Mom Appreciates Major Appliance

Ranges, Dishwashers, Freezers Come in Variety of Models

The most appreciated gift a fully of her Christmas gift from the homemaker could receive is the family.

Frost-Free

One of Mom's most distasteful jobs, defrosting the refrigerator, can be eliminated with one of the new frost-free refrigerators or refrigerator-freezers, which keep foods cold, prevent sticking of frozen foods, and defrost automatically.

New models come in both vertical and upright models and new-look counter-top styles, with a lighted work-space for food preparation. Double doors are as the popular multi-colored gold, and the finishes include Florentine, matt and polished.

Automatic ranges are a boon to the busy homemaker, with unattended cooking one of their outstanding features. A special control reduces the temperature when food is done, keeping it at serving temperature without drying it out or cooking it any further.

Top-of-the-range automation makes every pot automatic, reducing temperature or shutting off at the proper time. New eye-level and wall ovens save stooping and bending.

One new innovation is the electric range that cleans itself, saving Mom from that back-breaking chore.

From a luxury to a necessity—the automatic dishwasher has become one of the most popular household appliances, and one of the most work-saving. All Mother need do is scrape plates, glasses and pots—the dishwasher does the washing and drying. These are quite compact and the new slimline models fit into most any space.

Lighten Drudgery

To lighten Mom's washday drudgery, give her a new washer, dryer, or washer-dryer combination. Newest models have push-button controls for every washing step, eliminating much of the guesswork and time-consuming watching of older machines.

Another consideration in picking Mom's Christmas appliance is color. Almost all major appliance companies offer color-coordinated appliance groups.

For the family with a small kitchen or budget, there is a bigger-than-ever variety of compact and portable models which incorporate modern efficiency and styling with small dimensions.

Watch Gifts Tell More Than Time

This Christmas, more than ever, a woman's watch tells more than time. It tells her tastes, her pleasure in beautiful things and her fashion love of coordinating her accessories to her costume.

Styled for the ultimate in fashion appeal and built for many years of carefree time-keeping, these fine jeweled watches come in many shapes, sizes and finishes. Thanks to modern design, it is no longer necessary to limit one's choice to a round or square shape, for there are now many other new and exciting shapes including the marquise, octagon, tear drop, pear, oval, clover-leaf, circle-in-a-marquise and diamond.

Today's watches come in white or yellow gold, as well as the popular multi-colored gold, and the finishes include Florentine, matt and polished. In addition to combinations of these.

For added jewelry elegance,

Major Christmas Attention Focused on New Cameras

Highlighting Feature This Year Is Added Budget-Priced Items

Although the gadgetry of photography presents a happy hunting ground for gifting untold millions of enthusiastic picture makers, major attention appears to be focused on the new cameras available for Christmas.

This is true both with respect to still cameras and movie cameras, both of which, regardless of what they may cost, will yield either black and white or color pictures. Remember, it's the film you use that is the determining factor here.

Chief across-the-board feature of the new cameras—and this applies even to many in the budget priced category—is the extension of automation which frees the user from the mathematical problem of figuring exposures. Yes, this is applicable to movie cameras as well as still cameras.

Popular preference for still cameras that use 35 mm film—possibly because of their convenience and maybe even more so because of the color slides they produce—continues to increase.

A New Trend

A new trend brings what is called the "single frame" still cameras onto the market in wide and fascinating variety.

"Single frame" means just half the size of a traditional 35 mm negative or slide. This in turn means that these compact and easy to carry cameras will yield just twice as many pictures from a given roll of 35 mm—72 from a roll of 36 or 40 from a roll of 20.

True, this is an economy as many of the new watches have beautiful woven mesh bracelet-type bands. The multifaceted crystal continues to attract admirers, since it adds sparkling beauty to the face of every watch. Another important trend is the bracelet watch—wide, hinged or flexible.

Some have jewel-studded lids which ingeniously conceal the watches themselves. Diamond watches, priced far more modestly than many realize, are, naturally, quite popular.

far as film is concerned, but more significant is the compactness of these cameras, most of which are equipped with most desirable automatic exposure features.

Some are hardly bigger than a package of cigarettes. All slip with equal convenience into a coat pocket or a lady's purse.

They are recommended as most convenient for the traveler who doesn't want to be burdened in any way and for all those who are fond of the idea of modern miniaturization within reason. By choice of proper film, they will produce negatives and transparencies that will blow up sharply. They are especially fitted for gifting the "snapshotter."

The area of convenience for the amateur has been greatly developed by perfecting the still cameras that are loaded and set for shooting by simply dropping a cartridge of film into position. Foreign camera makers currently are following the trend by bringing out models also featuring this ease of loading.

Budget Priced Models

These are available in a wide variety of models, from budget priced models to those ranging to three figures and equipped with almost every conceivable type of automation, from motorized film advances to built in automatic flash units.

More and more "zoom lenses" are becoming available for still cameras as well as for movie cameras. These are the lenses which permit making everything from wide angle shots to close-ups from the same vantage point.

There also is a special type of camera on the market this year that would bring joy to the skin diver. It's presented as an "all weather" 35 mm, hermetically sealed against the effects of water, that will work just as conveniently under normal conditions as under water.

Because many amateur picture makers are becoming increasingly skillful and "sophisticated" about their photography, it is recommended that buyers of gifts for them consult with the experts in the photo stores. These men know the field thoroughly.

Remember that any gift of a camera just must be accompanied by a gift of some film so that the camera may be put to use immediately.

Toys Aimed for Young Artists

Non-Drip Paints, Crayons That Melt, Will be Available

Santa's new toy pack gives special attention to the young artist.

Those classic juvenile art media—crayons, water colors and poster paint—provide new dimensions of fun and creativity this Yule season.

One of the most ingenious new art kits is Melt 'n' Color by Milton Bradley. It gives new scope for the crayon artist by providing an electrically controlled brush that melts and applies the rich crayon color in one operation.

This is safe for even the youngest artists to use and permits overlapping and build up to achieve highly decorative three dimensional effects.

Silken Finish

Glitter Color Kit is another boon to the junior artists ambitious to create new highly decorative effects. This includes glitter tone, which consists of tiny sparkling metallic particles suspended in a clear water soluble solution, and silk tone, a new poster paint that dries to a silken finish.

Gold, silver and multi glitter tone paints are included in this unusual set, along with red, green and blue silk tone. These new paints adhere well to glass, wood, or plastic, so there is wide scope for the youngsters who want to make decorative presents for family and friends. Both these new paint mediums come ready mixed.

Another breakthrough in the area of junior art will be a special delight to Mother. It is a dripless poster paint; the paint spreads easily, but through a special formulation, it does not drip from the brush.

8-8:30 (Channel 11)—Beautiful witch conflicts with beautiful

Chargers, the Western Conference leaders, from San Diego.

8-9:30 (Channel 11)—East meets West with pleasant results on My Three Sons. While Steve is trying to persuade lovely restaurateur Lisa Lu not to forsake the U. S. for Hong Kong, Chip is trying to escape from a little girl who stares at him and plays a mean game of marbles.

8-9:30 (Channel 2)—Vince Lombardi Show.

8-9:30 (Channel 11)—Rodney finally learns that Betty lost his baby in that automobile accident—a fact just about everyone else in Peyton Place knew.

9-10 (Channel 4-5)—"Graffiti" on Kraft Suspense Theater has one of the most exciting World War II prison escape scenes ever viewed on television. The escapees are Louis Jourdan, a French resistance leader whose true identity is not known to the Nazis, and Philippe Forquet, sent to prison to kill Jourdan to prevent his possible torture and revelation of facts. (COLOR)

9-10 (Channel 2)—Vivian Lindfors gives a compelling performance on The Defenders as a once-great actress making a comeback after 15 years. After her first day's work her car hits a teen-ager, and she faces a drunken driving charge. E. G. Marshall defends her.

9-10 (Channel 11)—Rowlf's attempts to get a dinner invitation for Thanksgiving, and Norm Crosby's discussion of the Pilgrims, the Indians on the beach escapes are Louis Jourdan, a French resistance leader whose true identity is not known to the Nazis, and Philippe Forquet, sent to prison to kill Jourdan to prevent his possible torture and revelation of facts. KERRY DRAKE

HOLIDAY DINNERS ARE FOR FAMILY, SARANADE-- AND YOU'RE OUR FAMILY! RIGHT, KERRY?

IT'S SWEET OF YOU TO HAVE TWO ORPHANS LIKE JOHNNY AND ME FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER, MINDY!

RIGHT!

WHAT DO YOU WANT, "WOLF"? THE WIFE AND I ARE SUPPOSED TO BE HAVING HOLIDAY DINNER IN THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION!

I ONLY WANTED TO TELL YOU THAT EVERYTHING IS GOING ACCORDING TO PLAN...

..AND TO WARN YOU, WILEY!.. IF WE MAKE YOU GOVERNOR AND YOU DON'T SIGN THAT LICENSED GAMBLING BILL WHEN IT COMES UP.. YOUR WIFE WILL SUDDENLY BE YOUR WIDOW!

'Defenders' Picked as Best 1964 TV Series

Recent Program on Louvre Chosen Most Impressive Single Offering

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The time of the year has come when some television publications are sending out ballots so that television writers and columnists may vote for their choices for the year's "best" in various program categories.

I have looked back over my television calendar, noting programs I have watched since January 1, and I find that there were appallingly few memorable moments among all those hours.

Once again, however, I would pick "The Defenders" as the best series. It has its ups and downs, but usually it has, at least, a recognizable point of view and it is invariably a professional job. Most impressive single program of the past 10 and one-half months has been, I think, "The Louvre" last week.

Dick Van Dyke and Danny Kaye split my vote for "best television performer," although "The Danny Kaye Show" must share my top honors in the variety category with "Hollywood Palace."

"Bonanza," the perennially front-running horse opera, is probably the most interesting Western week in and week out. Lucille Ball still has no television peer in her special area of comedy while Bob Hope remains king in his. Andy Williams is the most engaging vocalist and his program, in color, is a delight to the eye.

Robert Vaughn of "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." and Jim Nabors of "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C." are the two brightest new male series stars, while Elizabeth Montgomery of "Bewitched" must take the blue ribbon in the distaff comedy division.

"Today" is for me, far and away the most interesting daytime program; Walter Cronkite the easiest newscaster to listen to night after night.

The most interesting commercial is that one we saw so often during the political broadcasts, showing the automobile tire rolling melodically across hill and dale.

While I'm picking, I should add that among all of this season's new programs — by and large a mediocre assortment — my favorite by far is "The Rogues."

Boone Hopes For Hawaiian Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's the hardest thing in the world to convince the networks that a television series can be made entirely in Hawaii," said Richard Boone. "Those boys think the natives still wear rings in their noses."

But Boone is a resolute man, and he intends to realize his dream of bringing a full-scale movie operation to the 50th state.

His opening wedge: A television series in color to star — Richard Boone.

"Naturally I'd have to be in it, so I can sell it to the networks," said the veteran of three series. "I don't mind. I spent a lot of years building up this name. I might as well cash in on it."

The series would be the beginning of what he hopes will be a self-sustaining tropical Hollywood. Last week he entertained Hawaiian backers of his proposed two-stage studio and had them inspect facilities at CBS' television center which would serve as prototypes. The money-men are willing, said Boone, and he expects to be making an announcement about building.

"After we get the series rolling, we'll go after feature production," he said. "This year there were seven features shot in Hawaii — four Americans and three Japanese. Our stages would be mighty attractive to producers."

'Bajour' All Meant to Be; Gay, Bright

BY WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — "Bajour" is a gypsy word for swindle. On Broadway it means a colorful spree of song and dance.

With Chita Rivera for fiery excitement and Nancy Dussault for lyric delight, the show with that one-word title which premiered at the Shubert Theater stacks up as a splashy, uneven but generally winning addition to the fun parade.

The two stars are mainstays of the story that Ernest Kinoy has fashioned out of a magazine series about fortune-telling scamps in Manhattan. The flimsy caper is sufficient excuse, however, for a headlong flow of jolly music and stomping choreography.

Rival Gypsies
The score is by Walter Marks, making his Broadway debut with an assortment of tambourine-tinkly tunes and romantic ballads to which he has fitted apt lyrics.

Comedy centers upon the conflict of Herschel Bernardi and Herbert Edelman, the kingpins of rival gypsy tribes trying to outsmart each other, and an attempt to flum-flam Mae Questal, who mugs through the role of a befuddled widow. Robert Burr, who last spring was subbing for Richard Burton in "Hamlet," registers nicely as a soft-hearted police lieutenant in love.

The dance arrangements by Peter Gennaro are headlong, the over-all direction by Lawrence Kasha mixes speed with interludes of sentimental quiet. "Bajour" has much to attract the fan out for rollicking amusement.

Congo Captors Kept Hostages in Terror

Stanleyville, the whites kept close to their homes and carried on as best they could. Business did not come to a standstill. Ghenye understood the advantage of a going economy, however crippled.

In August, some of the old Congo hands saw trouble coming and sent their families home. Planters, particularly in isolated country plantations, were at the mercy of roving bands of "simbas" — lions, as the rebels called themselves.

Ghenye, setting up his people's republic with himself as president, then clamped down his quarantine denying all permission to leave. Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak disclosed that he tried to persuade the Ghenye government to return 30 Belgian children who had gone to visit their parents during summer vacation. The answer was that they were regarded as "hostages."

Confined to Homes
Four weeks ago, as Congolese troops prepared for the final drive on Stanleyville, Ghenye ordered many families confined to their homes.

At first, said Rene Bragard of Brussels, "The rebels guarded the houses of Belgians in Stanleyville. We were ordered to report regularly to the rebels' chiefs to make sure we were still there. Then, probably as regular troops progressed toward Stanleyville, we were ordered from our houses into hotels. I and my family were taken to the Hotel des Chutes."

Many Belgian and American men were ordered arrested on Oct. 28. But not all were taken to detention centers and the Stanleyville central prison.

Awaited Rescue in Home
Christian de Greef, Brussels coffee exporter, said he had simply been confined to his home with his family for the past month. He didn't leave until Belgian paratroops arrived Tuesday. Then he took the family to the airport.

Men were regularly taken from their places of detention to the prison to be beaten. It was there that U. S. Consul Michael Hoyt and missionary Dr. Paul Carlson were held.

Refugees at the Victoria Hotel were daily terrorized by the rebels. The young rebels would push their submachine guns in the faces of the refugees and say: "Your brothers have just bombed Ponia. We are going to kill you today."

Constant Threats
They would keep men sitting on the ground for hours, threatening them with their guns, then lock them in their rooms.

Last Saturday, 120 men were ordered into small trucks and taken outside the city. A rebel leader told the driver of one truck: "Faster. If there is an accident it is of no importance. Kill them."

The hostages were informed they were to be thrown in a river. Instead they were all thrown into a small native hut, one on top of the other. They were driven back to Stanleyville at midnight.

The hostages received some food from the International Red Cross. And many praised the Greeks and Portuguese of Stanleyville who were not arrested and did their best to bring food to those held in hotels.

Rebels Often Drunk
Refugees generally agreed that the young simbas frequently were drunk and often smoked a marijuana-type cigarette.

The rebels had planned in advance what they would do when the showdown came.

The first American transport planes with Belgian paratroopers circled over the village at 6 a.m. This was the signal.

The rebel guards on the hotels waited until the paratroops began to float down.

Rene Bragard and his family were at the Hotel des Chutes.

"As the paratroops dropped on Stanleyville," he said, "simbas armed with rifles and sub-machine guns pushed us out of the hotel and said they were taking us to the airport. As we were marched on the road, rebels started readying their weapons. Some in our group ran for protection toward houses."

Reds Start Firing
"Rebels started firing at random all around. I had thrown my wife on the ground and myself there, too. Almost at once paratroops appeared. The rebels started running away shouting, 'The Americans, the Americans.'"

At the Victoria Hotel the same grim exercise was in progress.

"At about 7 a.m.," a refugee said, "they made us leave the hotel. They lined us up by threes and made us march about 300 yards from the hotel. Then they made us sit on the ground. Then a rebel said: 'Voila, your brothers have taken the airport. They are arriving. We will shoot you when we see the first paratrooper.'"

Run Between Buildings
"Then an armored car arrived with a paratrooper and they opened fire. They began to machine gun us. A man fell dead in front of me."

have left the door open for North Central to continue serving Appleton if it wishes.

A CAB attorney explained a section of the order as meaning, in effect, that "if North Central wants to shift its operations to include Appleton in the future, it would not have to go through hearings required in making an amendment to the certificate, but merely would have to ask for a 'change of notice,' which does not require a hearing, and therefore would not take as long as a ruling."

Order Not Received
North Central officials were unable to comment because they hadn't yet received a copy of the CAB order and don't expect one until Friday.

Bernard Sweet, a North Central vice president in Minneapolis, said "after we receive a copy of the order, which probably will be Friday, our officers will discuss the ruling with our legal counsel and then maybe we will have some answers."

Appleton's Chamber of Commerce aviation committee met late Wednesday afternoon to decide on its course of action. The outcome was a Chamber request to Outagamie County officials to make a petition to the Civil Aeronautics Board to reconsider its decision regarding North Central service at the Outagamie County Airport.

A spokesman for the State Aeronautics Commission said the CAB order specifically designates Oshkosh as the site for the Oshkosh - Appleton regional airport; Green Bay for the Green Bay - Clintonville region, and Ironwood for the Ironwood-Ashland region. Until the new airport at Mosinee is ready, the Marshfield - Wausau region will be served at Wausau and the Wisconsin Rapids-Stevens Point area at Stevens Point, the spokesman added.

spokesman. "They can spend the money."

Where did all the sterling come from that inundated the markets Tuesday and Wednesday?

"It came from currency speculators and private banks on the continent, from businesses holding working balances in sterling and from investors," was the opinion of one banker in New York.

Devaluation Feared
"I know one American corporation with 1½ million pounds that it acquired for a perfectly proper use next month. It got frightened and sold the sterling. Now it will have to replace it."

In this case, the root fear was that Great Britain would devalue the pound worth say only $2.25 or $2.50 instead of the present $2.80, in which event holders of sterling would lose the amount of any reduction times the number of pounds held.

"In the face of this fear, people become like sheep," Andreu said. "Play it safe and sell," is their course.

The bugaboo that sweeps aside reason, kindling an attitude akin to panic, is the threat of devaluation, another bank official said.

Countries Giving Support
The announcement called the $3 billion support move a "massive counterattack on speculative selling of the pound."

It named as countries taking part: Austria, Belgium, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

The nations were joined by the bank for international settlements. The statement did not the Congolese army up from the south, said he hoped to have this former capital of Ghenye under firm control by Thursday.

Rebel snipers in both the African and European sections fired at cars driven by paratroopers and the white mercenaries who served as officers of the Congolese column.

Lamouline sent a task force across the Congo River into the African sector and ran into some resistance from the insurgent holdouts.

Leaders Flee North
Belgian paratroopers went from one jungle village to another around Stanleyville, looking for 24 Spaniards, 11 Italians and a Belgian believed still held hostage near the city.

Ghenye, his officials and military officers were believed to have fled north out of Stanleyville. If they moved west, they were in danger of running into another government army column last reported 100 miles from Stanleyville.

The quick arrival of the Belgians and the Congolese troops Tuesday prevented a wholesale massacre of Ghenye's white hostages. He had vowed to kill them all if the city was attacked.

There was scattered fighting during the night and a Belgian paratrooper and several rebels were killed.

A plane load of Belgian technicians and Congolese officers arrived from Leopoldville to bring some semblance of order to the stricken city.

Throughout the city rebel guards were being flushed out and taken to a military camp. There Katanga gendarmes of the Congolese force and white mercenaries kicked them and spat in their faces.

The prisoners sat on the submarine-stained floor of the guard house while haphazard identity checks were conducted. Some were led away to be shot.

Outside the drab Victoria Hotel, where rebel guards massacred hostages when the Belgian paratroops began to land, workers recovered the bodies of victims.

Katanga gendarmes drank beer as the sweat-soaked Europeans worked. Later some soldiers came to help.

Stock Market In Sharp Loss

Uncertainties of Interest Rates Are Cause of Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a fairly sharp loss Wednesday amid uncertainties about interest rates, the world monetary situation and foreign tensions.

In addition, traders indulged in their usual practice of precautionary selling prior to a holiday. The stock markets will be closed Thursday for Thanksgiving Day, but many Wall Streeters are going to turn it into a four-day weekend.

A string of reports about the raising of interest rates commercial banks may pay to depositors tended to de-emphasize stocks which are bought for their yields. Various news reports about the troubles of the British pound bred caution concerning possible reaction in U.S. finances. The Viet Nam and Congo news was of a type that caused hesitancy concerning possible developments.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a loss of 5.21 at 882.40.

Of 1,389 issues traded, 629 declined and 481 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 73 and new lows 18.

Volume slackened to 4.78 million shares from 5.09 million Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 1.3 to 329.1 with industrials down 2.2, rails down .5 and utilities down .5.

Among the 15 most active stocks, losers outnumbered gainers by 9 to 6.

Fractional losses among the top steels and motors and moderate declines among chemicals, drugs, airlines and most rails accounted for a good deal of the loss.

In addition, some stocks which have carved out big gains recently were down to steep losses on profit taking.

Among them were Sears, Roebuck, off 2 1/2 and United Aircraft, off 1 1/4.

American Telephone was heavily traded an off 3/4 at 66 1/2 as fourth most active stock.

Late in the day came news that the Federal Communications Commission had announced reductions to total $100 million a year in AT&T's long distance interstate telephone rates.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds continued to drift lower in reflection of the interest rate increases.

Strange Carton Lot Sold to American Can

NEENAH—Sale of property on River Street in Menasha by Strange Carton Division Inc. to American Can Co. for $15,000 was recorded at the office of the Winnebago County Register of Deeds Wednesday.

The property is east of the River Street plant of American Can and probably will be developed as a parking area, officials of American Can Co., said.

Also recorded was the gift of a lot in the Town of Menasha owned by Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Anderson to the YWCA.

The gift was to the building fund of the YWCA and the lot will be sold for funds.

Chicago Livestock

CHICAGO (AP)—Butcher hogs ended steady to 25 cents lower Wednesday after starting strong to as much as 50 cents higher in moderately active trading.

Sows finished steady to 25 cents lower.

Shippers purchased about 55 per cent of the supply of 6,500 head.

No. 1 and 2 grade butchers 190-220 pounds brought $15.50 to $16 mostly, with 160 selected head selling for a top of $16.50.

Mixed 1 to 3 grade 190-230 pound butchers ranged from $14.75 to $15.50, a few as high as $15.75 early. Heavier weight butchers sold as low as $13.50.

Two loads of prime slaughter steers 1,250-1,341 pounds sold for a top of $26.25. High choice and prime kinds 1,150-1,400 pounds brought $25.25 to $26 and mixed choice and prime 1,050 pounds sold for $25. Mixed choice and prime heifers 950-1,025 pounds brought $24.

Slaughter lambs and ewes sold at fully steady prices.

Choice and prime 80-105 pound woolled lambs brought $20.50 to $21.25. Cull to good woolled ewes sold from $5 to $6 mostly, a few up to $6.50.
